SAYS VICTORY AT LEMBERG IS BEGINNING OF END

LONDON, Sept. 4.—8.20 a. m.—The Times correspondent in Petrograd sends the following under date of Thursday:
"Information telegraphed by the headquarters staff today encourages the hope that the victory at Lemberg is the beginning of the end. The retreat of such an enormous force, reliably estimated at eight army corps, taken in conjunction with the rout of the army which was to serve as a screen to their retreat already spells disaster, complete and overwhelming. Information obtained by the war office shows that the German has already been preparing positions at Grudek, 20 miles to the westward and on the railway to Pzyemysl."

GREAT GERMAN ARMY BEFORE PARIS FORTS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The great German army that has been smashing its way through the lines of the allies to the north of Paris has at last won its way to the forts that guard the French capital.
Already the guns that have been rumbling behind the cavalry and infantry are being set up in favorable positions to batter through the steel and concrete of the Paris forts just as they battered the strongholds of Liege and Namur.
Such is the general opinion held here despite the fact that no confirmation of fighting at the forts has as yet been received.

BENEDICT XV - THE NEW POPE

A few facts about the life of Benedict XV., the new pope, whose election came as a distinct surprise, will be interesting. First of all stands out the vital point, that the new pontiff will likely carry out many different policies from his predecessor, the late Pius X. He is known, for one thing, to be on good terms with the Quirinal, and so his election may mean the establishment of modus vivendi by which the long disagreement of forty-four years between the Vatican and the national government may be ended. The new pope was the youngest of the newly created cardinals, having been elevated only last May with four others. He is in his sixtieth year. Giacomo della Chiesa was born at Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, Italy, on Nov. 21, 1854. He studied at Rome and was ordained a priest on Dec. 21, 1878. He accompanied the late Cardinal Rampolla to Madrid in 1883 and remained there as secretary of the nunciature until 1887. He was made monsignor while there. He then returned to Rome with Cardinal Rampolla, who was made secretary of state by Pope Leo XIII., and entered that office as one of the minor officials. In 1901 he was appointed substitute of the secretariate and secretary of the cipher. Mgr. della Chiesa received a noted promotion when on Dec. 16, 1907, Pope Pius X. named him archbishop of the important see of Bologna. Less than seven years of prudent administration there won for him on May last a place in the sacred college.

CORONATION OF THE NEW POPE WILL TAKE PLACE ON SEPT. 6.

ROME, Sept. 3.—The coronation of Cardinal Della Chiesa, as Pope Benedict XV., will take place on September 6. Immediately after his election yesterday the pontiff said that he could not imagine how his frail body was capable of enduring the weight of enormous responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, especially at a moment when almost all the countries of Europe were stained with blood, when the wounds inflicted upon humanity were also inflicted on the church and, when

SUIZER FOR RE-ELECTION
ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—William Sulzer, deposed governor of New York, will seek reelection this fall as a candidate of the progressive party. Petitions containing more than 4000 signatures, over 1000 more than necessary, designate him as a candidate for governor in the progressive primaries, filed with the secretary of state yesterday.

Mr. John Sullivan of Winchendon, Mass., a graduate of Holy Cross college, class of 1912, is the guest of his former classmate, Patrick J. Reynolds of Chapel street, this city.

German Right Furiously Forcing Way to Paris, Battering Rear of Retreating French—Cannonading Broke Windows in Chantilly, 17 Miles North of Paris—Reported That Germany Has Sent Ultimatum to Holland—Unconfirmed Report That the French Authorities are Considering Surrender of Paris

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In a despatch from Rouen, France, a correspondent of the Chronicle says he has learned that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans in order to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire.

GERMANS FORCING WAY INTO PARIS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The correspondent of The Times at Dieppe under Thursday's date indicates that the Germans are less than 25 miles from Paris. He says:

"All day yesterday the head of the wedge which now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-En-Valois. The cannonading broke windows in Chantilly, which is only 17 miles north of Paris. The Germans are also near Soissons."

Another despatch to The Times from Beauvais, 40 miles northwest of Paris, says the Germans entered Clermont, 35 miles from Paris, at seven o'clock Wednesday morning. At the same time their cavalry was operating around Beauvais.

GERMANS RUSH TO AID AUSTRIANS

ROME, Sept. 4 (3.55 a. m.)—News is received from Vienna that a German army corps was hurriedly transported to Galicia to aid the Austrians against the Russian attack before Lemberg.

RUSSIA CLAIMS COMPLETE DISRUPTION OF AUSTRIAN ARMED FORCES IS NEAR

LONDON, Sept. 4, 4.01 a. m.—The Petrograd (St. Petersburg) correspondent of the Times in the report on the operations around Lemberg, says: "The forces of Lemberg have fallen and other Austrian armies have been engaged in northern Galicia near Lublin. We may yet have to chronicle the complete disruption of the dual monarchy's armed forces."

"The operations extended over an enormous front of 200 miles and probably a million and a half men were engaged. The Austrian extreme right sustained enormous losses, but the most terrible blow was dealt them by the gallant Ruzsky's army which, starting from Rovno, moved thence toward the southwest, speaking fan-wise so as to involve the region north and south of Lemberg, menacing the rear of the Lublin army and threatening to cut its communications."

"To parry this movement the Austrians transferred several army corps from the west side of the Vistula and moving them behind Lublin hurried them at Ruzsky."

"The result of this movement is chronicled in today's official bulletin of victory. The Austrians' desperate onslaught on Ruzsky's army has been attended with a whole series of disasters, notably the destruction of the sixth army corps at Lashoff."

GOVERNOR'S DAY

—Good Horse Racing

Under a cloudless sky and a sun that did not blister, 75,000 persons, or thereabout, attended the Rockingham fair yesterday. Governor's day, Governor and Mrs. Folger, Councilor and Mrs. Noone and Councilor and Mrs. Badger arrived early in the afternoon, escorted by the following members of the staff: Gen. William Sullivan, Major Russell, A. Williams, Major Eugene T. Sherburne, Major Joseph A. Chace and Capt. E. W. Merrill.

They witnessed the races and shows from the governor's box in the grandstand and were later entertained at dinner in the clubhouse.

Yesterday's feature was a parade of the prize-winning cattle on the track. The high-diving was the most sensational of the week, two horses and a half-dozen men and women taking part. The balloon went up earlier than usual and the high-diving, with parachute jump, took place at 5 p. m.

Awards in Horse Show

Among the best things in the horse show yesterday was the Carthagenian, the four-in-hand outfit and the machine class. M. E. Murphy and Frank Donovan are running close for the prize to the stable winning the greatest number of ribbons during the show.

Cattle and Other Awards

In the cattle awards yesterday R. H. Briggs of Brattleboro, Vt., took first premium for the Guernsey herd, Lewis Cox of Lawrence took second and A. W. Griswold of Ellwood, N. H., third.

In the Devon class the first prizes all went to W. L. Mead of Meriden, while John Cox of Center Harbor took most of the other ribbons.

In the floral department first prizes were awarded as follows: Gladiali, J. K. Alexander, East Bridgewater, Mass.; China asters, Joseph J. Conley, Newburyport, Newburyport, Mass.; W. Spinner, Haverhill, Mass.; annuals, Emil Ritter, Methuen, Mass.; sweet peas, Edward L. Lewis, Taunton, Mass.

First prizes for butter were awarded to Austin C. Higgins of Andover, N. H., and for dairy prints to the Milford creamery of Milford, N. H. Miss Marion Woodman of Ashland, N. H., was awarded the first prize for canned fruit, for preserves and for jellies.

Mrs. Anna Spaulding of Hudson, N. H., took the first prize for pickles.

Marsh Wins Popular

The horse racing yesterday afternoon brought delight to thousands of New Hampshire folks when the veteran trainer, T. D. Marsh of Dover, won the feature event with Iris Cochrane, a trotter of his own breeding. The Stratford county filly scored this popular victory in the race for 2-year-olds, and miles faster than 2:15, and it took quite a likely youngster to get the money.

Prize Cochrane led the first heat to the Massachusetts-bred colt, Bonnie Setzer in 2:16-2, but had little difficulty in coming back in the same time.

Treganna, raised in the famous blue grass country, was close enough to her to make two pretty finishes.

The class for aged trotters was won in straight heats, as expected. The fight for second money in this race was between members of the Blingen stable, and was won by Alice C. daughter of Sir T. 2:10-2. This was a sort of a Blingen family race, fought through, for all six starters carry a cross to the great son of May King and Young Miss.

The pacing race went to Othello, a winner on Wednesday. Ethel Direct also repeated her performance of the day before by winning a heat, thereby getting second money.

The match between the Boston speedway trotters, Major Wellington and Demarest, was won by the first named in rather slow time. "Happy Jack" trout drove the Major, and he was given an exception by the crowd that made the race well worth while.

The colt race furnished three close finishes. Bonnie Setzer, Chester Lassell's hard-luck son of Henry Setzer, 2:10-2, hardly recovered from his fall at Monroe, N. Y., had another accident yesterday morning which nearly closed an eye. He surprised his owner, who was undecided about starting him up to the last call, by taking the first heat.

He was unsteady after that, and to the Leonard brothers' daughter of Treganna, 2:57-4, fell the task of forcing Prize Cochrane to a couple of creditable miles. Mary Metel, by Gun Metal, owned by Hugh Morrison of Boston, and Miss Elmore, from Fatherland farm, both trotted better than 2:20.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

MARGARET DRIEN EARNED BIG HALF OF EMPIRE STATE $10,000 STAKE AT SYRACUSE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Margaret Drien earned the big half of the Empire State $10,000 stake for 2-year-olds at the grand circuit meeting of the New York state fair yesterday afternoon when she won the third and final heat. The colt race was won by Bonnie Setzer on Wednesday.

Lassie McGregor, winner of large stakes along the line, was hardly in the running. A second reversal occurred when King Cochrane was defeated in the Syracuse $500 stake for 2-year-olds. Napoleon Direct, driven by Geers, took the three final heats yesterday after having lost two on Wednesday. King Cochrane was far in the rear yesterday.

OVER-WATER FLIGHT

Victor Vernon Flies 150 Miles in Hydro-aeroplane—Flight Made at 2,000 Feet—Took Two Hours

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 4.—Victor Vernon made an over-water flight of 150 miles in a hydro-aeroplane yesterday from Kennebecport to Bar Harbor. Three stops were made, the first at Port Clyde for a supply of gasoline, a second at Rockland, and the third at Northwest Harbor, which the aviator mistook for Bar Harbor. The flight, which was made at a height of about 2000 feet, consumed two hours, 32 minutes of actual flying time.

JAPAN'S COTTON INDUSTRY

With the exception of India, China is the greatest importer of cotton goods in the world, and Manchuria has long been one of the best markets for American cotton goods. In recent years, however, Japanese competition has seriously curtailed American sales in that field. The chief factors in the development of the cotton industry in Japan and that country's success in the Chinese market are summarized in Foreign and Domestic Commerce, a bulletin just issued by the Bureau of Department of Commerce, as follows:

In the upbuilding of the Japanese cotton industry the mills have been greatly hampered by lack of money and experience, as well as by the lack of skilled operatives and the difficulty under their system of transient girl operatives, of creating and maintaining a trained force. The first cost of the mills is so great that, with high interest charges and high taxes, which have been greatly increased since the Russian war, the manufacturers have resisted all attempts by the authorities to enact regulations that would interfere with night work.

The mills have been greatly favored by a supply of extremely cheap labor and by freedom from laws prohibiting long working hours. They have also been enabled to keep down the cost of raw material by varying the mixtures and thus setting off one cotton against another in a way that is not permissible in countries making the higher classes of goods that require a single grade of cotton.

Most of the yarns and cloths produced by Japanese mills are made from a mixture of Indian, American and Chinese cotton, and the low cost of raw material thus obtained seems to aid the manufacturers in their struggle for the Chinese market as much as does their cheap labor, especially as the labor is very inefficient. Japan ships cotton yarns and cotton goods to many countries, but its one large market is China, where it finds competition on yarn from India and cloth from the United States. The publications of the Japan Cotton Spinning Association, as well as reports by spinners, indicate that they fear the future competition of Chinese mills more than they do the American Indian. The Chinese cotton industry in small but developing, and if the tariff is raised, as now proposed, the Chinese may quickly become a strong factor in the situation. The bulletin from which the foregoing is taken is a detailed study of the Japanese cotton industry by W. A. Graham Clark, commercial agent of the Department of Commerce. The report reviews the history of the industry and trade from the establishment of the first spinning mill to the present time and analyses the kinds of goods the Japanese are offering and shows to what extent they are cheapened by the use of inferior cottons, inferior construction, weighting materials, etc. Special attention is given to the methods employed by the Japanese to find a foreign market for their goods and to wages, cost of production, factory legislation, and the capitalization and profits of mills. A separate chapter is devoted to the Manchurian market and the nature of the Japanese competition in that section of China. Copies of the bulletin, "Cotton goods in Japan and their competition on the Manchurian market," special agents series No. 88, may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Government printing office, Washington, D. LOWELL DEFEATED HAVERHILL

Local Team Won 5-4
Game With Weaver
on the Mound

New Right Fielder Connected for Three Hits
Swayne Featured

The fact that yesterday's game was not a regularly scheduled affair, but transferred at the 11th hour, together with the fact that the Haverhill fair was a strong counter-attraction had the effect of keeping the attendance way down and those who arrived late had no difficulty in securing good seats.

The interest taken in the game was evidenced by the following overheard in the pressbox:

"Who's going to pitch today?"
"I dunno; it's Tyler's turn, isn't it?"
"I mean in this game."
"Oh, I dunno; I thought you meant the Braves."

According to the man who sells the peanuts, cakes and candies at the ground somebody came early to avoid the rush, gaining an entrance during the night and getting away with cigars and candy. Still, the thieves left enough to go around among the crowd that put in an appearance.

The only new thing on the field was a new right fielder from Boston playing for Lowell. His name is in Boston and he doesn't come from the Red Sox or Braves.

First Inning

Campbell started off for Haverhill with a single through the box into center field. After Fahey had taken Rieger's foul fly Campbell stole second. Greenhalge making a very poor throw which went into center field. Campbell went to third while Duggan was being thrown out. Due to Kelly, Smith contributed an infield hit that scored Campbell. Peplowski was thrown out on a grounder to Dee. One run, two hits, no errors. Swayne died at first on a grounder to Campbell. McCleskey drew a pass and walked. He was second and when Fahey grounded to Yelle, but the Lowell third sacker continued on to second as Peplowski threw low to Smith, the ball rolling to the bleachers. Stimpson singled to short left and Fahey was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to score from second. No runs, one hit, one error.

Score: Haverhill 1, Lowell 0.

Second Inning

Although Haverhill connected for a double and a single in the second no runs were forthcoming. Yelle, the first man up batted the ball to left center for two bases. He was caught sleeping a moment later on Weaver's peg to Dee and put between second and third. Conley died out to Donovan. Gaston then singled to left but Fullerton closed the inning with a fly to McCleskey. No runs two hits, no errors. Lowell escaped on the score in the second half of the inning. Dee began the good work by drawing a pass. Kelly was called out on strikes and Donovan, the new right fielder, contributed a surprise when he singled to left. Greenhalge then singled to center, scoring Dee. The ball went past Rieger, and Donovan also crossed the plate but he was called out on not touching third. Weaver was the third out on a hard grounder to Peplowski. One run, two hits and one error.

Score: Lowell 1, Haverhill 1.

Third Inning

Dee made a wonderful stop to Campbell's hot grounder back of second and got the runner at first. Rieger walked the ball over Stimpson's head for three bases. Greenhalge took Duggan's foul fly. Smith scored Rieger with a single to left. Smith went out trying to steal second. One run, two hits and no errors. In Lowell's half, Donovan led off with a single to left center, and then stole second. McCleskey singled to right field, scoring Swayne. Mac was forced at second on Fahey's grounder to Fullerton. Stimpson groundered to Peplowski and the latter chased Fahey

Score: Lowell 2, Haverhill 1.

Fourth Inning

Peplowski beat out a grounder which Kelly fielded. He attempted to put him second and was nailed. Kelly captured Yelle's foul fly after a tough chase. Conley batted the ball to deep left center but was caught out when he tried to make it a triple. Stimpson, Dee to Fahey. No runs, two hits, no errors. Dee lifted a fly to Conley in deep left and Kelly sent up an easy fly in short right to Duggan. Donovan then showed them what the Boston sand lot artists can do for he lifted the sphere over Rieger's head for a triple. Greenhalge scored him with a single to left. Greenhalge stole second and then was foolish enough to think he could make third on a steal. He was caught by a red off the bag. One run, two hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 3, Haverhill 2.

Fifth Inning

Gaston filed to Swayne in deep center. Fahey dropped Fullerton's fly. It was too easy and hence the drop. Campbell singled to right, scoring Fullerton to second. Rieger forced Campbell at second with a grounder to McCleskey while Fullerton went to third. Rieger in turn was forced at second on Duggan's grounder to Dee. No runs, one hit, one error. In Lowell's half, Weaver beat out an infield hit that Campbell did well to stop. Weaver went around to third when Fullerton made a bad peg to Smith in an attempt to catch the Lowell pitcher napping at first. Swayne singled to right and Weaver crossed the plate for another run. Swayne was forced at second on McCleskey's grounder to Peplowski. Fahey filed to Conley. Stimpson beat out an infield hit to Yelle and Mac went to second. Dee walked and the bases were all tenanted. Gaston went into the diamond and took Kelly's fly. One run, three hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 4, Haverhill 2.

Sixth Inning

Smith singled to left and tried to make two bases on it and was thrown out. Stimpson to Dee. Peplowski dropped a single into short right field. Stimpson was thrown out trying to steal second. Swayne took Yelle's line drive to center. No runs, two hits, no errors. In Lowell's half, Donovan, the new gink, made his third hit. A single to left and the fans roared with delight. W. L. FARLAND OF MELROSE HIGH-LANDS DIED AS RESULT OF IN-JURIES

LYNN, Sept. 4.—Walter L. Farland of Melrose Highlands died in the city hospital early today as the result of injuries sustained last night when an automobile in which he and three other men were riding struck an electric light pole on the Nahant boulevard. Robert L. Baker of Marblehead, owner of the car, Frederick J. Tobin of this city and Charles A. Phillips of Nahant, the other occupants of the car, were only slightly injured.

IN BUSINESS SECTION OF FRANKLIN, N. H., BUT BURG-GLARS SECURED LITTLE

FRANKLIN, N. H., Sept. 4.—Burglars entered three stores in the business section last night but secured little for their trouble. The burglaries were discovered when the stores opened for business this morning.

At the postoffice sub-station on Main street a mail bag was rifled and the letters opened and left scattered about the yard in the rear. It is not known how much money was secured. In the adjoining establishment of the Griffin Drug Co. a cash register was broken into and about six dollars in coin taken. A new pocketbook was also missing from the show case. The third break was in Pickering's lunch wagon, where the visitors partook of a tasty meal but got no money.

THE COMING WEEK WHAT IS DESCRIBED AS America's greatest laughing success, "OFFER 566," will be the attraction. It will be staged from the original manuscript and all the different varieties will be seen to special advantage. Seats for all performances, including those for Labor day, are now on sale at the box office.

THE OWL THEATRE

THE POLLEY OF THE OWL AMUSEMENT company is giving good shows, good service and absolute comfort. Success has been attained entirely through their efforts to please. "Claws of Greed," an attractive three-part feature with Stuart Holmes in the leading part, has been secured for their Friday program. The story of this play deals with immigration, and shows dramatic incidents that are well acted and intensely staged. A beautiful film with Margaret Elchinger and her leading man, Mr. Pollard, entitled "The Silence," John Gordon, will surely make a hit. "The Tell-Tale Star," "The Mutual Girl" and "Frenchy," a fine two-part-drama are others that will be appreciated by the fans. A new Keystone comedy has also been booked for Friday and Saturday. "Her Last Chance" is some comedy and you'll agree to it, after witnessing its un-reeling. Coming, "The Wrath of the Gods."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

When the temperature is soaring and that close, stuffy feeling is everywhere, take a trip to the Merrimack Square theatre and there amid cooling breezes and a comfortable atmosphere see what is declared by patrons to be the best attraction in which the company has yet appeared, namely, "What Happened to Mary." This is probably two of the reasons why the crowds continue to increase at each performance—first the play and secondly because of the normal temperature which is always maintained. Admittedly two important reasons.

LOOK UP MY OFFER

Upon opening my Lowell store in the Spring of 1909, I promised the people of Lowell that I would remain among them permanently, become part and parcel of this city and its industries, be a generous advertiser, and to that extent help to support its newspapers, be a good merchant and try to give the people more than everything that belonged to them for the money they spent with me.

TODAY, about six years later, as I enter upon this Fall Season, it is worth something to me to be able to go back with you through six big spring and five big fall seasons that have gone down the pike.

To the man who may have believed that I was a fly-by-night, that I came for one season only, I call attention to my new, permanent business address, 31 to 35 Merrimack Square, Lowell, long years after some people said I'd depart. My present store in the Hildreth building is perfect in every detail for a merchant tailor shop, sanitary, daylight, workshop on the premises second to none in Lowell, and an eight year lease to expire January 1, 1922.

To the man who may have believed that I could not afford to stay an advertiser, that my methods were not such as to endure the fiercer glare of which publicity and the scathing criticism advertising necessarily attracts, I call attention to the fact that as I have continued in Lowell, so I have in other cities, never stopped value giving, nor placed a limit upon the qualities to which I think my customers are entitled.

From the foregoing, I may be open to the criticism of being reminiscent. It is reminiscence today but it was prophecy when I first told you the same things back in 1909.

For six years I have been telling the people of Lowell that outlandish claims in newspapers don't constitute bargains. If I advertise to make you a suit for $12.50, you know if I don't get much of a profit, i. e., at least, can't be making much of a loss at that price, or I could not have been selling at such loss for the last six years in Lowell without going broke.

A bargain to my mind is the purchasing of an article at a price lower than equal quality can be bought elsewhere—provided, the article you buy at such price is an article that you need and can use.

Today and Tomorrow a Free Pair of Trousers being the Price I am willing to pay to every customer as a sort of commission on his own business.

SPECIAL

My window display of New Fall Creations is the talk of the town. 140 pieces of Overcoatings. I am featuring 17 different shades in plaid backs for young men.

WORSTED SUITINGS—From all the leading mills in New England, names: Sheriffs, Standish, Dunn's North Adams and Blackingtons. I have over 300 styles in Tartan checks, grays, browns, blues, silk mixtures, pencil stripes and blacks.

The dull season will soon be over, this offer is designed to lick the dullness around the holiday. You are going to order your winter clothing in a few weeks anyway. Give me that order now. I'll have plenty of work next month. I want my old customers to avail themselves of this opportunity. I want to see many new faces. I want to force the sale of at least a hundred suits and overcoats that otherwise would not be ordered till later. You don't spend your money now; just your order and your garment will be ready in a week, two weeks or two months, any time to suit your convenience.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

ANOTHER LIST OF BRITISH CASUALTIES

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The official bureau issues a further statement of British casualties as follows:

Killed, 18 officers; 62 other ranks.
Wounded, 78 officers; 313 other ranks.
Missing, 86 officers; 4672 other ranks.

The official bureau explained that the missing mentioned in the list of casualties are men not accounted for and included unwounded prisoners and stragglers as well as men killed or wounded.

As regards the "other ranks" it is stated that 2652 men are returned as having been sent back to their base as unfit, and that a large proportion of those would be included in the number shown as missing in this and the previous return from general headquarters.

KIEL CANAL REOPENED FOR TRAFFIC

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4.—Shipowners have been informed that the Kiel canal has been re-opened to traffic but only a limited number of ships would be allowed to traverse it.

TURKS AND ARMENIANS IN BATTLE

PETROGRAD, (St. Petersburg) via London, Sept. 4.—The Turkish mobilization on the Persian boundary is slow. Many Christians and Kurds have refused to join the movement. The Turks are forcibly enrolling all persons of military age. There has been a serious conflict between Turks and Armenians at Bitlis, in Turkish Armenia.

PEOPLE OF GHENT IN PANIC OVER ADVANCE OF GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—2.56 a. m.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ghent says that the people there are in a panic over the expected advance of the Germans on that city which is indicated by the persistent sight of aeroplanes and scouts in its vicinity. It is believed that the Germans are now at Termonde, 16 miles east of Ghent.

The Belgians have flooded the district around Malines to hinder the progress of the German artillery.

GERMANS CONTINUE TO PUSH ON

PARIS, Sept. 4.—With Compiègne, 40 miles north, abandoned by the British, with Amiens in the hands of the Prussians and the eagle of Germany on the flagstaff of the Hotel de Ville, the government of France was removed to Bordeaux, 355 miles by rail southwest of this place. Now every energy is being turned to preparations for the seemingly inevitable siege.

News that has leaked out in the past 48 hours has been depressing; everywhere in the west there has been a falling back, and only the solid front presented by the French armies along the Lorraine border, in the far eastern field, offers a gleam of hope.

La Fère is reported taken after a severe struggle and the fate of neighboring Laon can only be the same. The Valley of the Somme, which has been believed a great natural barrier to the German advance in the extreme west, has been given over to the invaders, as has the line of the Aisne, between Compiègne and Soissons, upon the north.

Military observers believe the allied line in front of Paris to be no farther distant than the Beauvais-Clermont-Crepy-Soissons front, which at its centre is less than 20 miles from the most northerly of the Paris forts, Doullens and Ecouen.

Whether the upper valley of the Aisne river, east of Soissons, has been given over to the Germans is not definitely known. There has been a mighty battle in progress there for a full week. Chateau Porcien and Rethel, both 22 miles northeast of Rheims, have been the centers of fighting.

The armies of Gens. von Hausen, von Bülow and Grand Duke Albert of Württemberg are straining every nerve to gain the outskirts of Rheims, and some think their guns are already battering its defenses.

An immense and complicated system of intrenchments is being constructed outside the city. It is reported that the engineers in charge of the work are keeping several hundred thousand men busy.

In an official statement issued today the war office says:

"There has been no contact with the German forces in the region of Compiègne and Senlis since yesterday. Preparations have been taken to stop any offensive movement of the enemy. Measures have also been taken to provide for the pursuit of German cavalry, especially those of the armored type, which will be prevented from flying over Paris."

"The situation in the northeast is the same as yesterday."

CEAR NOTIFIED OF FALL OF LEM-
VICTORIES

LONDON, Sept. 4, 7 a. m.—A Petrograd (St. Petersburg) special to the Reuter Telegram Co. says the commander in chief has notified the emperor that the Russians have occupied Lemberg.

The commander-in-chief's message was as follows:
"With extreme joy and thanking God, I announce to your majesty that the victorious army under Gen. Ruzsky has taken Huta.

"I beg your majesty to confer on Gen. Ruzsky in recognition of services preceding the battles, the fourth class of the Order of St. George and for the capture of Lemberg the third class of the same order; and on Gen. Brussiloff the fourth class of the same order."

REPORTED THAT GERMANS HAVE
ERLAND

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Telegraphing from Rome the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. says that a message received there from Basel, Switzerland, declares that an unconfirmed report has come into Basel from Bern setting forth that Lieut.-Gen. Von Demling and the German forces under his command have crossed into Switzerland to prevent their capture by the French.

PRINCE WILLIAM OF WEID, HAD
REIGN

PARIS, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Durazzo, dated Wednesday night, tells of the departure of Prince William of Weid, whose brief reign has been a troublesome one. A meeting of protest has been held in the city and the police intervened. Many armed people assembled before the department of finance and demanded the payment of their salaries. Comp-troller Travsky calmed the crowd with promises that payment would be made.

At five o'clock in the afternoon, Italian sailors landed and occupied the streets in the vicinity of the royal palace, accompanied by Turkan Pasha, Akis Pasha, Sami Bey, Ekren Bey, and the diplomatic corps left the palace at six o'clock. The international commission assembled in the garden and presented its respects to the prince and princess, who then proceeded to the quay. Volunteers and Italian sailors lowered the flag on the royal palace.

IN BUDAPEST OVER HAIT IN CAMPAIGN AGAINST SERBIA

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ostend says:

"A tourist who as just arrived here from Budapest after nearly a week's trip, said:

"There is a feeling of complete despair in Budapest. This is caused mainly by the practical abandonment of the campaign against Serbia which had the whole-hearted support of the populace who believe that only one sharp stroke was needed to demolish Serbia. Yet at the end of a month not a single Austrian soldier is on Serbian soil."

"The position of the dual monarchy is very serious if it is compelled to make peace with Serbia on account of the chronic difficulties with the Slav population. The people of Budapest believe that the breaking up of the whole Austro-Hungarian structure is impending."

"The failure of the army sent against the Russians is also disheartening to the Austro-Hungarians. The newspaper censorship in Budapest is so rigid that the people practically have ceased reading the newspapers."

BOMBARDMENT OF SENLIS BY THE GERMANS HEARD AT CHANTILLY

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4.50 a. m.—A despatch to the Mail from Dieppe, France, says that a visitor from Chantilly today reports that the bombardment of Senlis, 32 miles north-northeast of Paris, could be plainly heard from Chantilly Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fox, of 591 Bridge street observed the 21st anniversary of their wedding the past week. Mr. Fox was formerly a member of the police department and has been totally blind for six years as a result of an accident received while on duty. Mrs. Fox is confined to her bed by a serious illness from which she has been suffering for months.

WHAT TO DO WITH OUR BOYS

What to do with our boys is undoubtedly the question uppermost in the minds of many parents in this city today. Whether to send them to the high school, the industrial school, or to take them away from school altogether and send them to work is a problem that causes parents much serious thought and upon which they are seeking for wise counsel.

In the first place let it be understood that the great danger to be avoided is the taking the children away from school too soon and thus sending them out into the battle of life handicapped by lack of an average education.

By far the greater number of grammar school graduates are obliged to quit school and go to work. For these the great problem is to find their proper place in the industrial environment or to get some work in which they will have an opportunity to advance.

Parents should guard against putting their boys into a "blind alley," so to speak, from which there is no escape, no road leading onward or upward. There are thousands of boys employed at occupations which call for no exercise of their mental faculties, and in which they are merely human machines that run for a certain number of hours per day. Such positions are ruinous to boys physically, mentally and in many cases morally. Don't make a mere automaton of a boy or you will dwarf him in body and mind and even in soul.

But if a boy is to get more than a grammar school education the question comes as to whether it is better to send him to the high school than to the industrial. In deciding this point remember that if a boy gets even one year at the high school it will be of great assistance to him in whatever he may take up afterwards and that the chance to send him to the industrial school will still be open next year. Another thing to be remembered is, that the industrial school is not supposed to give a boy a trade. It merely helps to bring out his mechanical aptitudes and enables him to select more intelligently the occupation for which he is adapted. Moreover, it may be that the school is overcrowded in the department the boy would like to enter. The industrial school is handicapped for lack of room and for that reason it is restricted to an extent that seriously affects its usefulness. In deciding these important problems in the education of boys and girls, it is advisable to give them the very best education the parents can possibly afford, remembering that even then in the fierce competition for preferment, they will often be crowded to the rear just because they didn't know a little more.

WAR WITH MEXICO

And now comes General Carranza, the provisional president of Mexico, with the demand that we vacate Vera Cruz, withdraw our troops and leave Mexico to pursue the even tenor of her way. General Carranza has further announced that he has closed the port of Vera Cruz and will keep it closed until the American troops are withdrawn.

President Wilson in reply states that the American troops will remain until constitutional government be established in Mexico.

It is difficult to see on what constitutional ground President Wilson can make this declaration. The American troops were sent to Vera Cruz as the result of an insult to the American flag and because the then president of Mexico refused to offer an apology by saluting the flag. By the way, the flag has not yet been saluted and it does not seem that General Carranza is ready to offer any apology of that sort. It would appear, therefore, that under present conditions a state of war exists between the United States and Mexico and that as a result we are liable to become more deeply embroiled in the Mexican affair than ever before.

The great question at issue is: "By what right do we undertake to dictate to Mexico just what kind of government she shall have, when she shall have for president or in what manner she may decide to establish responsible government?" If the Mexicans should decide to make Carranza king it is difficult to see wherein the United States would be called upon to prevent such an eventuality.

President Wilson's policy of "watchful waiting" has served very well to avoid war thus far; but if carried to an extreme it may have an entirely opposite result. The best thing in our judgment that President Wilson can do under present conditions is to make diplomatic arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz. The government of the United States has undoubtedly been partial to the rebels in Mexico and now that they have come into power, it will be just as well to leave them to themselves to fight the matter out. It is hardly to be expected that there will be peace in Mexico so long as there are men like Villa, whose chief desire is personal aggrandizement at the expense of the people.

The failure of the United States government to recognize President Huerta brought us into the Mexican trouble in the first place and although Huerta was a butcher he was perhaps as good as any of those who are about to take his place. It is high time that President Wilson should call off his troops and wash his hands of the whole business.

FOREIGNERS AND CITIZENSHIP

If the United States were engaged in war, the government would find it advantageous to have as many as possible of the foreign born element naturalized so that they would be available for military service. Many of these different nationalities that make up our cosmopolitan population have had military training and would make good soldiers. But we should engage

The scourge of cholera infantum has begun to appear and it will undoubtedly claim many victims before the cool weather sets in. As in past years, the chief relief is found in taking the children to the cool shade of the country, feeding them lightly, keeping them cool and shielding them from the direct heat of the sun. When infants are left in the care of little girls and boys to be carted about the streets under the broiling sun, it is no wonder they contract some of the various diseases brought on by excessive heat. Many parents whose children have been taken ill can receive valuable counsel and assistance at the milk stations of the Lowell Guild on Dutton street. The work of this excellent association has undoubtedly kept the infant mortality in Lowell much below what it otherwise would be.

BATTLE OF AEROPLANES

The report of an aeroplane battle over the city of Paris is the first news of the kind given to the world. It appears that a squadron of German aeroplanes and dirigibles appeared over the French capital and were at once attacked by a number of aeroplanes sent up to drive them off. The man who undertakes to fight in an aeroplane simply takes his life in his hand inasmuch as but a slight injury will disable the mechanism of his craft and bring him down to death. That aeroplanes, or still worse, the war dirigible, should be used for the destruction of cities and attacks upon non-combatants is one of the worst features of a war that is undoubtedly the most destructive ever waged in the history of the world.

WILSON FOR ANOTHER TERM

It is announced from Washington that President Wilson may be a candidate for a second term. This does not come officially from the president himself but the present time and the issues that are now before the country require a level headed man in the White House. President Wilson has demonstrated his eminent ability as a constructive statesman since he entered office and if the people can persuade him to accept another term, they will render a great service to the country. The record of President Wilson's term of office is replete with legislation that had been sorely needed by this country for the last 25 years. It would be most advisable to retain President Wilson to direct the administration of the reforms he has assisted in placing upon the statute books. It is true that he personally expressed himself in favor of a single term for president; but if the country insists upon retaining him for four years more, we believe his personal preference in the matter might be overcome.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The Industrial school will open on September 14 under the conditions that prevailed last year. There will be no additional room, which means that the work must be conducted under difficulties and that in consequence, the results will not be as satisfactory as they otherwise would be. The work has been properly systematized and better progress would undoubtedly be made but for the inconvenience of having the school scattered in four different buildings. The school board should insist upon having a proper building provided for this school as early as possible. We are much behind some other Massachusetts cities in this matter of industrial education merely because of the lack of a suitable building in which to conduct the different departments.

The condition of the water supply during the past week in some parts of the city has been worse than ever before. It is difficult to understand how rusty, muddy water gets into the pipes. In parts of Centralville, Belvidere and Pawtucketville, the water is absolutely unfit for use either for cooking or for laundry purposes.

A CALL DOWN

At a social affair the other night the conversation turned to justifiable punishments. When Congressman Frank H. Willis of Ohio, was roundly rebuked of the rebuke administered by a pretty girl named Marie.

One afternoon some time ago Marie called on her dearest chum girl and soon the two ladies were deep in the details of the gown and things seen at a reception the evening before.

"And do you know, Alice," confidently murmured Marie, when the subject reverted to the guests, "Harry had the nerve to kiss me on the forehead."

"You don't really mean it?" was the horrified rejoinder of Alice. "I suppose you called him down?"

"I certainly did," rectly answered Marie. "About four inches."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

TWO GENTLEMEN

When Charles Phelps Cushing was news editor of Collier's Weekly, a convict out in New Mexico sent him a little story of Christmas thoughts in prison. Cushing thought he would be able to get his hands on a suitable photograph and would use the convict's little essay with it.

But the time went by and there was no opportunity to print the thing. So the editor sent the story back to the man in jail with a note telling how it had fared. He enclosed his personal check for $5 to recompense the man for having held his article until the Christmas season was over.

The convict sent the check back, saying: "You treated me so square that I can't treat you otherwise. I can't accept your money. The pleasure of having corresponded with a true gentleman is ample to pay for my effort."

TRAPPING ELEPHANTS

In view of the vast strength possessed by full grown elephants, it seems at first sight almost incredible that they can be captured in traps and quickly subdued to the will of their masters.

At the present time, in Mysore, the regular method of capturing wild elephants is to go into the jungle, some mounted on tamed elephants and many on foot, and to make a great noise and hubbub, which results in driving herds of the wild elephants into stockades, or often into ponds of water, which have previously been surrounded on all sides, except at the approach, by immensely strong palisades. As soon as the herd is cornered, the palisades that had been left open are securely closed, and then the trained elephants are brought into play to cajole and subdue the perplexed prisoners.

In India elephants are no longer captured, as they still are in Africa, by means of huge pitfalls in the ground. In these traps they are often seriously injured or killed. The Indian elephant is somewhat smaller than the African and differs from it in other ways—as, for instance, in the fact that tusks are possessed only by the males, while both sexes are provided with them in Africa. In general, also, the tusks of African elephants are nearly twice as large as those of their Indian relatives, a single pair sometimes weighing as much as 250 or 300 pounds.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

DIED FOR HIS IDOL

It is related that Napoleon was once badly defeated at Colibet by the Cossacks. After the battle he was surrounded by enemies and would have lost his life had he not been saved by the presence of mind of one of his soldiers, Corporal Spohn.

Realizing that Napoleon's only chance for life was in getting off the battlefield unrecognized, the corporal begged the emperor to change hats and horses with him. The change was made and the smoke had cleared away, and Napoleon with his corporal's hat and mounted on a poor steed, rode away unnoticed, the Cossacks crowding around the corporal. Taking him prisoner, they led him in triumph to

AMONG THE TOILERS

Agent W. A. Mitchell of the Massachusetts mill is at present on an extended business trip.

Joe Quinn, the genial secretary of the Machinists' union is enjoying a vacation this week.

Business Agent Roscoe Hall of the Machinists' union has returned to Lynn after spending two enjoyable weeks in this city.

Quite a few young men employed in the Saco-Lowell shops will journey to Nashua Sunday where a sumptuous repast will be served in their honor.

Hugh Gildea, overseer of the finishing room at the Lowell Bleachery was an interested visitor at the Rockingham fair yesterday afternoon.

Elmer Olson of the Lowell Bleachery, in charge of the tinshop is attracting much attention in his new Hudson touring car.

Joseph Goddard of the Mass. mills, the recognized long distance man of Lowell will try his hand at the games to be held in Brockton, Labor day. He avers that he will bring home the bacon.

The regular weekly business session of the Millmen's union will be held tonight in Carpenters' hall in the Runkels building. Business of much importance will be transacted and all members are desired to attend.

That superstition still prevails, is evident at the Machinists' rooms, when a party of young men decided to go fishing yesterday because there was a full moon the night previous. Amos Turner, the champ fisherman of the local in spending the week at Crystal Lake.

If the employees of the local mills and industries had started a baseball league early in the season, some stars would have surely been developed. In the practice games between mill teams at Shedd park every day some real good playing is witnessed by large crowds.

Appleton Company

Machinists' Union, 138

The regular meeting of the Machinists' union, 138, was held last night in Machinists' hall in Middle street. Pres. Arthur Phelps presided. Seven new members were admitted and several applications were read and accepted. The committee reported favorably on the outing held a short time ago, and a vote of thanks was accorded the committee for its untiring work in making the time a success. The secretary reported the union to be in strong financial condition.

Painters Held Meeting

The members of the Painters' union held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runkels building last evening. Four applications for membership were received and laid over for one week. Considerable business of a routine nature was transacted, and Business Agent George Fifield gave a short talk on the history of the local in Lowell. The secretary submitted a report of progress.

German Mills Cortail

The Daily Consular and Trade Reports print the following report captioned to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce from the American charge d'affaires at Berlin. "For information American cotton producers. German textile production reduced six per cent. Immediate further reduction probable. Local orders during the past week at a standstill. A few foreign orders slide. Import of raw material from Russia stopped. Only large sales made for military purposes. Much labor withdrawn from mills. No transportation facilities now available. Warehouses at ports overloaded with goods. Impossible to export."

Machinists' Union, Local 318 Met

The Machinists' union, local 318, composed of men employed at the Boston and Maine repair shops held its regular meeting in Odd Fellows hall in Middle street last evening. President Morris called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock, and introduced Mr. A. A. Barnsworth representative of the Trades Federated council, who gave a very instructive talk on unionism and what it has done for labor. A great deal of routine business was transacted and 10 new members were admitted and 8 applications for membership were received. The secretary reported the union to be progressing rapidly.

Wool Outing Cancelled

The executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have agreed to cancel this year's annual outing and banquet, and to this end have notified the trade as follows:

"Owing to the terrible conditions now prevailing in Europe and which are liable to grow more serious in the near future, the executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have deemed it advisable to postpone until next year, the annual outing arranged for September 18, at which the members of the Philadelphia Wool and Textile association were to have been our guests."

The close relationship existing between the numerous members and factors engaged in the great struggle as well as the general sympathetic feeling has made this move a most fitting and proper one, for under the circumstances our local trade as well as our Philadelphia guests could not feel fully justified in attending a day's festivities with the world's greatest conflict being enacted almost before their eyes.

countless victims of the war were being cut down.

The war, he said, had armed faithful against faithful, priest against priest, while bishops of each country offered prayers for the success of the army of his own nation. But victory for one side means manslaughter to the other, the destruction of children equally dear to the heart of the pontiff.

The conclave of the Sacred college had been in session since the evening of Monday, August 31, and the final vote was not taken until yesterday morning. When the name of Cardinal Della Chiesa was cried out by the cardinal scrutineers as having received the prescribed two-thirds vote, there was much excitement among the members of the conclave.

Then followed the traditional formula, the cardinal being asked, as to whether he accepted the position. And breathless silence he answered in the affirmative, but his reply, owing to profound emotion, was scarcely audible. Immediately all the cardinals removed the canopies from above their chairs, this being the tangible sign that the leadership of the church had passed from them to the newly elected pope.

Later, during the course of a reception of laymen, the pope spoke of America, which, he said, was especially dear to him. He expressed great admiration for the genius of its people, which was only comparable to their religious zeal, and he added:

"I am glad that my first apostolic benediction abroad will be forwarded to America, where the American cardinals will later impart it to the people directly."

The pontiff also expressed the hope that America, in favor of peace, together with the players raised to the Almighty throughout the world, would mean that peace will come.

In the history of papal conclaves the present conclave was unique, inasmuch as, theoretically, the election of any cardinal was possible, while in previous conclaves there were special designations.

On the election of Cardinal Della Chiesa, Monsignor Boggiano, secretary of the conclave, with the master of ceremonies, the dean of the cardinals and other high church dignitaries, bowed before the chair where Cardinal Della Chiesa was seated.

He asked if the cardinal would accept the pontificate, and upon the affirmative reply all the canopies above the cardinals' thrones were lowered excepting that of Cardinal Della Chiesa.

In answer to the question of the dean of the cardinals, the new pope said he desired to take the name of Benedict XV.

Monsignor Boggiano, assisted by the other officials, recorded the act of election and the acceptance and the members of the conclave then entered the Sistine chapel with the pope. The pontiff was clothed in flowing white robe, red slippers and high stock with a broad red cravat. Cardinal Della Voipe placed over his shoulders a red stole, embroidered with gold. The pope then mounted the throne to receive the homage of the cardinals.

The cardinals first kissed the feet and then the hands of the pontiff, who administered the accolade and pronounced the benediction. Cardinal

Della Voipe placed upon the pontiff's finger the Fisherman's ring, which the pope returned to Monsignor Damico, to have engraved with his name.

The pontiff proceeded from the Sistine chapel to the Basilica of St. Peter's where he gave benediction. He returned to the Sistine chapel where the second act of homage by the cardinals was accorded him.

When the pope was asked to present himself before the people for the first benediction he turned to Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, and said:

"I hope I shall have strength to overcome my emotion."

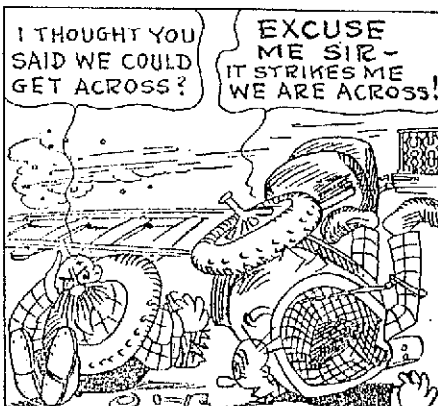

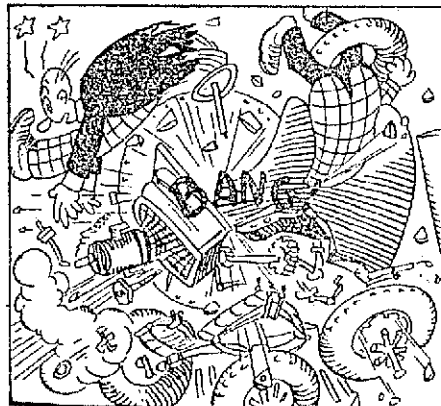

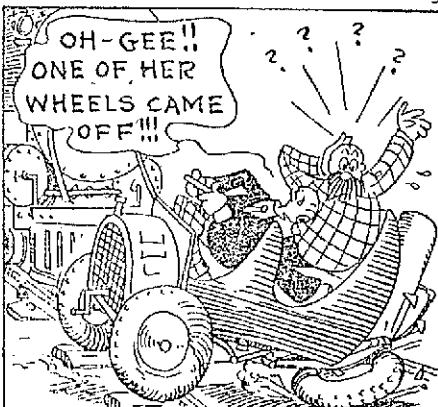

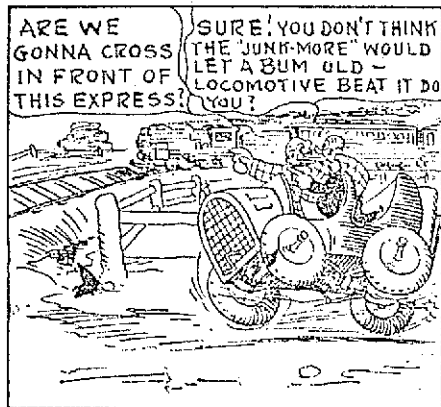

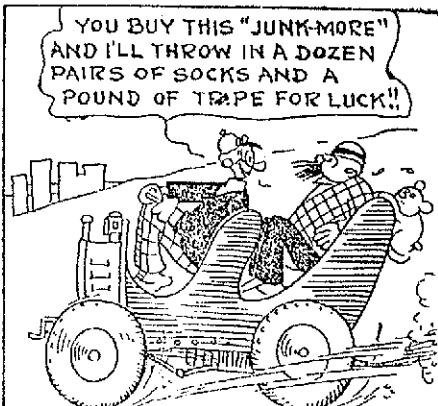

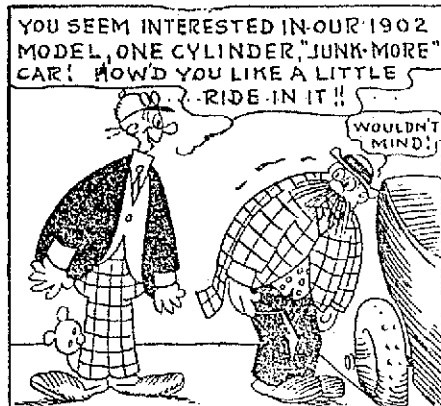

Crowds outside clamored to see the new pontiff and several of the cardinals, including Cardinals Gibbons, Farley and O'Connell, tried to calm the assembly by their presence.

The excitement reached a climax when the pope finally emerged. He was alone and a hush fell over the multitude. All knelt, and the pontiff raised his hand, with three fingers outstretched, and imparted with melodious voice the apostolic blessing. A great cheer rang out as he turned to withdraw.

Even in the conclave the election of the new pope caused much excitement. The cardinals surrounded him and addressed to him their greetings and congratulations in Latin. All wished to be the first to kiss his hand.

Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell, who only reached Rome shortly before noon yesterday, expressed their gratification at being the first cardinals not participating in the conclave to render homage. The pontiff embraced them tenderly and said he appreciated the efforts they had made to come to Rome for the conclave, at much personal discomfort.

ARRIVED ON THE ARABIC

NIECES OF MGR. O'BRIEN OF THIS CITY RETURN FROM TOUR OF IRELAND UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Among the passengers who arrived on the steamship Arabic from Europe yesterday were Sister Mary William, O. S. D., and Sister Constance, O. S. D., the former of St. Francis de Sales convent, Charlestown, Mass., and the latter of West Lynn. Both nuns are nieces of Monsignor William O'Brien, P. R., of this city and had been visiting the houses of the Dominican order in Ireland. They had intended to return to this country somewhat earlier but experienced the trouble of all tourists in securing passage.

53 KILLED IN RIOT

Aboard German Steamship—Passengers and Crew Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A riot aboard the German steamship Bluecher, at anchor in the harbor of Pernambuco, Brazil, in which three of the Bluecher's crew and 50 of her 800 steerage passengers were killed, was described yesterday by passengers aboard the Brazilian steamship Sao Paulo, upon her arrival here from Brazilian ports, whence she sailed at the commencement of the European war.

The Bluecher was bound from Buenos Aires for Hamburg, under the German flag, when Germany and England went to war. Upon learning that war had been declared, the Bluecher put back to Pernambuco. She had aboard, the Sao Paulo's passengers asserted, several million dollars for London and 800 Spaniards and Portuguese in the steerage.

Capt. Cyro della Amico, the Sao Paulo's commander, says the trouble began with an anti-German demonstration by Spanish and Portuguese against the Bluecher's crew. This was resented, and the ship's butler, a German, attacked one of the leaders of the demonstration.

The German was killed and the other German members of the crew seized arms and began firing. A fearful hand-to-hand fight ensued. The captain of the Bluecher summoned the Pernambuco police, who fired right and left.

Many of the rioters jumped overboard and were drowned. The police did not thoroughly quell the trouble until reinforced by cadets from the

PLAN TO AID JEWS

Still in Europe—Conference of Leaders of Zionists Movement to Be Held Late This Month

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Following the announcement yesterday that Louis D. Brandeis had accepted the offer of Hebrew Zionists to become the leader of the movement to protect Zionist activity throughout the world, which has been considerably disturbed by the European war, and to take steps to relieve distress of unprotected Jews of Europe, some of the most prominent Jews of Greater Boston arranged for a conference of representatives of all Jewish organizations of Massachusetts to launch a nation-wide campaign among all classes of Jews, to relieve the distress of the Hebrews affected by the war.

The conference will probably be held on Thursday, Sept. 24. The leading American Zionists are expected to attend. Among them will be Dr. Schmarja Levin, a former member of the Russian Duma, who is a member of the Inner Action Zionist committee of Berlin.

STALLINGS HAS THEORY

Most managers believe more or less in working left-handed batters, especially outfielders, against right-handed pitchers as much as possible and as little as possible against southpaws, but with George Stallings this idea has become an obsession. The Stallings theory is: "Don't let a left hand hitting outfielder on the ball field when a left-handed pitcher is working." He has played his cards along these lines persistently while the Braves batted about in the cellar, and with the club catapulting out of last place to the first division, he has still played his hand with great results. From the southpaw hitters to show in clearing off the field of action when left-handed pitchers begin to struggle toward the mound, many of the Braves players believe that their boss has developed superstition along his pet theory lines.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Miss Jennie L. Minard, a postal service substitute clerk, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Hugh and Tighe on a complaint of Postoffice Inspector Hall, charging her with secreting and embezzling a letter containing $5. The letter was addressed to Miss Maude Henry, Variety Theatre, San Francisco, Cal.

The defendant was arraigned before Commissioner Hayes, pleaded not guilty and was held under $500 for a hearing Sept. 8. Her father, Percy I. Minard, furnished bail.

Miss Minard is 22 years old, and has been employed by the government since Dec. 31, 1912, as substitute clerk in sub-stations in the Boston postal district. She has lately been employed at station 97. Miss Minard lives at 679 Columbia road, Dorchester, and is said to be the first woman in the employ of the postal service to be arrested for stealing from the mails.

SITTING BULL

Chieftain a Politician, Not a Bold Fighting Man—Built Up a Powerful Machine

History has shed a false light around Sitting Bull, the Sioux Indian chieftain. It has made of him a warrior, a red Mars who led his naked savages with the dash of Mural and evaded disastrous battles with all the ingenuity of Fabius. But that is not the real Sitting Bull. It is a red and yellow and vivid impressionism; it should be a drab in nonchance. Sitting Bull was a politician.

Sitting Bull began his career as a fighter. It is recorded that while a boy of 10 he killed a bison. When only 14 he and five or six grown companions murdered three Crow Indians. For this heroic exploit the young Indian, then known as Jumping Badger, was re-named Sitting Bull, after his father. And henceforth he remained true to the name: from a jumper he became a sitter.

When about legal age, as the white man reckons it, Sitting Bull retired from warlike arts and began "making medicine." He entered politics. He was not enough to see that the medicine men had all the power in his tribe, while the warriors took all the risks, seeming well paid by a few brief days of glory. He was now, one might say, a wardman in the Sioux "invisible government."

Sitting Bull soon rose to be the most powerful of the medicine men. He was a tall, stern-visaged man, the ideal Indian in physiognomy. The tribal patronage became his. He fasted, prayed and performed mysterious rites to increase his hold on the nation. Instead of a savior contract he gave his favorites the privilege of stealing horses. Supporters were brought into the line through superstition, thus keeping all the money, and its equivalent, in the organization treasury.

But it must not be conceded that Sitting Bull was without ability. He represented the tribe in its dealings with the government and showed qualities approaching real statesmanship. He obtained a treaty that gave the Sioux Indians more liberty than any others in America.

He discarded the titles of chief and medicine man. He was "man," he said. The ceremonies preceding battles were conducted by him. He even made rude plans to govern the warriors in their fights. But he did not unsheathe his tomahawk. Instead, he retired to the medicine house and there, while his followers were at war, he prayed and forecast victory. If victory came "his medicine" was the cause; if defeat, the warriors had listened to the bad spirits instead of the medicine. Nothing could be simpler than a system like that. And Sitting Bull worked it.

Soon Sitting Bull gathered around him a formidable array of lieutenants to perform his various tasks. There was Gail, a really magnificent warrior, a man who fought with all the bravery and coolness of the Norseman; Running Antelope, an orator of sitting Bull's power; Crazy Horse, a satellite who made "small medicine" around the campfires, all about Sitting Bull's greatness, and Rain-in-the-Face, a fighter and implacable enemy of the white man. His organization became despotic in its power, but Sitting Bull, a far-sighted politician, was careful not to check in the reins too much, nor was he chary with such favors and privileges as Indians enjoy.

Until gold was discovered in the Black Hills Sitting Bull was on friendly terms with the whites. Under the treaty made in 1868 no white man could enter the Sioux territory without consent of the Indians. So they had plenty of hunting and fishing ground and occasion to add and slay any except members of other Indian tribes. But with the discovery of gold white men poured into the Sioux territory. They protested. The white miners asked the government to remove them. That was tried, but Sitting Bull refused to go.

"This is what we say to you," he replied to the spokesman of a commission.

Sitting Bull's popularity now sank to its lowest ebb. Every day a few followers left him. He was in despair when he saw a chance to renege himself in power. A young Indian in Montana was acquiring considerable notoriety then by announcing that the second coming of the Messiah would mean freedom for the Indians. Sitting Bull decided to use this as a lever to regain his prestige. He became an agency Indian and then retired to the hills to fast and pray. In a few weeks, gaunt and haggard, he returned and announced a vision. Elaborate ceremonies were held and from 2000 to 3000 Indians moved their tepees near his lodge. His word became law again. The government decided to arrest him as a means of preventing trouble. He resisted a detail of Indian police. He was killed by a revolver shot from the hand of one of his own tribesmen who had followed Gail and become a member of the Indian police force. Kansas City Star.

OLD CUBS HAVE DRIFTED

ONLY FRANK SCHULTE REMAINS OF THE FAMOUS CLUB WHICH WON PENNANTS

"Where are the Cubs of yesterday?"

Gone—all gone!

Of that famous Chicago club of 1906, probably the greatest baseball machine ever constructed, there is but one player remaining—Frank Schulte, the "home run king" of bygone days. The title of Chicago Nationals more often is applied of late than the name of Cubs. And today, as you watch that team, you wonder. Eight years ago you wondered also—but in a much different way. Then it was you wondered how it came such a gain-any of scintillating players ever were gathered on one team. Now you can but ask yourself where they have gone.

Do you remember the lineup of that world's championship machine? Look it over again:

Slagle, centre field.
Tinker, shortstop.
Chance, first base.
Steinfeldt, third base.
Schulte, right field.
Evers, second base.
Kling, catcher.
Brown, pitcher.
Raulbach, pitcher.
Hofman, utility.
Slagle, who led off that famous batting list, was rapidly lost to baseball-dom. He is out of it forever. Sheckard has dropped to the American association.
Joe Tinker virtually started the Federal league and heads the Chicago Federal club.

Frank Chance's bright star is waning rapidly. There is talk of someone replacing him as the Yankee's manager.

Steinfeldt recently died at his home in Kentucky.

Evers is doing his best for the Boston Braves—a peppery man as of old. Kling, the marvel, no longer adorns the diamond. He runs a billiard hall in Kansas City.

Old Ed Raulbach is with the Brooklyn Nationals—but is not at his best by any means.

Mordca Brown, the "three-fingered" twirler, is with the Feds.

Artie Hoffman is frolicking about second base with the Brooklyn Feds under Bill Bradley.
Of that illustrious, fear-inspiring machine, Schulte alone is left. Frank still is playing good ball, but it was not so very long ago that he was taken out to allow another to bat for him—silent message that the end is drawing near for one of the brightest stars of the baseball firmament, the man who has made more home runs in the big leagues than any other, and who once was adjudged the most valuable player in the National league and at one time considered one of the best in the world.

therefore, is regarded by the department as unwarranted from the standpoint of the supply and the import price of the seed. Some dealers are continuing to sell at the former price, but these are exceptions.

If the present high price is maintained, the specialists are doubtful whether crimson clover can be profitably used as a green manure crop for seeding in corn or on vacant ground, or under other conditions where the catch is not reasonably certain. Under such conditions they point out that it will be better practice to sow rye this fall and use the difference in price in adding nitrogen to the soil in the form of nitrate of soda or some other highly nitrogenous fertilizer. The rye will afford a winter cover preventing washing and leaching, and can be plowed under in the spring to add humus to the soil.

When crimson clover is being used regularly as a winter cover crop in orchard culture, or where local experience indicates that a good catch and a good crop are practically certain, payment of a higher price for the seed will no doubt be justified.

A somewhat similar condition exists with reference to hairy vetch seed. There has been approximately six-sevenths as much seed imported since November 1, 1913, as in the year previous. This shortage, however, is partly counter-balanced by the increasing domestic production of hairy vetch seed. Wherever the price of hairy vetch seed is found to be exorbitant, the same change in farm practice is recommended as that suggested in the case of the crimson clover.

WAR CAUSES SCARCITY

HIG INCREASE IN COST OF CRIMSON CLOVER AND HAIRY VETCH SEED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—Prices for imported crimson clover and hairy vetch seed have recently shown such a marked upward tendency that specialists of the department of agriculture fear that the cost of these seeds, of which Europe is the chief source, will interfere with the increasing use of these leguminous cover crops. In fact, it is feared that the prices of the seed of these legumes may go as high as to make it inadvisable to plant them this year.

Before the present European conditions arose, crimson clover seed was selling at from $4 to $5 per bushel. Up to August 15 there was a scarcity of this seed in the United States, owing to the fact that the receipts from Europe were smaller than usual. The prices then advanced to from $7.50 to $9.00 per bushel. Since that date importations have continued to arrive, until there is now more imported seed available for fall seeding than there was in this country a year ago at this time. This seed according to the department's information, was all imported at approximately the same price as that sold for $4 to $4.50 per bushel in the early part of the season. The present high price,

RUSHED FROM WAR ZONE TURKEY DECLARES WAR

Dr. and Mrs. Van Deursen of Lowell Attended the Clinical Congress in London

Dr. and Mrs. George L. Van Deursen of 1039 Middlesex street, have returned from England after attending the clinical congress of North America, which was held in London. The couple had planned to visit Holland, Belgium and France, but on account of the European war they were forced to confine their visit to England and although they were booked to return from Antwerp, they were unable to proceed to the Belgian city and consequently they sailed from London. They came through to Montreal, Quebec, without the slightest incident and from the Canadian city the couple came to Lowell by train.

Dr. and Mrs. Van Deursen sailed from New York on the S. S. Arabic on July 14 and arrived at Liverpool on the 26th. They visited several places in England and then proceeded to London, where the congress was held at the Hotel Cecil from July 27 to 31 inclusive. The congress was largely attended and proved of great benefit to all who were present. At the conclusion of the congress the numerous doctors and surgeons were taken through the art galleries of London, despite the fact that all places were closed on account of the suffragettes.

Just as the Lowell people were about to travel to Holland, war had been declared and Germany was declared and this put a halt to the voyage.

Dr. Van Deursen in conversation with the writer stated that soon after Americans coming from all parts of Europe invaded London and at one time there were as many as 10,000 Americans in the English capital. A committee of Americans was at once organized with headquarters at the Hotel Savoy to assist the traveling Americans. Provisions were made to cash drafts and also to supply with money the Americans who were stranded.

A weekly paper known as the "American Bulletin" was published and this contained valuable information for the tourists. The American citizens' committee consisted of a diplomatic committee, finance committee, transportation committee, hotel and rest committee, men's relief, women's relief, registration, reference, index, baggage, postoffice. The chairman of the general committee was Theodore Hezel of New York. W. North Paine of New York was secretary and William C. Bond of New York was treasurer. This committee endeavored to keep the tourists informed as to the sailing of ships; they looked after their baggage and also their comfort while in London.

The doctor and his wife returned on the S. S. "Scythian" of the Allan line, which sailed from London Aug. 21. The steamship was equipped with four 6-inch rapid fire guns and it was also escorted by two cruisers, the "Scythian" and the "Canada." The "Scythian" will be utilized in transporting Canadian troops to Europe. She is now in the port of Montreal and will sail in a few days. The doctor said the ship did not encounter the least trouble en route, but almost collided with two large icebergs. She traveled her regular course and was not molested in the least.

Speaking about London, Dr. Van Deursen said all parks in the large city are converted into drill grounds and they are filled with territorial reserves. The large and beautiful Crystal Palace has been converted into a hospital and many other large buildings of London have been utilized for the same purpose. "Among the 420 cabin passengers on the return trip," said the doctor, "there were many who lost all their valuables and even clothing on their way to England from other countries. He said a number of the passengers were penniless when they struck London, but they were soon taken care of by the committee. The doctor says the English as well as the Canadians in Canada are very enthusiastic over the war and thousands of men report daily to the recruiting station for enlistment as volunteers. The doctor and his wife have enjoyed their trip despite the discomfort and they are pleased to have returned safely to Lowell.

AN ADVANCE IN WHEAT

REACHED THE HIGHEST POINT SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE EUROPEAN WAR

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Wheat prices advanced to the highest point since the beginning of the European war. May wheat touched 1.25-1.4, surpassing by 1-1 cent the high reached on the wild upturn last week.

Increasing belief that Turkey and Italy will be drawn into the conflict was largely responsible for today's rise in the market. Trading was more active than has recently been the case and there was said to have been a notable enlargement of export demands.

PRESIDENT WILL NOT ATTEND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—President Wilson today declined an invitation to attend the Star Spangled Banner celebration in Baltimore this week.

The New York World today published the following:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—With 600,000 veteran troops mobilized and ready for instant action, Turkey has declared war on the allies. Authentic word to that effect was received here today, it was said, on the highest authority.

The same authority declared the first move of the Turkish campaign would be directed simultaneously against Russia and England. A flying army would be sent into the Caucasus to strike the Russians on their flank and rear. The other army would go directly to Egypt, where it was said the Mohammedan troops of Great Britain would rally to the Turkish cause.

"Turkey has struggled against giving up its neutrality," said a diplomat friendly to the Turkish program to-night, "but she realizes that the present struggle, so far as she is concerned, is only the beginning of a greater and more devastating struggle among the nations of Europe. In the struggle she would have everything to lose, whether the allies won or Germany and Austria were victorious. Therefore, she must defend her own land."

Would Dismember Turkey

In the case of the allies winning the present struggle, the diplomat declared that Turkey would be dismembered in the apportionment of the spoils, and she would find herself shorn of much of her power when the second stage of the struggle began, and England, Germany, Austria and France joined hands to curb the Slav people.

"This will be an inevitable consequence of Russian victory," he asserted. "It is written and it is inevitable."

The same authority declared that there were many surprises in store for those who regarded Turkey's advent in the war as a mere incident. The information was that the military aid with Germany's assistance, had not been idle in fomenting unrest and discontent among the Mohammedan soldiers of Great Britain and France. The charge has been made that this proselyting work has been widespread and thorough. Agents of the German and Turkish governments are reported to have worked assiduously to transform the European war into a "holy war," so far as Turkey was concerned, by stirring up the centuries-old feeling between Christian and Mussulman.

To Insure Neutrality

Ambassador Rustem declared that the mobilization of the Turkish army had been commenced when hostilities first broke out. It was undertaken, he said, immediately after Turkey announced her intention to remain neutral and had proceeded rapidly. In the beginning, the massing of the Turkish legions was intended as a precautionary measure, and to insure that Turkey's neutrality would be respected, he said.

There have been statements that the Turkish armies will be commanded by German officers," added the Bey, "and that several hundred such officers have taken command of the Turks. This is idle gossip." Turkey's action is expected to set all southeastern Europe adrift. Greece and Italy are expected to be the next to throw off the mask and enter the European arena, while the attitude of Bulgaria and certain of the other Balkan states hangs in the balance.

400 PASSENGERS, MOSTLY NEW ENGLANDERS, REACH BOSTON ON ARABIC

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Bringing home from Europe nearly 1100 passengers, most of whom are New Englanders, the White Star steamship Arabic arrived in port today. The majority of those on board had thrilling experiences to relate of the difficulties which confronted them in getting from the continent to England.

The unusually large number of passengers made it necessary to provide temporary quarters in all parts of the ship even in those sections usually devoted to cargo.

In order to avoid possible capture by German warships, the Arabic's higher were bunkered, but the precautions were unnecessary as nothing resembling a hostile vessel was seen throughout the trip, which was made almost on schedule time.

ADRIATIC SAILS FOR LIVERPOOL

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The White Star Adriatic sailed for Liverpool this afternoon with her complement of four six-inch rifles. No attempt was made by the customs officials to prevent her departure. REV. DR. J. H. RACETTE, O. M. I. TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCES IN THE WAR ZONE

Rev. Dr. J. H. Racette, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's parish, returned yesterday from Europe where he went to attend the general chapter of the Oblate Order, which was to be held in Rome in the early part of September. However, on account of the European trouble the chapter was postponed indefinitely.

Dr. Racette reports a fine voyage across to Europe and he said he was much surprised when he reached Boulogne-Osur Mer, France, when he saw a whole regiment of Scotch soldiers crossing over the French frontier to Belgium. He said it was then that he was informed that war had been declared between France and Germany. The reverend gentleman then repaired to Paris, where he was informed the congress would not be held. Then he made up his mind to go to either England or Ireland, but it took him 12 days before being able to leave the French capital and he was forced to go to the American consul for passport.

Dr. Racette then went to Killarney, Ireland, and from there he proceeded to Cork and Dublin and he says the country is beautiful. He also went to Scotland, stopping at Edinburgh and Glasgow and he visited the beautiful lakes of the country. The tourist went to London and this was just a few days after war had been declared between Germany and England and he says at that time London was very quiet. The Lowell clergyman sailed from Liverpool, Eng., on Aug. 25 aboard the S. S. Arabic, which was escorted during the voyage by two British cruisers which kept at a distance of about 30 miles. He said the homeward voyage was a most pleasant one. The ship anchored in Boston harbor this noon.

Dr. Racette said during his trip in France, Ireland, Scotland and England he visited several Oblate houses. He said the reception he received was a most cordial one and he will not soon forget his first trip across the continent. The father is enjoying the best of health and he says the trip has been very beneficial to him.

Joseph Boutin and Miss Cecile Sicard were married at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday at St. Louis' rectory the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. C. Bedard. The witnesses were George Boutin and Joseph Regis.

The other passengers on the car numbering 50 and including a picnic party from Rockland escaped without serious hurts.

WAR RISK BUREAU

Establishment of Insurance Bureau in Treasury Department Opened Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—With the establishment of a war risk insurance bureau in the treasury department, the United States today was engaged in a new line of business. W. C. Delaney, an underwriting insurance expert, has been placed in charge of the enterprise, which will be operated under Assistant Secretary Peters. The plan by which the government will insure American ships and cargoes will supplement arrangements recently authorized by congress for admission to the American registry of foreign built vessels.

Executive orders suspending sections of the old navigation laws under the registry bill are to be issued immediately. That is expected to open the way for several big shipping companies to place their fleets under the American flag.

The war risk bureau will insure American vessels, passengers, and cargoes "whenever it shall appear to the secretary of the treasury that American vessels, shippers or importers in American vessels are unable to obtain adequate war risk insurance on reasonable terms." It will be supplementary to that furnished by private concerns which claim they have not sufficient capital to give complete war risk insurance.

ERADICATING WILD ONION

By Careful Methods of Cultivation, Says Farmers Bulletin of Dept. of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—The wild onion, or garlic, which causes an annual money loss to farmers of millions of dollars a year can be eradicated by careful methods of cultivation, according to Farmers Bulletin No. 610, of the department of Agriculture, shortly to be issued. The wild onion is the worst weed pest in a large part of the territory in the Atlantic coast region from Massachusetts to Georgia, and as far inland as Missouri. It not only gives milk a disagreeable odor and flavor, but when the onion bulbs get in wheat they give the flour made from it a pronounced garlicy odor and taste.

On grounds of trade, wheat containing garlic bulbs in considerable quantity is graded "rejected" and is then sold only on sample. Such grain is generally sold at a price ranging from 20 to 60 per cent. lower than No. 2 red millers often refuse to handle onion infested wheat, as the bulbs gum the rollers and add greatly to the cost of grinding.

In the case of harvested wheat, the bulbs become lighter and are more easily fanned out in from six months to a year after harvest. Where it is not practicable to hold the crop that long, the infested grain may be artificially dried in an ordinary grain drier, after which the bulbs may be readily removed by good cleaning machinery.

To Get Rid of Wild Onion Pest
The measures recommended for the eradication of the wild onion, or garlic, pest are based on the growing habits of this plant. It appears in June or July, when it has a stem 1-2 to 3-5 feet tall, on the top of which are found clusters of aerial bulbs. It multiplies by forming 2 to 6 new bulbs, which start to grow after the leaves and stem die. These bulbs consist generally of a large bulb with a thin white skin and smaller ones with a hard brown shell. The soft shell bulb germinates in the summer or early fall, and the hard shell bulbs do not start growth until a considerably later date. A few start in the dormant fall, but most of them remain dormant until the following spring, or even later. Inasmuch as the plants from the soft shelled bulbs advance far enough to produce new bulbs before all the hard shelled bulbs have germinated, there is an overlapping of generations, which is the secret of the remarkable persistence of this weed.

To kill the wild onion, the work must be started in the fall to destroy the plants from the soft shelled bulbs before they produce new bulbs. The best time is when the plants are 12 to 18 inches high, or during October and November in the south and November and December in the north. At this stage the land should be plowed fairly deep, turning under all the onion tops. The tops should be completely buried by the plowing, and for this reason, a plow with a jointer attached to the beam will often be a great help.

As the aerial bulbs are practically

Disking the land previous to plowing will also aid in burying the tops. The following spring the field should be planted in a cultivated crop, corn in check rows being best. Another shallow plowing may be necessary in the spring, but ordinarily a disking or two previous to planting will suffice. In cultivating the corn, the effort should be to kill the onion plants that spring up and the easiest way to do this is to cut off the tops. On many of the modern cultivators sweeps 9 to 18 inches wide may be quickly attached in place of the shovels. Some soils, of course, are too stony or otherwise unsuitable for the use of sweeps.

From the time the farmer is able to get on the land in the spring until the corn is laid by, he should direct his efforts towards preventing the onion from making top growth, with the idea of killing the plants that come up from the hard shell bulbs. If this is well done, most of the onions will disappear by the end of the summer. Some of the hard shell bulbs, however, may delay germination for a year or two so that by fall a few plants may again be in evidence. The farmer, therefore, should be prepared to follow the same plan of deep plowing late in the fall, succeeded by a carefully cultivated crop the next spring. In two years this treatment is almost sure death to all the wild onions in the land, and the work can be carried out with but little labor and expense. The aerial bulbs germinate in the early fall, but the plants are weak and readily destroyed by fall plowing. Many farmers have tried the method outlined here and have found it to be entirely satisfactory.

Features and Laws
If grass lands are quite full of the onion, the easiest way of disposing of them is the cultivation method. In fields where there are only a few plants, the most feasible method is to dig the plants or clumps with a mattock. Four limbs of coal-tar creosote oil put on a plant will kill the ungerminated bulbs. Still, the mattock method is best, as one well directed stroke when the soil is moist and soft will take out the entire clump by the roots. These should be carried off where they can give no further trouble. It is then a good plan to fill the hole with soil and sprinkle a little grass seed on the surface. Sheep or cattle for a few years is reported as an efficient remedy for the pest. Sheep apparently eat the onion most during the winter and early spring, when there is little other green vegetation, or in poor pastures where there is little to eat but the onion. On the better pastures, it may be necessary to salt the onions occasionally to give the sheep a taste for them sufficient to overcome their natural dislike.

Measures That Help

the only means by which the onion pest is distributed from field to field and farm to farm. It is highly important to prevent their formation. Cutting the tops of the onion plants before they are ripe will prevent the formation of these bulbs.

Late Plowing for Small Grains
It has been found that if plowing is delayed until a late date in the fall and the land is planted to small grain, only a few onion plants will ripen their aerial bulbs by harvest time the following summer. As the plowing should be done at such a late date as to prevent the best development of fall-sown grain, it is preferable to plant spring grain. When the sowing of fall grain is necessary, it should be done with full knowledge that the late planting will probably reduce the yield. Seeding a fall-grain crop after late plowing has the least harmful effect on yield in the southern part of the onion belt, where wheat may be planted as late as November or December. Every effort should be made to keep seed free from bulbs. This can be accomplished by thorough drying and floor cleaning, but the best way is to keep seed grain on a separate patch kept absolutely free from the onion. Dairy-men are advised that by keeping cows away from the onion for 4 hours before milking, they can produce milk with practically no garlic flavor. The dairy division of the department also has devised a method of blowing warm air through milk to eradicate the garlic flavor, and will be glad to give details to any dairymen who apply.

LUCK DECIDES PENNANT RACE
A little imagination will enable any dreamy fan in any of our cities to fly the National League flag, at present. What is popularly described as "one of the greatest races in baseball" history is now on, contributing more or less toward cold suppers for the housewife and hot times for the bookman.

By "the greatest race," etc., is meant merely an uncertain one. As it stands now, four clubs are in such a state of non-championship development that it's hard to tell which will lose.

Expert informants have it that the "team that gets the breaks" will fly the flag; in other words, any club will be lucky to win!

Put four jumps of sugar on the window sill and then put a bet down on the one you think will first tempt the festive fly to alight. That's the way the National League championship race looks to the naked eye. However, there's still a chance for excitement. There's ever a hope for a strong finish in a chess championship.

Nevertheless the National race is exciting far more attention than the American League procession, in which a really and truly one-best-bet club is playing—the Athletics. The situation reduces to this:

That there may be more class in the American League, but as a race it's a joke. After all, it's more exciting to see a nose finish between selling platters than a parade by thoroughbreds.

Assessors' Appropriation is Petering Out—Working Overtime

The appropriation of the assessors' department is nearly exhausted, and in order to keep within the appropriation a number of regular clerks are working overtime without extra compensation. The appropriation asked for at the beginning of the year was $14,625 and that given was $14,500, a difference of $125 which is much needed at this time when a lot of work is being done.

Chief Clerk Beardon in conversation with The Sun reporter this morning said that before the budget of the assessors' department was sent to the municipal council every item was figured down to the cent. "We knew," he said, "that we could not get along with a cent less than was asked for, $14,625, but despite that fact the council cut us down $125 and now the clerks have to make up the difference by working overtime without compensation."

Mr. Beardon said there was an increase this year in the printing of the poll books. Last year the printer charged 74 cents a page for the work and this year he increased it to 82 cents per page. The assistant assessors cost the department more this year for three inexperienced clerks had to be hired on account of the civil service not being able to supply the department with experienced clerks, and then again there was an extra expense incurred on account of the large number of female voters. When the assistant assessors were through with their work of assessing poll and personal taxes, they had to go out and do house to house canvassing in order to get the names of the female voters.

The extra clerks who were hired some time ago were discharged last Monday for there was no money left to pay them for their services and the regular clerks had to double up and work overtime and this will be kept up all week.

To Draw Jurors

Mayor Murphy returned from a three-week vacation at Kennebunk, Me. this morning and he called a special meeting of the council for tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock for the purpose of drawing jurors for the October session of the superior criminal court.

The mayor stated this morning that the Putnam matter will not be taken up for tomorrow as he believes the matter will be disposed of at the regular meeting which will be held next Tuesday.

Big Contract

Purchasing Agent Foye this morning awarded a $11,000 contract for pipes and castings for the water department. The sum of $15,000 had been voted for the purchase of the material and the lot was bought for $4,000 less than the amount appropriated. The contract calls for 238 tons of straight pipe and 84 tons of special castings, and was awarded to the Standard Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry company of Bristol, Penn., whose bids were as follows: Straight pipes, $21.95 per ton; castings, $69.90 per ton. The other bids received were as follows: R. D. Wood & Co.—Straight pipes, $22.75 per ton; castings, $62.50; Iron-Adison Iron company—Straight pipes, $22.84; castings, no bids. Fred A. Houdette & Son—Straight pipes, $22 per ton; castings, $71.50 a ton; D. S. Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry company—Straight pipe, $22.95; castings, $70.

This material will be used in connection with the building of the new filtration plant.

A GENERAL BLOW-OUT

AT EXPENSE OF WATER DEPARTMENT ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON BETWEEN HOURS OF 1 AND 5

The water department will hold a big blow-out next Sunday afternoon between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock. While it is a blow-out it cannot be called a junket and if it has the desired effect the public will feel like having a junket in celebration of the fact.

Commissioner Carmichael announces that on Sunday afternoon the water will be drawn from all city mains and the pipes given a thorough blowing-out for the purpose of improving water conditions generally, if possible. It is hoped that the sediment and the different insects and reptiles that are reported to be quartered in the city mains will be discovered and eliminated. It will be impossible, therefore, for the public to get water through their faucets between the hours of 1 and 5 on Sunday afternoon and those who are in the habit of using it between those hours, should govern themselves accordingly.

The price of sandwiches at the hotels will remain unchanged.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonnett Silverblatt have gone in their machine to the White Mountains where they will spend their vacation.

LADY CHURCHILL SAYS FREDERICK WILLIAM OF LIPPE TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

LONDON, Sept. 2, 11 a. m. (Delayed in transmission)—Prince Frederick William of Lippe took his own life following a mistake of his regiment, according to Lady Randolph Churchill, who has just arrived from Germany, coming by way of Holland. "The true story of the death of Prince Frederick William of Lippe," she said, "is that he committed suicide. He was commanding a German cavalry regiment before being on Aug. 4, when his regiment in the darkness of evening nearly annihilated a German infantry regiment which it had mistaken for Belgians. The prince shot himself, fearing to face the anger of Emperor William. His widow was informed of his death on Aug. 14."

VON HORST ARRESTED

Wealthy Hop Grower in California, Resident of London, Held as a German Spy

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Baron Lewis von Horst of Coburg, Germany, was arrested in London yesterday on the charge of espionage and placed in the concentration camp at Olympia as a prisoner of war.

Baron von Horst has extensive hop interests in California. He is a brother of Clement von Horst and married a Miss Partullo of New York, daughter of D. J. Partullo.

A friend who visited Baron von Horst says he is charged with circulating a manifesto advising the Irish not to enlist in the British army. Baron von Horst denies this.

Clement von Horst and his brother, Paul, were at one time identified with the baron in his hop-growing farms on the Pacific coast.

For several years past the baron has made his home in London, where his business interests have been large. One of his latest enterprises was the establishment of a string of moving picture theatres.

Baron von Horst attained prominence in the suffrage agitation in England by appearing many times as a bonds-

A LIVE LIZARD

Found in Glass of Water in House on Albion Street.

Patrick Touhey of 321-2 Albion st. called at The Sun office today with an animal in a glass that he had drawn from the faucet in his house. Resting in the bottom of a common drinking glass, reposed a spotted lizard, which measured about two inches in length, and about 1-2 in. in thickness. Mr. Touhey said that it had come through the faucet in his house, while his little son was letting the water run, before taking a drink. Mr. Touhey stated that he is a working man, but that he has not had a drink of water or tea or coffee for two days. He thinks that conditions are now intolerable, especially in the section in which he resides. He was also of the opinion that if the lizard had gone down his boy's throat, it would have caused serious illness and perhaps death. After receiving a drink of clear spring water at The Sun office, he proceeded on his way to city hall, to show his find to the proper officials. It is to be hoped that the incident will lead to some method of improving the water.

Unlooked for Result in Recent Hearing—Surprise Sprung by Com. Brown Who Voted Originally to Dismiss Charges

Commissioner George H. Brown sprang a big surprise at a special meeting of the municipal council this morning, when he moved to discharge Supt. Newell F. Putnam of streets and highways, his motion being sustained by Mayor Murphy and Commissioner Morse. What caused the surprise was the fact that at the beginning of the Putnam hearing Commissioner Brown presented a motion asking that the charges against Supt. Putnam be dismissed. At the conclusion of the meeting Commissioner Brown was asked by the newspapermen how he accounted for his action and his reply was: "I will give an entire explanation to the people at the proper time. A man in public service must be careful."

The mayor announced the purpose of the special meeting, saying it was to act on an order from the clerk of the superior court to draw eight travelers jurors for the September sitting of the criminal superior court, and Commissioner Morse was appointed to draw the names from the box. The following names were drawn:

John J. Green, 35 Bartlett street, laborer.
Hugh F. Gillon, 26 Hanks street, newspaperman.

Coronation of Pope Benedict XV Will Take Place Sept. 6

BENEDICT XV—THE NEW POPE.

A few facts about the life of Benedict XV, the new pope, whose election came as a distinct surprise, will be interesting. First of all stands out the vital point that the new pontiff will likely carry out many different policies from his predecessor, the late Pius X. He is known, for one thing, to be on good terms with the Quirinal, and so his election may mean the establishment of modus vivendi by which the long disagreement of forty-four years between the vatican and the national government may be ended. The new pope was the youngest of the newly created cardinals, having been elevated only last May with four others. He is in his sixtieth year. Giacomo della Chiesa was born at Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, Italy, on Nov. 21, 1854. He studied at Rome and was ordained a priest on Dec. 21, 1878. He accompanied the late Cardinal Rampolla to Madrid and remained there as secretary of the nunciature until 1887. He was made monsignor while there. He then returned to Rome with Cardinal Rampolla, who was made secretary of state by Pope Leo XIII, and entered that office as one of the minor officials. In 1901 he was appointed substitute of the secretariate and secretary of the cipher. Mgr. della Chiesa received a noted promotion when on Dec. 16, 1907, Pope Pius X. named him archbishop of the important see of Bologna. Less than seven years of prudent administration there won for him on May last a place in the sacred college.

CARDINALS O'CONNELL AND GIBONS REGRET INABILITY TO TAKE PART IN CONCLAVE

ROME, Sept. 3 (Delayed in transmission).—Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore and Cardinal O'Connell of Boston arrived here today from Naples, whither they had hurried by steamer from the United States hoping to reach Rome in time for the conclave which elected Cardinal della Chiesa, supreme pontiff of the Roman hierarchy, in succession to the late Pope Pius.

The American cardinals regretted exceedingly that they could not take part in the conclave.

It is recalled that in the last letter written by Pope Benedict when he was acting as papal secretary of state for the late Cardinal Rampolla before the death of Pope Leo was in reply to a communication saying that even the Protestant churches in America were praying for the recovery of Pope Leo. In his reply the present pontiff said that Cardinal Rampolla had communicated this telegram to Pope Leo, who had answered that it was a great consolation to hear this as it showed that his idea of the reunion of Christian churches was not a dream.

CORONATION OF THE NEW POPE WILL TAKE PLACE ON SEPT. 6.

ALLIES DRIVEN BACK ON THE PARIS FORTS

German Right Furiously Forcing Way to Paris, Battering Rear of Retreating French—Canonading Broke Windows in Chantilly, 17 Miles North of Paris—Unconfirmed Report That the French Authorities are Considering the Surrender of Paris—Complete Defeat of Austrians Near Say Russians—Germans Rush to Galicia

The German right is described in news despatches today as at the rear of the retreating French who are falling back through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-en-Valois.

This would place the advance of the German host as within perhaps 20 miles of the limits of Paris, their objective point.

Official information regarding the respective positions of the Germans and the allies, is, however, lacking.

Mail advices reaching New York from London today bring a report originating in Liverpool that British transports have landed 80,000 Russian troops in France. This matter was not permitted to pass the cable censors.

Press reports of the operations in the east add little to what has been made known from official sources. In general they refer to fighting early in the week and only confirm Russian claims of Austrian disaster in Galicia and German successes in East Prussia. The Russians have occupied Lemberg, the capital, and stronghold of Austrian Galicia.

Australia has arranged to send more infantry and light horse in support of the allies.

Premier Asquith opened the crusade to stimulate recruiting at a meeting in Guildhall, London. He called upon every able-bodied Briton of military age to rally to the colors.

The German ambassador to the United States, Count Von Bernstorff, announced that he had positive information that two British cruisers off New York harbor were receiving supplies from a vessel flying the American flag.

XV. will take place on September 6. Immediately after his election yesterday the pontiff said that he could not imagine how his frail being was capable of enduring the weight of enormous responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, especially at a moment when almost all the countries of Europe were stained with blood, when the wounds inflicted upon humanity were also inflicted on the church and when

Attracted 75,000 to
—Good Horse Racing

Under a cloudless sky and a sun that did not blister, 75,000 persons, or thereabout, attended the Rockingham fair yesterday, Governor's day. Governor and Mrs. F. H. Hall, Governor-elect and Mrs. James H. Hall, and Mrs. Bader arrived early in the afternoon, escorted by the following members of the staff: Gen. William Sullivan, Major Russell A. Wilkins, Major Eugene T. Sturges, Major Joseph A. Charest and Capt. E. W. Marshall.

They witnessed the races and shows from the Governor's box in the grandstand and were later entertained at dinner in the clubhouse.

Yesterday's feature was a parade of the prize-winning cattle on the track. The high-bred was the most sensational of the work, two horses and a harness race and a harness racing. The harness race, with a purse of $1,000, was won by the high-bred, with a time of 2:10.4.

Awards in Horse Show
Among the best horses in the horse show yesterday was the Carthagenian, the four-year-old colt, and the mother, Mrs. M. P. Murphy and Frank Donovan are running close for the prize to the state winner of the greatest number of children during the show.

Cattle and Other Awards
In the cattle awards yesterday P. H. Hines of Middlebury, Vt., took first prize for the Guernsey herd. Lewis Cox of Lawrence took second and A. W. Griswold of Ellwood, N. H., third.

In the Devon class the first prize all went to W. H. Moul of Morriston, while John Cox of Center Harbor took most of the other ribbons.

In the rural department first prizes were awarded as follows: Gladys J. K. Alexander, East Bridgewater, Mass., class of 10; J. C. Murphy, Newburyport, 11; Frank W. Sprague, Haverhill, Mass., 12; Emil Ritten, Methuen, Mass., 13; Edward L. Lewis, Taunton, Mass., 14.

First prize for butter was awarded to Arthur C. Higgins of Andover, N. H., and for candy prizes to the Millbrook Creamery of Milford, N. H.

Miss Marion Woodman of Andover, N. H., was awarded the first prize for canned fruit, for preserves and for jelly.

Mrs. Anna Spaulding of Hudson, N. H., took the first prize for pickles.

March Wins Popular
The horse racing yesterday afternoon brought delight to thousands of New Hampshire folks when the veteran veterinarian, T. D. Marsh of Dover, took the first prize with a time of 2:10.4, a better time than his own record.

The Stratford county jilly scored this popular victory in the race for 2-year-olds, and better than 2:15 told that it took quite a little youngster to get the money.

First prize for the first heat in the Stratford county jilly was won by the Stratford county jilly, a better time than his own record.

Tremaine, raised in the famous blue grass country, was close enough to her to make two pretty finishes.

The class race aged trotters was won by straight heats, as expected. The light for a second year in this race was between members of the Birney stable, and was won by Mae C. daughter of Sir Todd, 2:10.4. This was a sort of a Birney family race right through for all six starters carry a cross to the great son of May King and Young Miss.

The pacine race went to Othello, a winner on Wednesday. Ethel Dinet also repeated her performance of the day before by winning a heat, thereby setting second money.

The match between the Boston and New York trotters, Major Wellington and Democrat, was won by the first named in rather slow time. "Happy Jack" Trout drove the Major, and he was given an ovation by the crowd that made the race well worth while.

The colt race furnished three close finishes. Bonnie Setzer, Chester LaSalle's hand-luck son of Henry Setzer, 2:10.4, barely recovered from his fall at Morriston, N. H., had another accident yesterday morning which nearly closed an eye. He surprised his owner, who was under the impression that he was up to the last call, by taking the first heat.

He was yesterday after that, and to the leading brother, daughter of Tremaine, 2:10.4, fell the task of forcing Prize Colgate to a couple of creditable miles. Mary Metal, by Guy Metal, owned by Hanch Morrison of Boston, and Miss Elmore, from Fairland farm, both trotted better than 2:20.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES
MARGARET DRUIEN EARNED BIG HALF OF EMPIRE STATE $10,000 STAKE AT SYRACUSE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Margaret Druien earned the big half of the Empire State $10,000 stake for 2:11 trotters at the grand circuit meeting of the New York state fair yesterday afternoon when she won the third and final heat. The first two heats were won on Wednesday.

Laurel McGee, winner of large stakes along the line, was hardly in the running.

A second reversal occurred when King Cochman was defeated in the Syracuse $500 stake for 2:11 pacers. Napoleon Direct, driven by Geers, took the three final heats yesterday after having lost in Wednesday.

King Cochman was far in the rear yesterday.

Victor Vernon Flies 150 Miles in Hydro-aeroplane—Flight Made at 2,000 Feet—Took Two Hours

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 4.—Victor Vernon made an over-water flight of 150 miles in a hydro-aeroplane yesterday from Kennebecport to Bar Harbor. Three stops were made, the first at Port Clyde for a supply of gasoline, a second at Rockland, and the third at Northeast Harbor, which the aviator reached for Bar Harbor.

The flight, which was made at a height of about 2,000 feet, consumed two hours, 32 minutes of actual flying time.

JAPAN'S COTTON INDUSTRY
With the exception of India, China is the greatest importer of cotton goods in the world, and America has long been one of the best markets for American cotton goods. In recent years, however, Japanese competition has seriously curtailed American sales in that field. The chief factors in the development of the cotton industry in Japan and that country's success in the Chinese market are summarized in the following Japanese Commerce Bulletin just issued by the Bureau of Department of Commerce, as follows:

In the upbuilding of the Japanese cotton industry the mills have been greatly hampered by lack of money and experience, as well as by the lack of skilled operatives and the difficulty of their system of transient girl operatives, of creating and maintaining a trained force. The first cost of the mills is so great that, with high interest charges and high taxes, which have been greatly increased since the Russian war, the manufacturers have resisted all attempts by the authorities to enact regulations that would interfere with their work.

The mills have been greatly favored by a supply of extremely cheap labor and by freedom from laws prohibiting long working hours. They have also been enabled to keep down the cost of raw material by varying the mixture and thus setting off one cotton against another in a way that is not permissible in countries making the higher class of goods that require a single grade of cotton.

Most of the yarns and cloths produced by Japanese mills are made from a mixture of Indian, American and Chinese cotton, and the low cost of raw material thus obtained seems to be the main reason for their success in the Chinese market. As much as does their cheaper labor, especially as the labor is very inefficient. Japan ships cotton yarns and cotton goods to many countries, but its one large market is China, where it finds competition on par from India and cloth from the United States. The competition of the Japanese Cotton Spinners' association, as well as remarks by spinners, indicate that they fear the future competition of Chinese mills more than they do the American Indian. The Chinese cotton industry is small but developing, and if the tariff is raised, as now proposed, the Chinese may quickly become a strong factor in the situation. The bulletin from which the foregoing is taken is a detailed study of the Japanese cotton industry by W. A. Graham Clark, commercial agent of the Department of Commerce. The report reviews the history of the industry and trade from the establishment of the first spinning mill to the present time and analyzes the kinds of goods the Japanese are offering and shows to what extent they are cheapened by the use of inferior cottons, inferior construction, weighting materials, etc. Special attention is given to the methods employed by the Japanese to find a foreign market for their goods and to wages, cost of production, factory legislation, and the capitalization and profits of mills. A separate chapter is devoted to the Manchurian market and the nature of the Japanese competition in that section of China. Copies of the bulletin, "Cotton goods in Japan and their competition on the Manchurian market," special agents series No. 86, may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Government printing office, Washington, D. JURIES

LYNN, Sept. 4.—Walter L. Farland of Melrose Highlands died in the city hospital early today as the result of injuries sustained last night when an automobile in which he and three other men were riding struck an electric light pole on the Nahant boulevard. Robert A. Bacer of Marblehead, owner of the car, Fredrick J. Tobin of this city and Charles A. Phillips, of Nahant, the other occupants of the car were only slightly injured.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Next Monday will be Labor Day, but outside of an open labor meeting, I have not heard of any special observance to be made in this city. Of course Lowell and Lawrence will have it at Spaulding park, while many will go to Boston to see the Giants and the Braves do battle. Twenty-five years ago Labor Day was a brand new holiday and none of the mills closed and but few business places but the labor organizations had a celebration that reflected credit on them. The old Sun's account in part of the Labor Day observance of a quarter of a century ago was as follows:

"On Monday, the labor organizations of the city celebrated Labor day in a manner deserving of highest praise. The day was fairly warm and the crowds came out to enjoy the parade and the other events of the day under the auspices of organized labor. It being a local holiday the banks and city offices were closed but none of the mills closed and very few of the business houses shut their doors, the merchants preferring to do business and keep a harvest from those who were out to see the sights. All the barrooms were closed, the law compelling the liquor dealers to suspend business for the day.

"The Stars and Stripes were floated from numerous flag staffs and in several places neat decorations were put out.

"Chief Marshal William A. Yasinski rode at the head of a fine procession of working men. It was the feature of the day. The formation of the procession was made in Appleton street and about 11 o'clock moved through a lengthy route in the following order:

"The procession moved to the Fair grounds after completing the route laid out and hundreds indulged in refreshments. At 2 o'clock the company was called to order by John P. Ryan of the general committee who made a neat speech and introduced in turn the following speakers: Hon. John Welch, Hon. John J. Donovan, Rev. Alexander

Blackburn and Col. James H. Carmichael. The addresses were received with great enthusiasm and on motion of ex-president McGuinness the speakers were given a vote of thanks. The speaking occupied about an hour and then the sports came up. A game of base ball between the plumbers and the plasterers was won by the former by a score of 3 to 2 and they also beat the 11 to 3. Messrs. Jennings and Smith were first and second in the hop, step and jump and the former won the shot-put contest. The half mile race was won by James Morris. At Urban hall in the evening a dance order of 22 numbers was enjoyed with John J. Dolan as floor director bringing the festivity of the day to a pleasant close. The managers of the Labor Day program are highly pleased with the showing made and they promise something just as good or better for next year.

Labor Day celebrations up to within comparatively few years have been events in Lowell and were invariably successful. They served to keep local people and their money at home but there'll be little doing next Monday.

Their Silver Wedding

A week ago in this column, I mentioned the silver wedding of Joseph F. Boyd and Miss Adelle Brooks of Bedford which took place in a hall on the Manchester grounds. At that time Mr. Boyd, originally from Lowell was a resident of Manchester, N. H. and the bride of Bedford. But the succeeding four years brought them back to Lowell and on the occasion of their 25th marriage anniversary, last Tuesday evening, they were most pleasantly surprised at their cosy home, 73 Chestnut street by the 18 members of the Oakland L. C. Whist club of which Mrs. Boyd is a member. Music and whist were in order and the business whist was presented 15 pieces of silver suitably inscribed and eight pieces of hand-painted china. The party broke up at midnight with best wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Boyd.

Took Heroic Treatment

Says the old Sun:

"Thomas Conway, an engraver, formerly of the Hamilton mills, but now residing at Somerville has been suffering with a spinal trouble for some time past. He consulted Dr. Hammond of Washington and the treatment ordered for Mr. Conway was a suspension by the neck for two or three minutes every day. This treatment strengthened the spinal nerve and Mr. Conway is doing finely. Mr. Conway is a brother of 'Dick' Conway, the ball player."

"Dick" Conway died about 15 years ago and hence it is years after the remarkable treatment given him, and which he claimed prolonged his life. The treatment was discovered shortly before by one Dr. Charcot, an eminent Parisian surgeon. Dr. Charcot while lifting a child suffering from curvature of the spine discovered a beneficial effect and he proceeded to experiment with success. Dr. Hammond, at that time was one of the leading surgeons in the country and had been surgeon-general of the army during the war of '61. Mr. Conway went to Dr. Hammond's sanatorium at Washington for his first treatment but soon obtained an apparatus which enabled him to go through the treatment at his home. After considerable practice he could hang for almost five minutes at a time, and as he claimed he was greatly benefited by the strange operation.

Hock der Professor

Says the Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"The American orchestra has secured the services of Mr. Emil J. Borjes, as leader and conductor. Mr. Borjes is the son of a celebrated musician of Bremen, and at the early age of 10 years was apprenticed to one of the best violin teachers in Germany, with whom he remained for several years, and he finally finished his education under that master of the violin, Jacobson. After playing for several years in Bremen and with concert companies in Europe he decided on trying his fortune in America, and came here in 1881, locating in New York. Soon after his arrival he became associated with Dr. Kramers, and later with the Strakosky opera company. He played at the Wallace's theatre in New York and the Novelty theatre in Brooklyn."

There was some orchestra, that old American, and it was in continuous demand for many years. Prof. Borjes, as above mentioned was leader and conductor and played first violin. Henry Valentine played second violin, and was prompter at dances; Roscoe McDaniels, played cornet; O. R. Paris, (trombone); Joe Jeannotte, clarinet; and Henri Dufresne, drums and traps. George Hamilton also played second violin at times, and officiated as prompter while Walter Owen played flute. In later years Tommy McCarthy after several seasons with the original "192" company returned to Lowell and played flute and piccolo with the Americans while P. J. Greigore played the "big fiddle." When not engaged at the Opera House the American orchestra was in demand at dances and parties in Lowell, Nashua, and many of the towns while during the summer for several seasons the orchestra played on the Fox River boats. Of the original members, Messrs. Valentine, Jeannotte, Dufresne, Hamilton and Owen have passed away. Prof. Borjes teaches violin in this city and vicinity and conducts the Borjes orchestra which aids digestion at the Richardson hotel dining room, and but the fact that he has a son Hans, who is an orchestra leader himself, one would never suspect from the professor's appearance that he is in the "quarter of a century ago" class.

Those Were the Happy Days

"The Boston News Bureau hears," says the old Sun, "that the Boston and Maine will show a handsome increase this year, and one director places the gross increase at $600,000 and the net at $400,000."

Another Boat Race

In a recent article I gave an account of a boat race between Hugh Melton and John P. Harrigan which took place on the Merrimack. This race it seemed got others going for as a result a match was made between Conne O'Hearn, an old time athlete from the North common and Joe Lambert and the old Sun reported the event as follows:

"The two-mile race between Conne O'Hearn and Joe Lambert in best and best boats for $50 a side took place Saturday afternoon. The men got in position at 4:40 o'clock when word was given to start by Referee John P. Harrigan. O'Hearn was allowed 10 seconds' start by the articles of agreement. He maintained his lead over the course and increased it, coming in about a quarter of a mile ahead of Lambert."

In those days Conne O'Hearn was a first class ball player along with being handy with the oars. At last accounts he stood number one on the city's service list for sewer and street foreman.

Board of Trade Meeting

Looking over the report of a meeting of the board of trade held a quarter of a century ago one runs across the names of a few who are prominent in the councils of that organization even today. At the meeting of quarter of a century ago the subject of corporation taxation was discussed as it had become a regular thing for the corporations to seek abatements of taxes. The old Sun reported the meeting as follows:

"The regular monthly meeting of the board of trade was held Tuesday evening, President Cohn in the chair. The treasurer made a detailed report showing a balance in the treasury of $121.88. J. M. Kilgore and E. J. Noyes were elected members of the board. The matter of the discussion of the questions of taxation in issue between the city and the corporations was taken up. According to the original program the matter was to come up at Tuesday's meeting, but owing to the interruption of the vacation season it was found not to be ready. Mr. J. L. Chaffin, in a concise speech said that he had found the question to be a very complicated one, as he had begun to look into it and suggested that a full discussion of the matter would be greatly assisted by the enlistment of a lawyer who could explain the matter from a legal point of view. Mr. T. O'Hearn's motion that a committee be appointed to arrange for the discussion was carried. Hon. Geo. A. Marden, on invitation to address the meeting on the subject, said that much good would be derived from a thorough understanding at the start of the particular phase of the question and he suggested that State Assessor Endcott be invited to be present and take part. Mr. A. G. Cunnock was invited to make suggestions but he thought it unwise in the present state of affairs. He said that Lowell was at war with its industries and for this was notorious all over the state. "A committee was finally appointed consisting of George F. Marden, A. G. Pollard, and Charles A. Stott to make arrangements for the discussion at the November meeting and to invite gentlemen either to prepare papers or to speak. The committee was empowered to invite representatives of the different sides of the question, not members of the board, to participate in the discussion."

And to make a long story short it was the courts and not the board of trade that eventually settled the question. In the old days when there were as many daily papers in Lowell as there are now, at some of the meetings of the board of trade there would be nearly as many reporters present as members and the reporters often came in quite handy in counting a quorum.

LOOK UP MY OFFER

Upon opening my Lowell store in the Spring of 1900, I promised the people of Lowell that I would remain among them permanently, become part and parcel of this city and its industries, be a generous advertiser, and to that extent help to support its newspapers, be a good merchant and try to give the people more than everything that belonged to them for the money they spent with me.

TODAY, about six years later, as I enter upon this Fall Season, it is worth something to me to be able to go back with you through six big spring and five big fall seasons that have gone down the pike.

To the man who may have believed that I was a fly-by-night, that I came for one season only, I call attention to my new, permanent business address, 31 to 35 Merrimack Square, Lowell, long years after some people said I'd depart. My present store in the Hildreth building is perfect in every detail for a merchant tailor shop, sanitary, daylight, workshop on the premises second to none in Lowell, and an eight year lease to expire January 1, 1922.

To the man who may have believed that I could not afford to stay an advertiser, that my methods were not such as to endure the fierce glare of which publicity and the scathing criticism advertising necessarily attracts, I call attention to the fact that as I have continued in Lowell, so I have in other cities, never stopped value giving, nor placed a limit upon the qualities to which I think my customers are entitled.

From the foregoing, I may be open to the criticism of being reminiscent. It is reminiscence today but it was prophecy when I first told you the same things back in 1909.

For six years I have been telling the people of Lowell that outlandish claims in newspapers don't constitute bargains. If I advertise to make you a suit for $12.50, you know if I don't get much of a profit, I, at least, can't be making much of a loss at that price, or I could not have been selling at such loss for the last six years in Lowell without going broke.

A bargain to my mind is the purchasing of an article at a price lower than equal quality can be bought elsewhere—provided, the article you buy at such price is an article that you need and can use.

Today and Tomorrow a Free Pair of Trousers being the Price I am willing to pay to every customer as a sort of commission on his own business.

SPECIAL

My window display of New Fall Creations is the talk of the town. 140 pieces of Overcoatings. I am featuring 17 different shades in plaid backs for young men.

WORSTED SUITINGS—From all the leading mills in New England, names: Sheriffs, Standish, Dana's North Adams and Blackingtons. I have over 300 styles in Tartan checks, grays, browns, blues, silk mixtures, pencil stripes and blacks.

The dull season will soon be over, this offer is designed to lick the dullness around the holiday. You are going to order your winter clothing in a few weeks anyway. Give me that order now. I'll have plenty of work next month. I want my old customers to avail themselves of this opportunity. I want to see many new faces. I want to force the sale of at least a hundred suits and overcoats that otherwise would not be ordered till later. You don't spend your money now; just your order and your garment will be ready in a week, two weeks or two months, any time to suit your convenience.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

ANOTHER LIST OF BRITISH CASUALTIES

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The official bureau issues a further statement of British casualties as follows:

Killed, 18 officers; 62 other ranks.
Wounded, 78 officers; 312 other ranks.
Missing, 86 officers; 4672 other ranks.

The official bureau explained that the missing mentioned in the list of casualties are men not accounted for and included unwounded prisoners and stragglers as well as men killed or wounded.

As regards the "other ranks" it is stated that 2083 men are returned as having been sent back to their base as unfit, and that a large proportion of these would be included in the number shown as missing in this and the previous return from general headquarters.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4.—Shipowners have been informed that the Kiel canal has been re-opened to traffic but only a limited number of ships would be allowed to traverse it.

TURKS AND ARMENIANS IN BATTLE

PETROGRAD, (St. Petersburg) via London, Sept. 4.—The Turkish mobilization on the Persian boundary is slow. Many Christians and Kurds have refused to join the movement. The Turks are forcibly enrolling all persons of military age. There has been a serious conflict between Turks and Armenians at Bitlis, in Turkish Armenia.

PEOPLE OF GHENT IN PANIC OVER ADVANCE OF GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—2.56 a. m.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ghent says that the people there are in a panic over the expected advance of the Germans on that city which is indicated by the persistent sight of aeroplanes and scouts in its vicinity. It is believed that the Germans are now at Termonde, 16 miles east of Ghent.

The Belgians have flooded the district around Malines to hinder the progress of the German artillery.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—With Compiègne, 40 miles north, abandoned by the British, with Amiens in the hands of the Prussians and the eagle of Germany on the flagstaff of the Hotel de Ville, with another invading force battering at the very doors of Rheims, the government of France was removed to Bordeaux, 350 miles by rail southwest of this place. Now every energy is being turned to preparations for the seemingly inevitable siege.

News that has leaked out in the past 48 hours has been depressing; everywhere in the west there has been a falling back, and only the solid front presented by the French army along the Lorraine border, in the far eastern field, offers a gleam of hope.

La Fère is reported taken after a severe struggle and the fate of neighboring Laon can only be the same. The Valley of the Somme, which has been believed a great natural barrier to the German advance in the extreme west, has been given over to the invaders, as has the line of the Aisne, between Compiègne and Soissons, upon the north.

Military observers believe the allied line in front of Paris to be no further distant than the French army—Cromwell-Croix-Soissons front, which at its centre is less than 20 miles from the most northerly of the Paris forts, Doumont and Ecouen.

Whether the upper valley of the Aisne river, east of Soissons, has been given over to the Germans is but lately known. There has been a mighty battle in progress there for a full week. Chateau Porcien and Reims, both 22 miles northeast of Rheims, have been the centers of fighting. The armies of Gen. von Hausen, von Buelow and Grand Duke Albert of Wurtemberg are straining every nerve to gain the outskirts of Rheims, and some think their guns are already battering its defenses.

An immense and complicated system of intrenchments is being constructed outside the city. It is reported that the engineers in charge of the work are keeping several hundred thousand men busy.

In an official statement issued today the war office says:

"There has been no contact with the German forces in the region of Compiègne and Senlis since yesterday. Precautions have been taken to stop any offensive movement of the enemy. Measures have also been taken to provide for the pursuit of German aeroplanes, especially those of the armored type, which will be prevented from flying over Paris.

"The situation in the northeast is the same as yesterday."

CAZAR NOTIFIED OF FALL OF LEM-
BURG AND OTHER RUSSIAN
VICTORIES

LONDON, Sept. 4, 7 a. m.—A Petrograd (St. Petersburg) special to the Reuter Telegram Co. says the commander in chief has notified the emperor that the Russians have occupied Lemberg.

The commander-in-chief's message was as follows:

"With extreme joy and thanking God, I announce to your majesty that the victorious army under Gen. Brusilov has taken Halicz.

"I beg your majesty to confer on Gen. Brusilov in recognition of services preceding the battle, the fourth class of the Order of St. George and for the capture of Lemberg the third class of the same order; and on Gen. Brussiloff the fourth class of the same order."

REPORTED THAT GERMANS HAVE
ERLAND

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Telegraphing from Rome the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. says that a message received there from Basel, Switzerland, declares that an unconfirmed report has come into Basel from Bern setting forth that Lieut.-Gen. Von Denning and the German forces under his command have crossed into Switzerland to prevent their capture by the French.

PRINCE WILLIAM OF WEID HAD
REIGN

PARIS, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Durazzo, timed Wednesday night, tells of the departure of Prince William of Weid, whose brief reign has been a troublesome one. A meeting of protest has been held in the city and the police intervened. Many armed people assembled before the department of finance and demanded the payment of their salaries. Comptroller Traversky calmed the crowd with promises that payment would be made. At five o'clock in the afternoon, Italian sailors landed and occupied the streets in the vicinity of the royal palace and Prince William and his princeps, accompanied by Turkin Pasha, Akis Pasha, Sami Bey, Ekron Bey, and the diplomatic corps left the palace at six o'clock. The international commission assembled in the garden and presented its respects to the prince and princess, who then proceeded to the quay. Volunteers and Italian sailors lowered the flag on the royal palace.

The Italian yacht Misurata, which had been placed at the disposal of Prince William flying the Italian and Albanian flags weighed anchor at 10.20 and after a salute from the Italian cruiser Libia steamed in the direction of Venice.

FEELING OF COMPLETE DESPAIR
IN BUDAPEST OVER HALT IN
CAMPAIGN AGAINST SERBIA

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ostend says:

"A tourist who has just arrived here from Budapest after nearly a week's trip, said:

"There is a feeling of complete despair in Budapest. This is caused mainly by the practical abandonment of the campaign against Serbia which had the whole-souled support of the populace who believe that only one sharp stroke was needed to demolish Serbia. Yet at the end of a month not a single Austrian soldier is on Serbian soil.

"The position of the dual monarchy is very serious if it is compelled to make peace with Serbia on account of the chronic difficulties with the Slav population. The people of Budapest believe that the breaking up of the whole Austro-Hungarian structure is impending.

"The failure of the army sent against the Russians is also disheartening to the Austro-Hungarians. The newspaper censorship in Budapest is so rigid that the people practically have ceased reading the newspapers."

BOMBARDMENT OF SENLIS BY THE
CHARENTILLY

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4.10 a. m.—A despatch to the Mail from Dieppe, France, says that a visitor from Chantilly today reports that the bombardment of Senlis, 33 miles north-northeast of Paris, could be plainly heard from Chantilly Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fox, of 599 Bridge street observed the 21st anniversary of their wedding the past week. Mr. Fox was formerly a member of the police department and has been totally blind for six years as a result of an accident received while on duty. Mrs. Fox is confined to her bed by a serious illness from which she has been suffering for months.

WHAT TO DO WITH OUR BOYS

What to do with our boys is undoubtedly the question uppermost in the minds of many parents in this city today. Whether to send them to the high school, the industrial school, or to take them away from school altogether and send them to work is a problem that causes parents much serious thought and upon which they are seeking for wise counsel.

In the first place let it be understood that the great danger to be avoided is the taking the children away from school too soon and thus sending them out into the battle of life handicapped by lack of an average education.

By far the greater number of grammar school graduates are obliged to quit school and go to work. For these the great problem is to find their proper place in the industrial environment or to get some work in which they will have an opportunity to advance.

Parents should guard against putting their boys into a "blind alley," so to speak, from which there is no escape, no road leading onward or upward. There are thousands of boys employed at occupations which call for no exercise of their mental faculties, and in which they are merely human machines that run for a certain number of hours per day. Such positions are ruinous to boys physically, mentally and in many cases morally. Don't make a mere automaton of a boy or you will dwarf him in body and mind and even in soul.

But if a boy is to get more than a grammar school education the question comes as to whether it is better to send him to the high school than to the industrial. In deciding this point remember that if a boy gets even one year at the high school it will be of great assistance to him in whatever he may take up afterwards and that the chance to send him to the industrial school will still be open next year. Another thing to be remembered is, that the industrial school is not supposed to give a boy a trade. It merely helps to bring out his mechanical aptitudes and enables him to select more intelligently the occupation for which he is adapted. Moreover, it may be that the school is overcrowded in the department the boy would like to enter. The industrial school is handicapped for lack of room and for that reason it is restricted to an extent that seriously affects its usefulness. In deciding these important problems in the education of boys and girls, it is advisable to give them the very best education the parents can possibly afford, remembering that even then in the fierce competition for preferment, they will often be crowded to the rear just because they didn't know a little more.

WAR WITH MEXICO

And now comes General Carranza, the provisional president of Mexico, with the demand that we evacuate Vera Cruz, withdraw our troops and leave Mexico to pursue the even tenor of her way. General Carranza has further announced that he has closed the port of Vera Cruz and will keep it closed until the American troops are withdrawn.

President Wilson in reply states that the American troops will remain until constitutional government be established in Mexico.

It is difficult to see on what constitutional ground President Wilson can make this declaration. The American troops were sent to Vera Cruz as the result of an insult to the American flag and because the then president of Mexico refused to offer an apology by saluting the flag. By the way, the flag has not yet been saluted and it does not seem that General Carranza is ready to offer any apology of that sort. It would appear, therefore, that under present conditions a state of war exists between the United States and Mexico and that as a result we are liable to become more deeply embroiled in the Mexican affair than ever before.

The great question at issue is: "By what right do we undertake to dictate to Mexico just what kind of government she shall have, whom she shall have for president or in what manner she may decide to establish responsible government?" If the Mexicans should decide to make Carranza king it is difficult to see wherein the United States would be called upon to prevent such an eventuality.

President Wilson's policy of "watchful waiting" has served very well to avoid war thus far; but if carried to an extreme it may have an entirely opposite result. The best thing in our judgment that President Wilson can do under present conditions is to make diplomatic arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz. The government of the United States has undoubtedly been partial to the rebels in Mexico and now that they have come into power, it will be just as well to leave them to themselves to fight the matter out. It is hardly to be expected that there will be peace in Mexico so long as there are men like Villa, whose chief desire is personal aggrandizement at the expense of the people.

The failure of the United States government to recognize President Huerta brought us into the Mexican trouble in the first place and although Huerta was a butcher he was perhaps as good as any of those who are about to take his place. It is high time that President Wilson should call off his troops and wash his hands of the whole business.

FOREIGNERS AND CITIZENSHIP

If the United States were engaged in war, the government would find it advantageous to have as many as possible of the foreign born element naturalized so that they would be available for military service. Many of these different nationalities that make up our cosmopolitan population have had military training and would make good soldiers. But we should engage their permanent service for peace rather than war by having them take the oath of allegiance to the United States as soon as possible after their arrival here.

At the present time there are about 1,500,000 men in this country available for war in Europe, many of whom will go there if they get the opportunity of transportation. The departure of any large number from their employment in this country must necessarily cause more or less of an industrial disturbance. The departure of large numbers of Greeks from this city for the Balkan war discommodated some of the local factories and the same state of affairs prevailed in many other cities.

While it is not the intention of the American government to prepare for war yet it would be well in future to provide against the consequences of war in other nations. To do this it is well to encourage naturalization rather than to place obstacles in its way, as has been the practice during the past few years. There are thousands of men in Massachusetts who would now be naturalized citizens but for the difficulty of complying with all the requirements of the courts. In some cases it is necessary to travel a considerable distance to the court, bringing several witnesses; and it is often quite difficult to find out just what is required by the courts or how to secure naturalization papers. While it is not advisable to open the doors to citizenship too widely, yet it is equally wrong to place too many barriers in the way of those who are ready to take the oath of allegiance to our government and who can do so in accordance with the requirements of our constitution. Better have them give their allegiance to our government than to some other so long as they have made their homes amongst us. The addition to our citizenship would be just so much taken from the elements that occasionally involve the world in war.

WAR INSURANCE BILL

The war insurance bill which has been passed by congress is a new departure for this government, yet necessary as an encouragement to American commerce on the seas. This is the first time the government of the United States felt called upon to assume any such responsibility. But the exigency warrants such action. Uncle Sam will have to look more closely after the welfare and even the protection of American vessels. It will be necessary for our fleet to be more alert in protecting American ships from seizure by some of the belligerents. The federal marine insurance business will offer security to certain classes of commercial vessels which private concerns may be unwilling to cover. It is easy to see that without the closest supervision, the government may be made responsible for very large amounts through fraud and theft. These chances must be taken however if any attempt be made to assist legitimate lines of commerce.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

In this very hot spell there will be a great number of infants taken ill.

The scourge of cholera infantum has begun to appear and it will undoubtedly claim many victims before the cool weather sets in. As in past years, the chief relief is found in taking the children to the cool shade of the country, feeding them lightly, keeping them cool and shielding them from the direct heat of the sun. When infants are left in the care of little girls and boys to be carried about the streets under the broiling sun, it is no wonder they contract some of the various diseases brought on by excessive heat. Many parents whose children have been taken ill can receive valuable counsel and assistance at the milk stations of the Lowell Guild on Dutton street. The work of this excellent association has undoubtedly kept the infant mortality in Lowell much below what it otherwise would be.

BATTLE OF AEROPLANES

The report of an aeroplane battle over the city of Paris is the first news of the kind given to the world. It appears that a squadron of German aeroplanes and dirigibles appeared over the French capital and were at once attacked by a number of aeroplanes sent up to drive them off. The man who undertakes to fight in an aeroplane simply takes his life in his hand inasmuch as but a slight injury will disable the mechanism of his craft and bring him down to death. That aeroplanes, or still worse, the war dirigible, should be used for the destruction of cities and attacks upon non-combatants is one of the worst features of a war that is undoubtedly the most destructive ever waged in the history of the world.

WILSON FOR ANOTHER TERM

It is announced from Washington that President Wilson may be a candidate for a second term. This does not come officially from the president himself but the present time and the issues that are now before the country require a level headed man in the White House. President Wilson has demonstrated his eminent ability as a constructive statesman since he entered office and if the people can persuade him to accept another term, they will render a great service to the country. The record of President Wilson's term of office is replete with legislation that had been sorely needed by this country for the last 25 years. It would be most advisable to retain President Wilson to direct the administration of the reforms he has assisted in placing upon the statute books. It is true that he personally expressed himself in favor of a single term for president; but if the country insists upon retaining him for four years more, we believe his personal preference in the matter might be overcome.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The Industrial school will open on September 11 under the conditions that prevailed last year. There will be no additional room, which means that the work must be conducted under difficulties and that in consequence, the results will not be as satisfactory as they otherwise would be. The work has been properly systematized and better progress would undoubtedly be made but for the inconvenience of having the school scattered in four different buildings. The school board should insist upon having a proper building provided for this school as early as possible. We are much behind some other Massachusetts cities in this matter of industrial education merely because of the lack of a suitable building in which to conduct the different departments.

The condition of the water supply during the past week in some parts of the city has been worse than ever before. It is difficult to understand how rusty, muddy water gets into the pipes. In parts of Centralville, Belvidere and Pawtucketville, the water is absolutely unfit for use either for cooking or for laundry purposes.

SEEN AND HEARD

If a foul ball hit Bob Parada, would Cecil Dodge?

Hoosier says that pudding flavored with creoline is not the least bit palatable.

Every bit of food on this table, said the serving lady to Lamson as he sat down to eat at the church supper, "was cooked by your wife."

"Oh, I don't mind," rejoined Lamson faintly. "I'm not a bit hungry, anyway."

A CALL DOWN

At a social affair the other night the conversation turned to justifiable remonstrances when Congressman Frank H. Willis of Ohio, was reminded of the rebuke administered by a pretty girl named Marie.

One afternoon some time ago Marie called on her dearest chum girl and soon the two ladies were deep in the details of the gowns and things seen at a reception the evening before.

"And do you know, Alice," confidently interrupted Marie, when the subject reverted to the guests, "Harry had the nerve to kiss me on the forehead."

"You don't really mean it?" was the horrified rejoinder of Alice. "I suppose you called him down?"

"I certainly did," sweetly answered Marie. "About four inches," Philadelphia Telegraph.

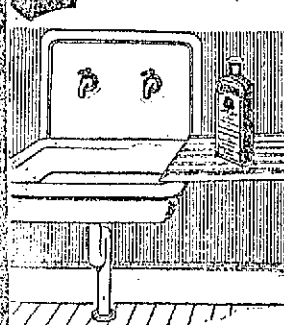

TWO GENTLEMEN

When Charles Phelps Cushing was news editor of Collier's Weekly, a convict out in New Mexico sent him a little story of Christmas thoughts in prison. Cushing thought he would be able to get his hands on a suitable photograph and would use the convict's little essay with it.

But the time went by and there was no opportunity to print the thing. So the editor sent the story back to the man in jail with a note telling how it had fared. He enclosed his personal check for $5 to recompense the man for having held his service until the Christmas season was over.

The convict sent the check back, saying: "You treated me so square that I can't treat you otherwise."

CARBONOL

A sanitary sink

The kitchen sink is the hardest place in the house to keep sanitary and free from bad odors. The use of a little Carbonol from time to time will do wonders.

Carbonol is a powerful disinfectant. It is always used in solution and a little of it goes a long way. Pour a little Carbonol in the sink and scrub it around with water to remove grease. Pour some Carbonol down the trap and if the trap is clogged with grease the Carbonol will dissolve the grease and clear it out.

TRAPPING ELEPHANTS

In view of the vast strength possessed by full grown elephants, it seems at first sight almost incredible that they can be captured in herds and quickly subdued to the will of their masters.

At the present time, in Mysore, the regular method of capturing wild elephants is for a large number of natives to go into the jungle, some mounted on tamed elephants and many on foot, and to make a great noise and hubbub, which results in driving the herds of the wild elephants into stockades, or often into ponds of water, which have previously been surrounded on all sides, except at the approaches, by immensely strong palisades. As soon as the herd is cornered the passages that had been left open are securely closed, and then the trained elephants are brought into play to catch and subdue the perplexed prisoners.

In India elephants are no longer captured, as they still are in Africa, by means of huge pitfalls in the ground. In these traps they are often seriously injured or killed. The Indian elephants are somewhat smaller than the African and differs from it in other ways—as, for instance, in the fact that tusks are possessed only by the males, while both sexes are provided with them in Africa. In general, also, the tusks of African elephants are nearly twice as large as those of their Indian relatives, a single pair sometimes weighing as much as 250 or 300 pounds—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

DIED FOR HIS IDOL

It is related that Napoleon was once badly defeated at Colobenz by the Cossacks. After the battle he was surrounded by enemies and would have lost his life had he not been saved by the presence of mind of one of his soldiers, Corporal Spohn.

Realizing that Napoleon's only chance for life was in getting off the battlefield unrecognized, the corporal begged the emperor to change hats and horses with him. The change was made ere the smoke had cleared away, and Napoleon with his corporal's hat and mounted on a poor steed, rode away unnoticed, the Cossacks crowding around the corporal. Taking him prisoner, they led him in triumph to

Agent W. A. Mitchell of the Massachusetts mills is at present on an extended business trip.

Joe Quinn, the genial secretary of the Machinists' union is enjoying a vacation this week.

Business Agent Roscoe Hall of the Machinists' union has returned to Lynn after spending two enjoyable weeks in this city.

Quite a few young men employed in the Saco-Lowell shops will journey to Nashua Sunday where a sumptuous repast will be served in their honor.

Hugh Gilkes, "overseer" of the finishing room at the Lowell Bleachery was an interested visitor at the Rockingham fair yesterday afternoon.

Elmer Olson of the Lowell Bleachery, in charge of the finishing is attracting much attention in his new Hudson touring car.

Joseph Goddard of the Mass. mills, the recognized long distance man of Lowell will try his hand at the games to be held in Brockton, Labor day. He avers that he will bring home the bacon.

The regular weekly business session of the Millmen's union will be held tonight in Carpenters' hall in the Runkel building. Business of much importance will be transacted and all members are desired to attend.

That superstition still prevails, is accident at the Machinists' rooms, when a party of young men decided to go fishing yesterday because there was a full moon the night previous. Ames Turner, the champion fisherman of the local is spending the week at Crystal Lake.

If the employees of the local mills and industries had started a baseball league early in the season, some stars would have surely been developed. In the practice games between mill teams at Shedd park every day some real good playing is witnessed by large crowds.

Appleton Company
The Appleton Company will suspend operations next week, in order to give the employees their annual vacation. Business at this mill is unusually good and a full complement of help is steadily employed.Machinists' Union, 138
The regular meeting of the Machinists' union, 138, was held last night in Machinists' hall in Middle street. Pres. Arthur Phelps presided. Seven new members were admitted and several applications were received. Reports of committees were read and accepted. The outgoing committee reported favorably on the outing held a short time ago, and a vote of thanks was recorded the committee for its untiring work in making the time a success. The secretary reported the union to be in strong financial condition.

Painters Held Meeting

The members of the Painters' union held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runkel building last evening. Four applications for membership were received and laid over for one week. Considerable business of a routine nature was transacted, and Business Agent George Fifield gave a short talk on the history of the local in Lowell. The secretary submitted a report of progress.

German Mills Curtail

The Daily Consular and Trade Reports print the following report called to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce from the American charge d'affaires at Berlin. "For information American cotton producers, German textile production reduced six per cent. Immediate further reduction probable. Local orders during the past week at a standstill. A few foreign orders still. Import of raw material from Russia stopped. Only large sales made for military purposes. Much labor withdrawn from mills. No transportation facilities now available. Warehouses at ports overloaded with goods. Impossible to export."

Machinists' Union, Local 319 Met

The Machinists' union, local 319, composed of men employed at the Boston and Maine repair shops held its regular meeting in Odd Fellows hall in Middlesex street last evening. President Morris called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock, and introduced Mr. A. A. Farnsworth representative of the Trades Federated council, who gave a very instructive talk on unionism and what it has done for labor. A list of routine business was transacted and 10 new members were admitted and 3 applications for membership were received. The secretary reported the union to be progressing rapidly.

Wool Outing Cancelled

The executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have agreed to cancel this year's annual outing and banquet, and to this end have notified the trade as follows: "Owing to the terrible conditions now prevailing in Europe and which are liable to grow more serious in the near future, the executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have deemed it advisable to postpone until next year, the annual outing arranged for September 13, at which the members of the Philadelphia Wool and Textile association were to have been our guests."

The close relationship existing between the numerous members and factors engaged in the great struggle as well as the general sympathetic feeling has made this move a most fitting and proper one, for under the circumstances our local trade, as well as our Philadelphia guests could not feel fully justified in attending a day's festivities with the world's greatest conflict being enacted almost before their eyes.

THE NEW POPE

countless victims of the war were being cut down.

The war, he said, had armed faithful against faithful, priest against priest, while bishops of each country offered prayers for the success of the army of his own nation. But victory for one side means manslaughter to the other, the destruction of children equally dear to the heart of the pontiff.

The conclave of the Sacred college had been in session since the evening of Monday, August 31, and the final vote was not taken until yesterday morning. When the name of Cardinal Della Chiesa was cried out by the cardinal scrutineers as having received the prescribed two-thirds vote, there was much excitement among the members of the conclave.

Then followed the traditional formula, the cardinal being asked as to whether he accepted the position. Amid breathless silence he answered in the affirmative, but his reply, owing to profound emotion, was scarcely audible. Immediately all the cardinals removed the canopies from above their chairs, this being the tangible sign that the leadership of the church had passed from them to the newly elected pope.

Later, during the course of a reception of laymen, the pope spoke of America, which, he said, was especially dear to him. He expressed great admiration for the genius of its people, which was only comparable to their religious zeal, and he added: "I am glad that my first apostolic benediction abroad will be forwarded to America, where the American cardinals will later impart it to the people directly."

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "want" column.

to America, where the American cardinals will later impart it to the people directly."

The pontiff also expressed the hope that America, in favor of peace, together with the players raised to the Almighty throughout the world, would mean that peace will come.

In the history of papal conclaves the present conclave was unique, inasmuch as, theoretically, the election of any cardinal was possible, while in previous conclaves there were special designations.

On the election of Cardinal Della Chiesa, Monsignor Boggiano, secretary of the conclave, with the master of ceremonies, the dean of the cardinals, and other high church dignitaries, bowed before the chair where Cardinal Della Chiesa was seated.

He asked if the cardinal would accept the pontificate, and upon the affirmative reply all the canopies above the cardinals' thrones were lowered excepting that of Cardinal Della Chiesa.

In answer to the question of the dean of the cardinals, the new pope said he desired to take the name of Benedict XV.

Monsignor Boggiano, assisted by the other officials, recorded the act of election and the acceptance and the members of the conclave then entered the Sistine chapel with the pope. The pontiff was clothed in flowing white robe, red slippers and high stock with a broad red erasat. Cardinal Della Voile placed over his shoulders a red stole, embroidered with gold. The pope then mounted the throne to receive the homage of the cardinals.

The cardinals first kissed the feet and then the hands of the pontiff, who administered the accolade and pronounced the benediction. Cardinal

Della Voile placed upon the pontiff's finger the Fisherman's ring, which the pope returned to Monsignor Damico, to have engraved with his name.

The pontiff proceeded from the Sistine chapel to the Basilica of St. Peter's where he gave benediction. He returned to the Sistine chapel where the second act of homage by the cardinals was accorded him.

When the pope was asked to present himself before the people for the first benediction he turned to Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, and said:

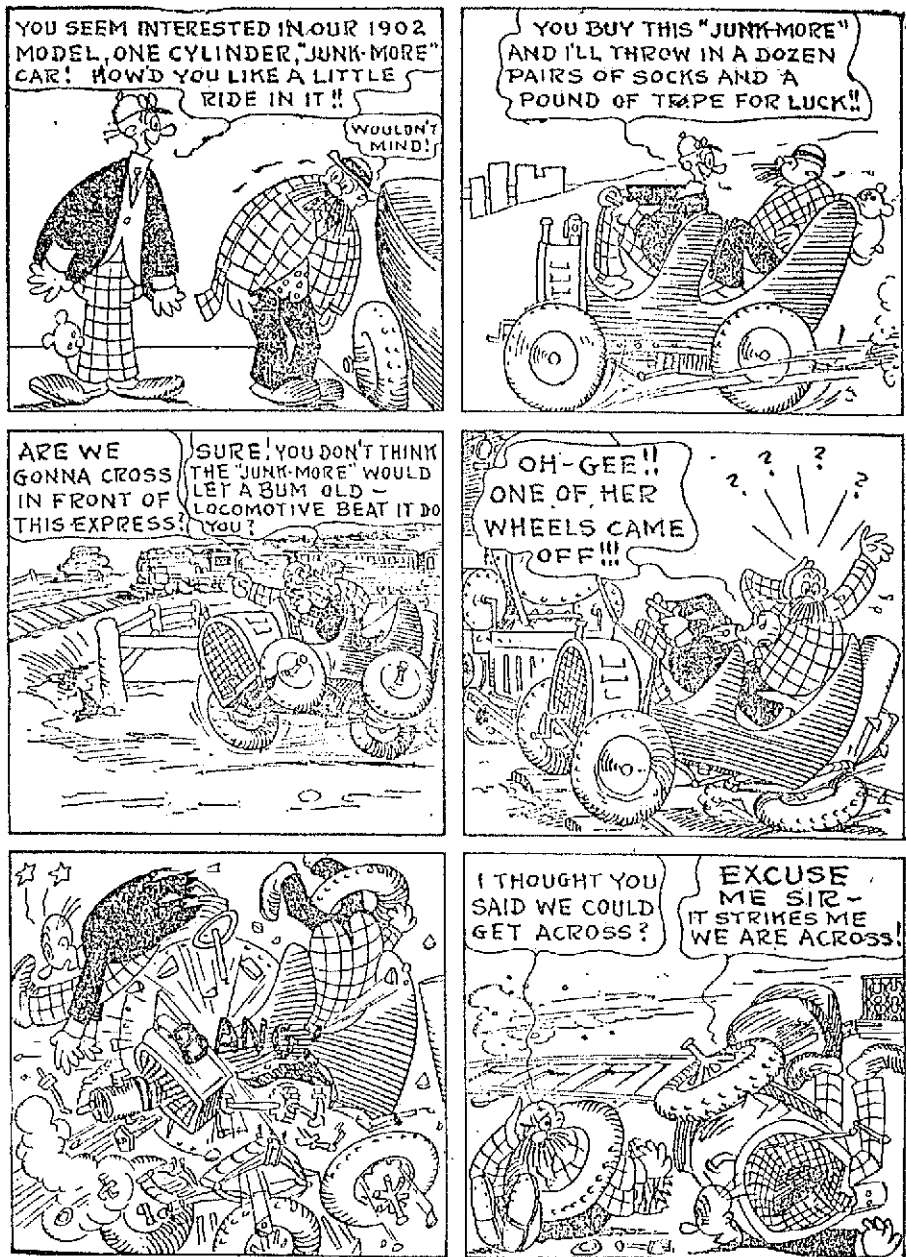

"I hope I shall have strength to overcome my emotion."

Crowds outside clamored to see the new pontiff, and several of the cardinals, including Cardinals Gibbons, Farley and O'Connell, tried to gain the assemblage, to obtain a glimpse of the pontiff.

The excitement reached a climax when the pope finally emerged. He was alone and a hush fell over the multitude. All knelt, and the pontiff stretched and, with three fingers outstretched, the apostolic blessing. A great cheer rang out as he turned to withdraw.

Even in the conclave the election of the new pope caused much excitement. The cardinals surrounded him and addressed to him their greetings and congratulations in Latin. All wished to be the first to kiss his hand. Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell, who only reached Rome shortly before noon yesterday, expressed their gratification at being the first cardinals not participating in the conclave to render homage. The pontiff embraced them tenderly and said he appreciated the efforts they had made to come to Rome for the conclave, at much personal discomfort.

ARRIVED ON THE ARABIC

NIECES OF MGR. CHURCH OF THIS CITY RETURN FROM TOUR OF IRELAND UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Among the passengers who arrived on the steamship Arabic from Europe yesterday were Sister Mary William, O. S. D., and Sister Constance, O. S. D., the former of St. Francis de Sales convent, Charlestown, Mass., and the latter of West Lynn. Both nuns are nieces of Monsignor William O'Brien, P. R., of this city and had been visiting the houses of the Dominican order in Ireland. They had intended to return to this country somewhat earlier but experienced the trouble of all tourists in securing passage.

53 KILLED IN RIOT

Aboard German Steamship—Passengers and Crew Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A riot aboard the German steamship Bluecher, at anchor in the harbor of Pernambuco, Brazil, in which three of the Bluecher's crew and 50 of her 500 stowage passengers were killed, was described yesterday by passengers aboard the Brazilian steamship Sao Paulo, upon her arrival here from Brazilian ports, whence she sailed at the commencement of the European war.

The Bluecher was bound from Buenos Aires for Hamburg, under the German flag, when Germany and England went to war. Upon learning that war had been declared, the Bluecher put back to Pernambuco. She had aboard, the Sao Paulo's passengers asserted, several million dollars for London and 800 Spaniards and Portuguese in the steerage.

Capt. Cyro della Amico, the Sao Paulo's commander, says the trouble began with an anti-German demonstration by Spanish and Portuguese against the Bluecher's crew. This was resented, and the ship's butcher, a German, attacked one of the leaders of the demonstration. The German was killed and the other German members of the crew seized arms and began firing. A fearful hand-to-hand fight ensued. The captain of the Bluecher summoned the Pernambuco police, who fired right and left.

Many of the rioters jumped overboard and were drowned. The police did not thoroughly quell the trouble until reinforced by cadets from the Brazilian training ship Benjamin Constant.

The cadets were still in charge of the Bluecher, Capt. Amico said, when the Sao Paulo sailed. There were nine German ships at anchor in Pernambuco.

PLAN TO AID JEWS

Still in Europe—Conference of Leaders of Zionists Movement to Be Held Late This Month

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Following the announcement yesterday that Louis D. Brandeis had accepted the offer of Hebrew Zionists to become the leader of the movement to protect Zionist activity throughout the world, which has been considerably disturbed by the European war, and to take steps to relieve distress of unprotected Jews of Europe, some of the most prominent Jews of Greater Boston arranged for a conference of representatives of all Jewish organizations of Massachusetts to launch a nation-wide campaign among all classes of Jews, to relieve the distress of the Hebrews affected by the war.

The conference will probably be held on Thursday, Sept. 24. The leading American Zionists are expected to attend. Among them will be Dr. Solomon Levin, a former member of the Russian Duma, who is a member of the Inner Action Zionist committee of Berlin.

STALLINGS HAS THEORY

Most managers believe more or less in working left-handed batsmen, especially outfielders, against right-handed pitchers as much as possible and as little as possible against southpaws, but with George Stallings this idea has become an obsession. The Stallings theory is: "Don't let a left hand hitting outfielder on the ball field when a left-handed pitcher is working." He has played his cards along these lines persistently while the Braves bobbed about in the cellar, and with the club catapulting out of last place to the first division, he has still played his hand with great results. From the zealousness with which Stallings urges his southpaw hitters to show in clearing off the field of action when left-handed pitchers begin to trudge toward the mound, many of the Brave players believe that their boss has developed superstition along his pet theory lines.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT
BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Miss Jennie L. Minard, a postal service substitute clerk, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Ruhl and Tighe on a complaint of Postoffice Inspector Hall, charging her with securing and embezzling a letter containing $1. The letter was addressed to Miss Maude Henry, Variety Theatre, San Francisco, Cal.

The defendant was arraigned before Commissioner Hayes, pleaded not guilty and was held under $500 for a hearing Sept. 8. Her father, Percy L. Minard, furnished bail.

Miss Minard is 22 years old, and has been employed by the government since Dec. 1, 1912, as substitute clerk in sub-stations on the Boston postal district. She has lately been employed at station 37. Miss Minard lives at 579 Columbia road, Dorchester, and is said to be the first woman in the employ of the postal service to be arrested for stealing from the mails.

SITTING BULL

Chief of a Politician, Not a Bold Fighting Man—Built Up a Powerful Machine

History has shed a false light around Sitting Bull, the Sioux Indian chieftain. It has made of him a warrior; a red Mars who led his naked savages with the dash of Murat and evaded disastrous battles with all the ingenuity of Fabius. But that is not the real Sitting Bull. It is a red and yellow and vivid impressionism; it should be a drab in monochrome. Sitting Bull was a politician.

Sitting Bull began his career as a fighter. It is recorded that while a boy of 10 he killed a bison. When only 14 he and five or six grown companions murdered three Crow Indians. For this heroic exploit the young Indian, then known as Jumping Badger, was named Sitting Bull, after his father. And henceforth he remained true to the change; from a jumper he became a sitter.

When about legal age, as the white man reckons it, Sitting Bull retired from warlike arts and began "making medicine." He entered politics. He was astute enough to see that the medicine men had all the power in his tribe, while the warriors took all the risks, seeming well paid by a few brief days of glory. He was now, one might say, a warman in the Sioux "invisible government."

Sitting Bull soon rose to be the most powerful of the medicine men. He was a tall, stern-voiced man, the ideal Indian in physiognomy. The tribal patronage became his. He fasted, prayed and performed mysterious rites to increase his hold on the nation. Instead of a sewer contract, he gave his favorites the privilege of stealing horses. Supporters were brought into the line through superstition, this keeping all the money, and its equivalent, in the organization treasury.

But it must not be conceded that Sitting Bull was without ability. He represented the tribe in its dealings with the government and showed qualities approaching real statesmanship. He obtained a treaty that gave the Sioux Indians more liberty than any others in America.

He discarded the titles of chief and medicine man. He was "man," he said. The ceremonies preceding battles were conducted by him. He even made rude plans to govern the warriors in their fights. But he did not unshrink his tomahawk. Instead, he retired to the medicine house and there, while his followers were at war, he prayed and forecast victory. If victory came "his medicine" was the cause; if defeat, the warriors had listened to the bad spirits instead of the medicine. Nothing could be simpler than a system like that. And Sitting Bull worked it.

Soon Sitting Bull gathered around him a formidable array of lieutenants to perform his various tasks. There was Galt, a really magnificent warrior, a man who fought with all the bravery and coolness of the Norsemen; Running Antelope, an orator of silver-tongued persuasiveness; Crazy Horse, a satellite who made "small medicine" around the campfires; all about Sitting Bull's greatness, and Rain-in-the-Face, a fighter and implacable enemy of the white man. The organization became despotic in its power, but Sitting Bull, a far-sighted politician, was careful not to check in the reins too much, nor was he chary with such favors and privileges as Indians enjoy.

Until gold was discovered in the Black Hills Sitting Bull was on friendly terms with the whites. Under the treaty made in 1868 no white man could enter the Sioux territory without consent of the Indians. So they had plenty of hunting and fishing ground and no occasion to raid and slay any except members of other Indian tribes. But with the discovery of gold white men poured into the Sioux territory. They protested. The white miners asked the government to remove them. That was tried, but Sitting Bull refused to go.

"This is what we say to you," he replied to the spokesman of a commission. "We will kill any white man who is found in our country without having asked our permission—as it is said in the treaty you are trying to break."

The Indians made good their threat. Small parties of whites disappeared. Two army officers were killed. A small detachment of soldiers was attacked. Sitting Bull, meanwhile, had retired to the hills and was making medicine that would wipe the whites from the earth. Galt and Rain-in-the-Face were the generals in the field. This intermittent and sporadic warfare went on until 1876, when the government decided to campaign against Sitting Bull and his followers. Three columns of soldiers marched. Bull, Lone Bull, Rain-in-the-Face and Crazy Horse, the four chief warriors, met the three columns one at a time and defeated them. The last battle was with Custer's command, which resulted in the massacre of Little Big Horn. Gen. Crook and Gen. Terry escaped with heavy losses.

Sitting Bull now returned from his fasting and praying. He addressed his followers. Only Galt was inclined to dispute him. Sitting Bull replied haughtily that medicine was more important than shooting in fighting the whites and cited as proof the fact that never before had the Indians been so successful. Rain-in-the-Face, speaking of the battle after the battle, said: "Sitting Bull went away to make more medicine and didn't come back till the fight was over."

Sitting Bull, his power now immeasurably increased, became more haughty and despotic. He addressed insulting notes to the commanding officers of the various forts. He caused Indians who were lukewarm in their support to be tortured, driven out of camp and even killed. But he was afraid of Galt, who once or twice openly denounced him.

In a short time Gen. Miles met Sitting Bull's followers and defeated them. Two thousand surrendered. Sitting Bull, when the news was brought to the medicine house, where he was praying, went into a frenzy. His people had disregarded the medicine he declared. Had they fought longer success would have come.

Some Indians, especially the more prominent ones, remained with Sitting Bull. He fled to Canada with them and from that vantage point conducted a series of conferences with the United States authorities. He stood resolute in his demands that the sacred treaty should be respected. He often declared that he never would become an agency Indian. Galt, meanwhile, became more and more discontented.

Finally Galt determined to break away. He assembled about 20 followers of insurgents and planned to steal away from Sitting Bull's camp and surrender to the United States. The plan was discovered and Sitting Bull denounced Galt. That intrepid warrior fled and hid in a hole. He jumped on a platform in the village and called upon all to choose between him and Sitting Bull. Nearly two-thirds of the population went with Galt.

Sitting Bull's popularity now sank to its lowest ebb. Every day a few followers left him. He was in despair when he saw a chance to restate himself in power. A young Indian in Montana was acquiring considerable notoriety then by announcing that the second coming of the Messiah would mean freedom for the Indians. Sitting Bull decided to use this as a lever to regain his prestige. He became an agency Indian and then retired to the hills to fast and pray. In a few weeks, gaunt and haggard, he returned and announced a vision. Elaborate ceremonies were held and from 2000 to 3000 Indians moved their tepees near his lodge. His word became law again. The government decided to arrest him as a means of preventing trouble. He resisted a detail of Indian police and in the resultant melee Sitting Bull was killed by a revolver shot from the hand of one of his own tribesmen who had followed Galt and become a member of the Indian police force—Kansas City Star.

OLD CUBS HAVE DRIFTED

ONLY FRANK SCHULTE REMAINS OF THE FAMOUS CLUB WHICH WON PENNANTS

"Where are the Cubs of yesteryear?"

Gone—all gone! Of that famous Chicago club of 1906, probably the greatest baseball machine ever constructed, there is but one player remaining—Frank Schulte, the "home run king" of bygone days. The title of Chicago Nationals more often is applied of late than the handle of Cubs. And today, as you watch that team, you wonder, Eight years ago you wondered also—but in a much different way. Then it was you wondered how it came such a galaxy of scintillating players ever were gathered on one team. Now you can but ask yourself where they have gone.

Do you remember the lineup of that world's championship machine? Look it over again:

Slagle, centre field.
Tinker, shortstop.
Chance, first base.
Steinfeldt, third base.
Schulte, right field.
Brurs, second base.
Kling, catcher.
Brown, pitcher.
Reulbach, pitcher.
Hofman, utility.
Slagle, who led off that famous batting list, was rapidly lost to baseball-dom. He is out of it forever. Sheckard has dropped to the American association. Joe Tinker virtually started the Federal league and heads the Chicago Federal club.

Frank Chance's bright star is waning rapidly. There is talk of someone replacing him as the Yankee's manager. Steinfeldt recently died at his home in Kentucky.

Evors is doing his best for the Boston Braves—a pennery man as of old. Kling, the marvel, no longer adorns the diamond. He runs a billiard hall in Kansas City.

Old Ed Reulbach is with the Brooklyn Nationals—but is not at his best by any means.

Mordca Brown, the "three-fingered" twirler, is with the Feds.

Artie Hofman is frolicking about second base with the Brooklyn Feds under Bill Bradley. Of that illustrious, fear-inspiring machine, Schulte alone is left. Frank still is playing good ball, but it was not so very long ago that he was taken out to allow another to bat for him—a silent message that the end is drawing near for one of the brightest stars of the baseball firmament, the man who has made more home runs in the big leagues than any other, and who once was adjudged the most valuable player in the National league and at one time considered one of the best in the world.

WAR CAUSES SCARCITY

BIG INCREASE IN COST OF CRIMSON CLOVER AND HAIRY VETCH SEED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—Prices for imported crimson clover and hairy vetch seed have recently shown such a marked upward tendency that specialists of the department of agriculture fear that the cost of these seeds, of which Europe is the chief source, will interfere with the increasing use of these leguminous cover crops. In fact, it is feared that the prices of the seed of these legumes may go as high as to make it inadvisable to plant them this year.

Before the present European conditions arose, crimson clover seed was selling at from $4 to $5 per bushel. Up to August 15 there was a scarcity of this seed in the United States, owing to the fact that the receipts from Europe were smaller than usual. The prices then advanced to from $1.50 to $2.00 per bushel. Since that date importations have continued to arrive, until there is now more imported seed available for fall sowing than there was in this country a year ago at this time. This seed according to the department's information, was all imported at approximately the same price as that sold for $4 to $4.50 per bushel in the early part of the season. The present high price, therefore, is regarded by the department as unwarranted from the standpoint of the supply and the import price of the seed. Some dealers are continuing to sell at the former price, but these are exceptions.

If the present high price is maintained, the specialists are doubtful whether crimson clover can be profitably used as a green manure crop for seeding in corn or on vacant ground, or under other conditions where the catch is not reasonably certain. Under such conditions they point out that it will be better practice to sow rye this fall and use the difference in price in adding nitrogen to the soil in the form of nitrate of soda or some other highly nitrogenous fertilizer. The rye will afford a winter cover preventing washing and leaching, and can be plowed under in the spring to add humus to the soil.

When crimson clover is being used regularly as a winter cover crop in orchard culture, or where local experience indicates that a good catch and a good crop are practically certain, payment of a higher price for the seed will no doubt be justified.

A somewhat similar condition exists with reference to hairy vetch seed. There has been approximately six-sevenths as much seed imported since November 1, 1913, as in the year previous. This shortage, however, is partly counter-balanced by the increasing domestic production of hairy vetch seed. Wherever the price of hairy vetch seed is found to be exorbitant, the same change in farm practice is recommended as that suggested in the case of the crimson clover.

WAR REVENUE MESSAGE

Pres. Wilson Urges Legislation to Raise $100,000,000 to Meet Deficit Threatened by War

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—President Wilson personally addressed congress in joint session today urging legislation to raise $100,000,000 a year annual revenue through internal taxes to meet a treasury deficit threatened by the conflict in Europe.

The president told congress that he discharged a duty which he wished with all his heart he might have been spared but which he performed without hesitation or apology because of the danger in present circumstances to create a moment's doubt as to the strength and sufficiency of the treasury of the United States.

While the treasury, he said, could get along for a long period, he pointed out the peril of the government's withdrawing from the national banks approximately $75,000,000 of the treasury balance deposited there; advised against the government borrowing money or selling bonds which would make a "most untimely and unjustifiable demand upon the money market" and appealed to the intelligent and profoundly patriotic public to bear the burden of a special tax to meet the unforeseen emergency.

Congress listened attentively to the address. Immediately upon its conclusion the legislative machinery was set in motion to carry its recommendations into effect.

Chairman Underwood called a meeting of the ways and means committee to perfect an internal revenue measure tentatively drafted in preliminary conferences. A bill will be introduced as soon as possible.

SURRENDER OF PARIS CONSIDERED

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In a despatch from Rouen, France, a correspondent of the Chronicle says he has learned that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans in order to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire.

GERMANS FORCING WAY INTO PARIS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The correspondent of The Times at Dieppe under Thursday's date indicates that the Germans are less than 25 miles from Paris. He says:

"All day yesterday the head of the wedge which now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-En-Valois. The cannonading broke windows in Chantilly, which is only 17 miles north of Paris. The Germans are also near Soissons."

Another despatch to The Times from Beauvais, 40 miles northwest of Paris, says the Germans entered Clermont, 35 miles from Paris, at seven o'clock Wednesday morning. At the same time their cavalry was operating around Beauvais.

SAYS VICTORY AT LEMBERG IS BEGINNING OF END

LONDON, Sept. 4.—8.20 a. m.—The Times correspondent in Petrograd sends the following under date of Thursday:

"Information telegraphed by the headquarters staff today encourages the hope that the victory at Lemberg is the beginning of the end. The retreat of such an enormous force, reliably estimated at eight army corps, taken in conjunction with the rout of the army which was to serve as a screen to their retreat already spells disaster, complete and overwhelming. Information obtained by the war office shows that the garrison has already been preparing positions at Grudek, 20 miles to the westward and on the railway to Pzyemysl."

GREAT GERMAN ARMY BEFORE PARIS FORTS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The great German army that has been smashing its way through the lines of the allies to the north of Paris has at last won its way to the forts that guard the French capital.

Already the guns that have been rumbling behind the cavalry and infantry are being set up in favorable positions to batter through the steel and concrete of the Paris forts just as they battered the strongholds of Liège and Namur.

Such is the general opinion held here despite the fact that no confirmation of fighting at the forts has as yet been received.

SAY RUSSIANS OCCUPY CZERNOWITZ

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 4.—The Secolo's Barchewitz, Rumania, correspondent who is usually well informed, says the Russians have occupied Czernowitz, an eastern crownland of Austria-Hungary, without resistance, and are now marching southward from that city in the direction of Sniozawa in the same province and near the Rumanian border.

The statement adds: "The Germans have been checked at Verdun. The French are successful in Lorraine and the Vosges. The situation has not changed."

ZEPPELIN GREETED BY FUSILADE BY ANTWERP FORTS

ANTWERP, Sept. 4 (5 a. m., via Paris)—A Zeppelin airship appeared over the city at 3.55 o'clock this morning. It was greeted by a fusilade by the forts but it is not known what damage was inflicted.

CONFIDENCE PREVAILS IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—By Wireless via Sayville. Berlin is permanently decked with flags. Confidence prevails that nothing can slay the victorious advance of the western armies. Major Morahl, the military expert of the Tageblatt, expects that the armies of Duke Albrecht and the crown prince will soon reach Châlons and Verdun, which can be easily masked without delaying the advance.

RUSSIANS DEFEATED 200,000 AUSTRIANS AT LEMBERG—IMPORT-ANT VICTORY

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4 a. m.—The Post's Petrograd correspondent writes

last stage of the week's conflict around Lemberg by a determined attack on the Russians between Lublin and Kielce. About 120 miles north of Russian territory the attacks failed and the Russians assumed the offensive. The Austrian army, retreating southward, received terrible punishment from the pursuing Russians.

The next day the Russian army moved forward along the whole 200 mile front to about 40 miles southeast of Lemberg. All along the line the Russians attacked vigorously and when the second Austrian army which was posted east of Lemberg broke and fled the Russians captured in the immediate vicinity of Lemberg another score of guns. The forward movement continued without interruption, the Austrians having entrenched in a strong position west of Lemberg at Gorodok, 20 miles back.

Of the magnitude of the Russian victory before Lemberg there can be no question, the correspondent adds. The Austrian forces amounted to no less than 200,000 men with five hundred pieces of artillery. There were three complete army corps, the third, the 11th and 12th and parts of the fourth and seventh. An Austrian army corps on war footing it was explained is equal to three divisions of which the third is made up of reserves.

By this victory Russia has been put out of action a quarter of the total Austrian first line troops and captured nearly a quarter of the Austrian artillery besides commanding all roads leading from Galicia into Hungary. The Galicians warmly welcomed the Russian troops, according to the prisoners who also spoke of the terrible execution of the Russian artillery.

THE RUSSIAN OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION TELLS OF VICTORIES OVER AUSTRIANS

LONDON, Sept. 4, 1.15 a. m.—The Russian official communication issued here on Thursday and carried here by the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Petrograd, said:

"On Sept. 3 the Austrian troops tried to break through the Russian centre through Lublin and Kielce, but failed. They were forced to beat a hasty retreat, the Russians capturing one engine, eight machines and 1000 prisoners."

"On the following day hard fighting was resumed with renewed energy. Prisoners taken by us report that the second Austrian army, constituting the covering force to the east of Lemberg, is perfectly panic-stricken."

"In the neighborhood of Lemberg on Sept. 3, 20 more guns were captured by the Russians, making a total of 170. On this front the Russian advance continues uninterruptedly."

RUSSIA CLAIMS COMPLETE DISRUPTION OF AUSTRIAN ARMED FORCES IS NEAR

LONDON, Sept. 4, 4.07 a. m.—The Petrograd (St. Petersburg) correspondent of the Times in the report on the operations around Lemberg, says: "The forts of Lemberg have fallen and other Austrian armies have been engaged in northern Galicia near Lublin. We expect to see the complete disruption of the dual monarchy's armed forces."

"The operations extended over an enormous front of 200 miles and probably a million and a half men were engaged. The Austrian extreme right column was completely lost and the most terrible blow was dealt them by the gallant Russian army which, starting from Rovno, moved thence toward the southwest, speaking fanwise so as to involve the region north and south of Lemberg, menacing the rear of the Austrian army and threatening to cut its communications."

"To parry this movement the Austrians transferred several army corps from the west side of the Vistula and moving them behind Lublin hurried them to Russia."

"The result of this movement is chronicled in today's official bulletin of victory. The Austrians' desperate onslaught on Russia's army has been attended with a whole series of disasters, notably the destruction of the sixth army corps at Lashoff."

GERMAN SOCIALISTS GIVEN LAKE-WARD RECEPTION BY ITAL-AN BROTHERS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4.15 a. m.—A Rome despatch to the Times says that when a delegation of German socialists came to Rome to explain to the Italian socialists their attitude in the present war they were received in a lukewarm manner by their Italian brethren. The Italian socialists adopted a motion protesting against the delegation whose mission they consider an insidious intrigue.

HEAVY CASUALTY SUFFERED BY THE COLDSTREAM GUARDS, SAYS CORRESPONDENT

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In reference to the heavy casualty suffered by the Coldstream Guards, a correspondent of the Telegraph states it is largely due to the fact that a company of the guards found themselves surrounded by Germans at night. When the position was reversed through a German officer's challenge the guards turned the maxims on the Germans and mowed them down in great numbers. Before the Coldstream guards could retire, however, they suffered heavily both in officers and in men.

SECRET BERLIN MEETING

Discussed Plans for Improvement of German Trade Abroad Long Before War Broke Out

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In an official statement the foreign office has made public a despatch from Sir Edward Goschen, formerly British ambassador at Berlin to Sir Edward Grey, the secretary for foreign affairs, dated at Berlin on February 27 last. The despatch which is a report to the foreign office, tells of a secret meeting in Berlin a short time previously to discuss plans for the improvement of German trade abroad. Sir Edward Goschen says:

"A short time ago a meeting of which the secret was well kept was convened at the ministry of foreign affairs. The foreign secretary himself was present and the meeting was attended by members of the leading industrial concerns of this country such as the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg American S. S. companies, the Deutsche bank, the Allgemeine Electricitäts Gesellschaft, the Siemens and Halske and Schuckert works and the Krupp and Carzow works."

"This meeting formed a private company for the purpose of furthering German industrial prestige abroad which is a conveniently vague purpose. The company will be financed by private subscription. The government will first grant a sum which was suggested as the necessary revenue."

"The private subscriptions amounted to $25,000, but the delegates present at the first meeting were so enthusiastic that definite promises of annual subscriptions of $125,000 were made and the company promised to add $52,000 per annum."

"The company has entered into an agreement with the Agency Havas by which the latter will in the future only publish news concerning Germany if it is supplied through Wolf's telegraphic bureau. The latter will receive its German news exclusively from the new company."

"The company intends to make a similar arrangement with Reuters' telegraphic bureau for those foreign countries in which Reuters controls telegraphic communication. If Reuters declines the Deutsche Kabelgesellschaft, a smaller German news agency which is supplying telegrams from certain countries such as Mexico, working in agreement with Wolf's telegraphic bureau is to be financed by the new company, which is to run a service in competition with Reuters."

DISCONTENT AMONG AUSTRIANS
LONDON, Sept. 4, 4.10 a. m.—A despatch to the Router Telegram Co. from Rome says that from private news which came across the Austrian frontiers it appears that great discontent prevails among the Austrian troops of Slav nationality. Several cases of insubordination, it is said, have been suppressed by the shooting of those suspected of disloyalty, but a mutiny of some of the regiments is feared.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

Did some one say that Peploski was in the same class of ball players as Del Howard? It must have been meant for a joke. Louis Pieper knew what he was doing when he signed Pep for Howard. The Haverhill second baseman is a good ball player all right but he has a lame leg which makes speed impossible for him. He knows the game thoroughly also but a glance at Howard's work is enough to convince one of the latter's superiority.

Tom Enright, one of the greatest gridiron stars which Lowell ever turned out, has decided to enter Harvard this fall. All of the larger colleges have been after this youngster. Enright is probably the greatest prep school athlete in the country.

Although Weaver allowed a dozen safe blows yesterday he was never really in danger until the last inning when he seemed to lose control completely with two men down. The crowd felt greatly relieved when he finally forced Hieger to hit a weak fly which was easily caught.

Donovan, the new right fielder, connected with three hits, one of which was a triple, but he'll have to do more than that to convince us that he's a ball player. His style is of the most pronounced amateur. The way Donovan goes after a fly ball is enough to give his teammates heart disease. At that the youngster may eventually be rounded into a ball player. If he can connect for three hits on each occasion we'll excuse a lot.

Down into second place tumbled the Braves yesterday after their short stay at the top of the National league heap. New York's double win over the Supers and Phillies' defeat of the Boston team did the trick. However, they're only a half game behind now. There'll be plenty of fun in those two games at Fenway park Monday.

Mumford Gray is making big preparations for the permanent rubber at the park next Monday afternoon. With Lawrence as an opponent the local ball yard ought to be well patronized on the holiday. This year's champions are sure to draw a tremendous crowd down river in the morning game.

If the Red Sox were not so far behind in the American league race—ten and a half games—their supporters might have received a few extra heart beats yesterday when the Mackmen fell twice before the cashing men of Carrigan's men. Joe Wood, while not as effective as on many previous occasions, handled the Athletics path for roughly in the second contest which ended with a 6-3 victory for the Bostonians.

That Walter Mohr-Franklin Mack bout at the Atlas A. A. next Tuesday night ought to be well worth attending. It is rated as the feature bout of an all-star show. The Brooklyn boxer is one of the cleverest lightweights Spraw, the youngster who was seen in Boston in years.

There were 116 men entered in the event. Second honors went to Sergeant Claude H. Cyle, Marine Corps, with 225, and third place was won by Corporal Archie Pumpharson, Marine Corps, with the same total score.

CHAMPION RIFLEMAN

SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 1.—By winning the big division match yesterday with the high score of 325, Private C. C. Terry of the Marine Corps is the acknowledged champion rifleman of the eastern division, embracing 15 New England and North Atlantic states. The match, which consumed the entire day, was shot in seven stages—300, 500, 600, 800 and 1000 yards slow fire, and 200 and 300 rapid fire.

There were 116 men entered in the event. Second honors went to Sergeant Claude H. Cyle, Marine Corps, with 225, and third place was won by Corporal Archie Pumpharson, Marine Corps, with the same total score.

CUMNOCK PARTY

Home From Europe—Arrived in New York on Chartered Liner

A. G. Cumnock, treasurer of the Appleton Mfg. Co. and Misses Eva and Grace Cumnock arrived home yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Mich., were members of the Cumnock party. Mr. Blodgett is a son-in-law of Mr. Cumnock. Mrs. Blodgett will arrive in Lowell this evening. Mr. Blodgett is credited with being responsible for the chartering of the steamship which brought him and several others back to this country.

The Cumnock party arrived in New York on the Italian liner Principessa Mafalda, which sailed from Genoa during the latter part of August.

The chartering of the vessel was a very unusual transaction and the manner in which it was consummated is related as follows:

When Genoa began to fill with thousands of Americans, Consul General Jones obtained an option on several vessels which were lying in the port. He then cabled the State department for authority to pledge the credit of the United States to pay the charter price of the ships. One of these ships, privately financed, was able to get away, but no word came from Washington with reference to the others.

Crowds of Americans began to besiege the office of Dr. Jones, and pointed out what other governments were doing relative to the taking home of their citizens. But the fact remained that ship owners refused to allow their vessels to sail unless the United States government would guarantee the charter price. And that must be paid in full before sailing.

Among the ships in the harbor of Genoa was the Principessa Mafalda, for which the charter price was $300,000 francs to equal gold. There was a rumor that Italy might soon want the ship, and that if the Mafalda was to sail it must be at once.

It was at this juncture that Mr. Blodgett presented himself to the American consul general, urging him to retain his option on the Mafalda, and he agreed to guarantee the United States against all liability on the contract and to personally raise the amount of $24,000 francs, or $184,000, and to pay it before the ship sailed. Consul General Jones immediately executed the contract and accepted Mr. Blodgett's guarantee, and this is said to have been a contract and guarantee unique in maritime history, in which an individual pledged himself to secure a government against responsibility in the taking of its own citizens to its shores.

BOWLING ALLEYS

H. C. Kittredge Opens New Establishment to Tremendous Crowd

One of the most elaborate dedications of an amusement resort which this city has ever seen was held yesterday afternoon in the Tyler block at the corner of Central and Market streets when Kittredge's alleys were thrown open to the Lowell public. In spite of the hot weather, which rendered bowling a feat for the hardy, the new establishment was jammed to the doors until the lights were extinguished late in the evening.

The Lowell sporting public turned out in unprecedented numbers to look over the new bowling emporium of Harry C. Kittredge which has just been completed. The six alleys were far too small a number to accommodate those who wished to try the speed of the polished floors.

Paul Pochler and his wife, both of them bowlers with national reputations, were at the alleys both afternoon and evening and this feature was an added impetus to the interest in the new amusement plant.

Huge palms and other potted plants as well as the presence of Keith's orchestra gave all the outward appearance of a veritable garden party. The excellent lighting system and the coolness of the two stories occupied by Kittredge's alleys caused by the number of windows further rendered the scene unique for such an establishment.

Everything connected with the new amusement plant is complete. Not a single detail has been neglected by Mr. Kittredge in his attempt to provide Lowell with a modern bowling equipment. The latest innovations of the Brunswick people have been installed and it is safe to say that a more complete set of alleys cannot be found in any city.

The attendance of so many people at the opening of Kittredge's alleys yesterday shows conclusively that the Lowell public likes the bowling game provided that it can have the use of the best alleys to be had.

The exhibition given by Paul Pochler of Boston and Chester Martel of this city, in the evening was watched with great enthusiasm by the crowd. In fact even standing room was at a premium while the two well known rollers were knocking down the candle pins. In the afternoon Mrs. Pochler and Mr. Martel of this city gave an exhibition roll which was also productive of much interest. Both exhibitions were of ten strings.

The new alleys will be of particular worth to business men in the down town district. Situated within a stone's throw of Merrimack Square Kittredge's new amusement establishment can be easily reached without loss of time. If yesterday's opening is any criterion the new alleys will prove a very popular institution this winter.

After the business session, which was played and refreshments served and a jolly good time was had, Brother Tristram of Dorchester was a guest at the meeting and renewed many old acquaintances.

Plans are under way for the starting of a bowling league, and it is proposed to have five teams enter the league. The bowling league was decided successful last year but it is the opinion of the members that this year's tournament will be even better.

DAY BY DAY—Therefore the Earth is Round—Like a Ball

BY CLARE VICTOR DWIGGINS

BIRDSEYE VIEW OF PARIS LOOKING TOWARD THE NORTH, WHERE MANY HISTORIC TOWNS FEAR GERMAN INVASION

It appears to be the fate of the towns north of Paris once more to hear the tramp of the German hosts and to add a few more drops to their already overflowing cup of historical associations. The eighty-five mile belt of forts around the capital, erected since 1870 at an expense aggregating $800,000,000, also seems likely to have a chance to show the world whether the city is impregnable or not. Between Paris and the La Fere-Rheims line are a number of cities and towns which now can offer no appreciable resistance, since such old fortifications as existed forty years ago have been abandoned. But during the war of 1870-1 several important engagements were fought in this territory. There is Amiens, for example, which the Germans occupied on Nov. 28, 1870, after an important engagement with a French force. Further to the east and south lies Soissons, which capitulated in 1870 after three days' bombardment. Compiegne, fifty miles north of Paris on the river Oise, was the headquarters of the German army during the operations of the Franco-German struggle, while Meaux was subjected to a heavy requisition in the same conflict. To American tourists probably the best known of the northern French towns is Chantilly, favorite resort of the Parisians, where thousands gather to witness the races of the Jockey club. Chantilly lace was formerly much sought on the American market, but of recent years this industry has declined greatly. Of Compiegne, which lies to the northeast, one can recall no event more famous than the capture of Joan of Arc by the English in 1430. It was the occasional residence of French kings up to 1870, and Louis XV. and Louis XVI. built a handsome palace there. There are a number of medieval buildings, and a few industries thrive among the 15,000 people. The forest of Compiegne, which adjoins the town, covers a space of 136,000 acres, heavily wooded with beech and oak. Other famous old towns in the interval between the battle lines and Paris are Montdidier, of Marovingian renown; the antiquated town of Senlis, an old Roman stronghold; Meaux, the chief producer of flour used in Paris; Clamont, which suffered siege in the Hundred Years' war; Chateau d'Hierry and Bazancourt.

BEING A GOOD FELLOW

DOES NOT PAY ON POLICEMAN'S BEAT—MUST SHOW FORCE TO KEEP THE PEACE

"It doesn't always pay to be what they call a 'good fellow,'" said the policeman as he walked along the street covering his beat. "You reporters have perhaps noticed that little fact yourselves."

"Yes," said the reporter, who accompanied him. "That, and enough to say, is so. We are oftentimes imposed upon or people attempt to impose upon us if we'll let them."

"Well, what prompted me to say that?" continued the policeman. "Is something a friend of mine just now told me. I used to watch you know, over on Such and Such a beat (narrating). When I went on that other beat I said to myself: 'Well now, I'm going to try to be a good fellow along here and see what happens.' That was a good many years ago, and I've learned a whole lot since, but the experience was worth while."

"I kept it up for a week. As I would come along to the corners where the gangs held out at night, I'd say: 'Well, fellows, I'm very sorry, but I guess you'll have to move.'"

"Or else I'd say: 'Say, fellows, I hate to have to move you away from here, but the neighbors are kicking and I can't help it.'"

"They would shuffle over to the other side of the street, as if to go off, and then by the time I got a hundred yards down the street I would observe that they had gone right back to the old stand. Well, that sort of thing went on for pretty near a month and a half, when one night, at half-past eight at the station, the captain told me that repeated complaints had been coming in regarding the gang of bums hanging around my corners, and asked me what was the matter."

"Well, I told him, 'they are all pretty good fellows, and I have told them to move more than a thousand times, but they come right back.'"

"I never saw a man look more disgusted in my life, and now, as I look back, I can realize just now how he must have despised me."

"Do with them!" he fairly shouted at me. "What do you suppose you're watching that route for? To evade the place? Tell 'em to beat it out of there tonight, and if they don't go then out or send a half dozen of them in here. They're the worst crowd of bums in town, and everyone in the neighborhood objects to them. They are standing on the corner over there, insulting girls and women, spitting all over the place, and—well, it's not to stop right now."

"I went on to the beat that night thoroughly determined to do just what headquarters wanted. There the gang was, as usual. I went up to them and had it in my mind to be rough with them, but at the last minute my heart failed me—not with fear, but simply because I was too good-hearted. Instead of bawling out at them as I had intended doing, I said: 'Well, boys, orders is orders, and they have instructed me to clean you fellows out of here for keeps, so if you don't want to have any trouble, why move off the corner. Don't let me find you here when I come back, and I guess you'll have to move.'"

"Well, fellows, I hate to have to move you away from here, but the neighbors are kicking and I can't help it."

"They would shuffle over to the other side of the street, as if to go off, and then by the time I got a hundred yards down the street I would observe that they had gone right back to the old stand. Well, that sort of thing went on for pretty near a month and a half, when one night, at half-past eight at the station, the captain told me that repeated complaints had been one of them they would mutter something under their breath about 'There goes that so and so' and calling me some dirty name or other. At the next box I met one of the sergeants."

"How are you coming on with the crowd at the corner?" he asked.

"I told him of what I had done, and he thought a minute. Then he turned and gave me a fine lesson on practical police work as I have ever heard in my life, and it has been a long one. Placing his shoulders against the door of the patrol box, he said: 'Now, (blank) (naming the officer), you're a young man and new on the force, and you still have time to learn. There's a right way to do things on the police force, as well as in other kinds of business. Now the way you've been doing hasn't been the right way. It is too chicken-hearted. That's all right for settlement workers and others interested in elevating mankind, but for the police there must be hard-hearted methods when necessary. When necessary, you mind!'

"Now, then, you've given these fellows a chance—too much of a good chance. They have bitten your hand when you've tried to do them clean. Now you want to show your hand. You represent the law on this beat, and the law must never fail. It requires that those rowdies be cleaned out, and they must be. You come up with me and I'll show you how I was taught to do it."

"Up we went! The old gang was standing around the corner, and at the appearance of the brace of cops one or two of them left, but the most of them stuck around. As we came up abreast of them the sergeant said: 'Come on, you crowd of bums, get out of here! Come on, clean out!' and he started two or three of them toward the road in lively fashion. 'Taking the cue, I crowded a group of them off the street in vigorous style, and in a few seconds had the satisfaction of seeing the corner cleared."

"That's the way to do it!" said the sergeant, turning to me.

"Yes," said I, "and I can keep that up."

"No," he replied. "That won't do. I'll try and have you transferred to another beat, where you can start right. If you stay here they'll keep you going all night. But when you get on your new beat keep this in your mind—it doesn't pay always to be a good fellow."

"Were you transferred, as he said you would be?"

"Yes," replied the policeman continuing his tale, "and I did as he had told me. The second night I was watching the new route, the second route I had watched in my experience as a patrolman. I found a crowd, and dispersed them without trouble. But I didn't use any 'parlor' methods on them. I just walked up to them and said: 'Come on! Move on, here!'

"And they moved. And, surprising to say, they keep moving yet. That's why I say that it doesn't always pay to be a good fellow, because they will impose on you every time. If you come along and be strict they will have no chance. At first it used to come hard with me, this laying down the law to boys and young men, because I've got three youngsters myself and I know that boys will be boys. You'd be surprised to see how different I am at home. When I go out on my beat nowadays, after those years of work in a uniform, I seem to put on a new manner or something, so that I hardly know myself."

"I try to be a good fellow as far as I can without putting my position in a trap. But never have I forgotten what that sergeant told me about being chicken-hearted, and what he said to me that night so long ago on that first beat I ever trapped."

"It doesn't pay always to be a good fellow!"—Manchester Mirror and American.

GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN

SAILORS HELD—ALLOWED TO DESERT WITHOUT REFERENCE TO IMMIGRATION LAWS

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Seven members of crews of two British steamships engaged in transatlantic passenger service to the port of Boston, were taken in custody by United States authorities yesterday to be held as witnesses against the captains of the vessels, against whom the federal government has brought charges of violation of the immigration laws.

One of the seven was a cook, another a steward. The other five were seamen. They arrived here on Aug. 3 and Aug. 17, after Great Britain had declared war on Germany, and were not anxious to return on their ships for fear they would be taken prisoners of war.

According to Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Daniel A. Shea, who represents the government in the case, they informed their captains they were anxious to leave their ships and were told they would be marked as deserters if they did. They were willing to do this, and the captain, the government alleges, was refused or refused purposes. Apply to D. J. Harrington, Building Manager, 201 Sun Building.

Unlooked for Result in Recent Hearing—Surprise Sprung by Com. Brown Who Voted Originally to Dismiss Charges

Commissioner George H. Brown sprang a big surprise at a special meeting of the municipal council this morning, when he moved to discharge Supt. Newell F. Putnam of streets and highways, his motion being sustained by Mayor Murphy and Commissioner Morse. What caused the surprise was the fact that at the beginning of the Putnam hearing Commissioner Brown presented a motion asking that the charges against Supt. Putnam be dismissed. At the conclusion of the hearing Commissioner Brown was asked by the newspapermen how he accounted for his action and his reply was: "I will give an entire explanation to the people at the proper time. A man in public service must be careful."

LOWELL AND MANCHESTER AT SPALDING PARK TODAY

Fred Lako and his Manchester Hopes, who while they are not shining much this year, according to their grandpa are going to be some team next season, descended upon Spalding park this afternoon for a battle with the Grays, lately strengthened by a raw recruit in the person of "Pooch" Donovan, not the famous short distance athlete but a much younger person possessed it would appear from his debut, with a wallop.

Considerable interest was taken in Capt. Swannett of the Manchester team as a result of the rumor that Tom Fleming, the old Lowell manager, who is scouting for the Federal league, was looking after Swannett. The captain with the hot name doesn't know anything about the report.

The lineup was as follows:

Lowell	Manchester
Swannett, c	2b, Swannett
McCluskey, 2b	cf, Kane
Fahey, 3b	rf, Reed
Stimpson, if	1b, Ostregren
Dea, ss	ss, Torrey
Kelly, 1b	3b, Spire's
Donovan, rf	c, Kilhullen
Wacob, c	p, King
Rink, p	if, Scanlon

At the outset Umpire Doherty announced a double-header here tomorrow, first game at 2 o'clock. The crowd was not large.

First Inning

Kelly took Swannett's high foul fly. Fahey came inside and took Kane's slow roller, throwing the Manchester center field out at first by a fraction of a stride. Stimpson was waiting for Reed's high fly in left and Lowell went to bat. No runs, no hits, no errors. For Lowell, King was wild and passed Swannett on four pitched balls. McCluskey hit sharply to Swannett and Swannett was forced at second. Mac's speed preventing a double-play. McCluskey stole second on the first ball pitched. Fahey singled between Spire's and Torrey. McCluskey going to third. Fahey went to second while Ostregren doubled. Stimpson's grounder made the put-out himself. Dea was held at third. Dea doubled along the first base foul line scoring both Mac and Fahey. Kelly kept up the good work with a single to left and Dea scored. Kelly making account on the throw in. After waiting for three balls Donovan, the boy with the wallop hit to center for two bases and Kelly scored. Wacob hit a grounder at second base and Swannett threw him out. For runs, four hits, 0 errors. Score: Lowell, 4; Manchester, 0. (See next edition)

NORTH POMONA

Grange Opened Its Fall Session Here This Afternoon

The 1914 fall session of the Middlesex North Pomona grange was auspiciously opened this morning at 11 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall in Bridge street. Grange Master A. G. Sutherland was the presiding officer. After the regular routine business had been transacted, the meeting was taken over by Mrs. Nettie O. Wilson, the grange lecturer. The morning subject, "What effect will the European war have on business in the United States?" was opened for discussion by Lewis Macbrayne, and the following ones, prominent in agricultural life, spoke on the subject: George Trull of Tewksbury, E. F. Dickerson of Billerica, L. W. Wheeler of Westford, and Mrs. Margaret Wright of Billerica. After quite a lengthy debate in which every point pro and con had been carefully weighed it was decided that the war will have a very beneficial effect on business in the United States. The speakers were loudly applauded at the close of their remarks. At the close of the arguments all repaired to the lower hall, where a hearty repast, prepared by the ladies of the Westford grange, was awaiting them. After dinner the time was spent enjoyably in whist and games until 2:15, when the afternoon program was opened by Lecturer Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. Charles W. Kimball of Littleton was the first speaker called upon and he took for his subject, "Is there a brighter outlook in store for the farmer?" His talk was in part as follows: "There are certain indications that unmistakably show that the farmer has good grounds for believing that in spite of disastrous seasons and disappointed hopes, a brighter day is dawning for those who seek their livelihood through the pursuit of agriculture. And one of the first of these is the fact that people in general, and business men in particular, are beginning to see the important part that the farmer plays in our great industrial system of today."

"At the recent convention of the bankers of this country held in the city of Boston, one of the most important topics discussed was that of agriculture and it was ably handled by Mr. James J. Hill, the maker of the great northwest, and the late president of the Northern Pacific railroad."

Cheer up! Free rides on the electric labor day or any other day. Tomorrow, Saturday, the Merrimack Clothing Co., opposite City Hall, will give every customer a free ride ticket on the electric. Merrimack Clothing Co., by Humphrey O'Sullivan.

German Right Furiously Forcing Way to Paris, Battering Rear of Retreating French—Canonading Broke Windows in Chantilly, 17 Miles North of Paris—Unconfirmed Report That the French Authorities are Considering the Surrender of Paris—Complete Defeat of Austrians Near Say Russians—Germans Rush to Galicia

The German right is described in news despatches today as at the rear of the retreating French who are falling back through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-en-Valois.

This would place the advance of the German host as within perhaps 20 miles of the limits of Paris, their objective point.

Official information regarding the respective positions of the Germans and the allies, is, however, lacking.

Mail advices reaching New York from London today, bring a report originating in Liverpool that British transports have landed 80,000 Russian troops in France. This matter was not permitted to pass the cable censors.

Press reports of the operations in the east add little to what has been made known from official sources. In general they refer to fighting early in the week and only confirm Russian claims of Austrian disaster in Galicia and German successes in East Prussia. The Russians have occupied Lemberg, the capital, and stronghold of Austrian-Galicia.

Australia has arranged to send more infantry and light horse in support of the allies.

Premier Asquith opened the crusade to stimulate recruiting at a meeting in Guildhall, London. He called upon every able-bodied Briton of military age to rally to the colors.

The German ambassador to the United States, Count Von Bernstorff, announced that he had positive information that two British cruisers off New York harbor were receiving supplies from a vessel flying the American flag.

They witnessed the races and shows from the governor's box in the grandstand and were later entertained at dinner in the clubhouse.

Yesterday's feature was a parade of the prize-winning cattle on the track. The high-bidding was the most sensational of the week, two horses and a half-brother even the women taking part. The balloon went up earlier than usual and the balloon with parachute jump took place at 3 p. m.

March Wins Popular

The horse racing yesterday afternoon brought delight to thousands of New Hampshire folk when the veteran rebrainer, T. D. Marsh of Dover, won the feature event with Prince Cochato, a trotter of his own breeding.

The Stratford county ally scored this popular victory in the race for 3-year-olds, and miles faster than 2:15 that it took quite a likely youngster to get the money.

Prince Cochato lost the first heat in the Massachusetts-trot, but found himself in 2:15 1-2, but had little difficulty in coming back in the same time.

The Safety Razor Shop

HOWARD The Druggist, 197 Central St.

Terrifics raised in the famous blue grass country, was close enough to her to make two pretty finishes.

The class for aged trotters was won in straight heats, as expected. The fight for second money in this race was between members of the Ringier stable, and was won by Sue C. daughter of Sir Todd, 2:10 1-2. This was a sort of a barren family race right through, for all six starters carry a cross to the great son of May King and Young Miss.

The pacing race went to Othello, a winner on Wednesday. Ethel Direct also repeated her performance of the day before by winning a heat, thereby getting second money.

The match between the Boston speedway trotters, Major Wellington and Demarest, was won by the first named in rather slow time. "Happy Jack" Trace drove the Major, and he was given an ovation by the crowd that made the race well worth while.

The colt race furnished three close finishes. Bonnie Setzer, Chester LaSelle's hard-luck son of Henry Setzer, 2:10 1-2, hardly recovered from his fall at Monroe, N. H., had another accident yesterday morning which nearly closed an eye. He surprised his owner, who was undecided about starting him up to the last call, by taking the first heat.

He was unsteady after that, and in the Leonard brothers' daughter of Triggville, 2:09 1-4, fell the task of forcing Prince Cochato to a couple of creditable miles. Mary Metal, by Gun Metal, owned by Hugh Morrison of Boston, and Miss Elmarch, from Fetherland farm, both trotted better than 2:20.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

MARGARET DRUIEN EARNED BIG HALF OF EMPIRE STATE $10,000 STAKE AT SYRACUSE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Margaret Druien earned the big half of the Empire State $10,000 stake for 2:14 trotters at the grand circuit meeting of the New York state fair yesterday afternoon when she won the third and final heat. The first two heats were raced on Wednesday.

Laselle McGregor, winner of large stakes along the line, was hardly in the running.

A second reversal occurred when King Cochman was defeated in the Syracuse $2000 stake for 2:11 pacers. Napoleon Direct, driven by Owers, took the three final heats yesterday after having lost two on Wednesday. King Cochman was far in the rear yesterday.

OVER-WATER FLIGHT

Victor Vernon Flies 150 Miles in Hydro-aeroplane—Flight Made at 2,000 Feet—Took Two Hours

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 4.—Victor Vernon made an over-water flight of 150 miles in a hydro-aeroplane yesterday from Kennebunkport to Bar Harbor. Three stops were made, the first at Port Clyde for a supply of gasoline, a second at Rockland, and the third at Northeast Harbor, which the aviator mistook for Bar Harbor. The flight, which was made at a height of about 2000 feet, consumed two hours, 32 minutes of actual flying time.

JAPAN'S COTTON INDUSTRY

With the exception of India, China is the greatest importer of cotton goods in the world, and Manchuria has long been one of the best markets for American cotton goods. In recent years, however, Japanese competition has seriously curtailed American sales in that field. The chief factors in the development of the cotton industry in Japan and that country's success in the Chinese market are summarized in Foreign and Domestic Commerce, a bulletin just issued by the Bureau of Department of Commerce, as follows: In the manufacturing of the Japanese cotton industry the mills have been greatly hampered by lack of money and experience, as well as by the lack of skilled operatives and the difficulty under their system of transient girl operatives, of creating and maintaining a trained force. The first cost of the mills is so great that, with high interest charges and high taxes, which have been greatly increased since the Russian war, the manufacturers have resisted all attempts by the authorities to enact regulations that would interfere with night work.

The mills have been greatly favored by a supply of extremely cheap labor and by freedom from laws prohibiting long working hours. They have also been enabled to keep down the cost of raw material by varying the mixtures and thus setting off one cotton against another in a way that is not permissible in countries making the higher classes of goods that require a single grade of cotton.

Most of the various and cloths produced by Japanese mills are made from a mixture of Indian, American and Chinese cotton, and the low cost of raw material thus obtained seems to aid the manufacturers in their struggle for the Chinese market as much as does their cheaper labor, especially as the labor is very inefficient. Japan ships cotton yarn and cotton goods to many countries, but its one large market is China, where it finds competition on yarn from India and cloth from the United States. The publications of the Japan Cotton Spinners' association, as well as remarks by various exporters, indicate that they fear the future competition of Chinese mills more than they do the American Indian. The Chinese cotton industry is small but developing, and if the tariff is raised, as now proposed, the Chinese may quickly become a strong factor in the situation. The bulletin from which the foregoing taken is a detailed study of the Japanese cotton industry by W. A. Graham Clark, commercial agent of the Department of Commerce. The report reviews the history of the industry and trade from the establishment of the first spinning mill to the present time and analyzes the kinds of goods the Japanese are offering and shows to what extent they are cheapened by the use of inferior cottons, inferior construction, weighting materials, etc. Special attention is given to the methods employed by the Japanese to find a foreign market for their goods and to wages, cost of production, factory legislation, and the capitalization and profits of mills. A separate chapter is devoted to the Manchurian market and the nature of the Japanese competition in that section of China. Copies of the bulletin, "Cotton goods in Japan and their competition on the Manchurian market," special agents series No. 86, may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Government printing office, Washington, D. C., for 30 cents each.

Game With Weaver

New Right Fielder Connected for Three Hits
Swayne Featured

The fact that yesterday's game was not a regularly scheduled affair, but transferred at the 11th hour, together with the fact that the Rockingham fair was a strong counter-attraction had the effect of keeping the attendance way down and those who arrived late had no difficulty in securing good seats.

The interest taken in the game was evidenced by the following overheard in the pressbox:

"Who's going to pitch today?"
"I dunno, it's Tyler's turn, isn't it?"
"I mean in this game."

"Oh, I dunno; I thought you meant the Braves."

According to the man who sells the peanuts, cakes and candies at the ground somebody came early to avoid the rush, gaining an entrance during the night and getting away with cigars and candy. Still, the thieves left enough to go around among the crowd that put in an appearance.

The only new thing on the field was a new right fielder from Boston playing for Lowell. His home is in Boston and he doesn't come from the Red Sox or Braves.

First Inning
Campbell started off for Haverhill with a single through the box into center field. After Fahey had taken Rieger's foul fly Campbell stole second. Greenhalge making a very poor throw from the mound, Campbell was able to get to third while Duggan was being thrown out. Dee to Kelly. Smith contributed an infield hit that scored Campbell. Peplowski was thrown out on a grounder to Dee. One run, two hits, no errors. Swayne did at first on a grounder to Campbell. McCleskey drove a pass and walked. He was forced out at second when Fahey grounded to Yelle, but the Lowell third sacker continued on to second as Peplowski threw low to Smith, the ball rolling to the bleachers. Stimpson singled to short left and Fahey was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to score from second. No runs, one hit, one error.

Second Inning
Although Haverhill connected for a double and a single in the second no runs were forthcoming. Yelle, the first man up batted the ball to left center for two bases. He was caught sleeping a moment later on Weaver's peg to Dee and put between second and third. Conley fled to Donovan. Gaston then singled to left but Fullerton closed the inning with a fly to McCleskey. No runs, two hits, no errors. Lowell evened up the score in the second half of the inning. Dee began the good work by drawing a pass. Kelly was called out on strikes and Donovan, the new right fielder, contributed a surprise when he singled to left. Greenhalge then singled to center, scoring Dee. The ball went past Rieger, and Donovan also crossed the plate but he was called out for not touching third. Weaver was the third out on a hard grounder to Peplowski. One run, two hits and one error.

Third Inning
Dee made a wonderful stop to Campbell's hot grounder back of second and got the runner at first. Rieger walked the ball over Stimpson's head for three bases. Greenhalge took Duggan's foul fly. Smith scored Rieger with a single to left. Smith went out trying to steal second. One run, two hits and one error. In Lowell's half, Swayne led off with a single to left center, and then stole second. McCleskey singled to right field, scoring Swayne. Mac was forced at second on Fahey's grounder to Fullerton. Stimpson grounded to Peplowski and the latter chased Fahey.

Fourth Inning
Campbell started off for Haverhill with a single through the box into center field. After Fahey had taken Rieger's foul fly Campbell stole second. out of the base line and ran down to first for a double play. One run, two hits. No error.

Score: Lowell, 5; Haverhill, 2.

Fourth Inning
Peplowski beat out a grounder which Kelly fielded. He attempted to put-ain second and was nailed. Kelly captured Yelle's foul-fly after a tough chase. Conley batted the ball to deep left center but was caught out when he tried to make it a triple. Stimpson, Dee to Fahey. No runs, two hits, no errors. Dee lifted a fly to Conley in deep left and Kelly sent up an easy fly in short right to Duggan. Donovan then showed them what the Boston and lot artists can do for he lifted the sphere over Rieger's head for a triple. Greenhalge scored him with a single to left. Greenhalge stole second and then was foolish enough to think he could make third on a steal. He was caught by a rod off the bag. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Gaston fled to Swayne in deep center. Fahey dropped Fullerton's fly; it was too easy and hence the drop. Campbell singled to right, sending Fullerton to second. Rieger forced Campbell at second with a grounder to McCleskey while Fullerton went to third. Rieger in turn was forced at second on Duggan's grounder to Dee. No runs, one hit, one error. In Lowell's half, Weaver beat out an infield hit that Campbell did well to stop. Weaver went around to third when Fullerton made a bad peg to Smith in an attempt to catch the Lowell pitcher napping at first. Swayne singled to right and Weaver crossed the plate for another run. Swayne was forced at second on McCleskey's grounder to Peplowski. Fahey fled to Conley. Stimpson beat out an infield hit to Yelle and Mac went to second. Dee walked and the bases were all tenanted. Gaston went into the diamond and took Kelly's fly. One run, three hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Smith singled to left and tried to make two bases on it and was thrown out. Stimpson to Dee. Peplowski dropped a single into short right field. Peplowski was thrown out trying to steal second. Swayne took Yelle's line drive to center. No runs, two hits, no errors. In Lowell's half, Donovan, the new gink, made his third hit. A single to left and the fans roared with delight. Greenhalge sent him to second with a sacrifice. Weaver beat out a grounder to Campbell while Donovan was going to third. Donovan was caught at the plate when he tried to score on Swayne's grounder to Fullerton. Weaver went to second. McCleskey beat out a grounder to Smith and filled out the bases. Fahey fled to Yelle. No runs, three hits, no errors.

Swayne was forced at second on Peplowski's grounder to Dee. Dee was retired on a line drive to Rieger in deep center. Fullerton and Smith did the business on Kelly's grounder. Three errors.

Score: Lowell, 4; Haverhill, 2.

Base Ball

was thrown out at the plate. One run, three hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 5, Haverhill 4.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LAKEVIEW DANCING PAVILION
In spite of the counter attractions this week, the Lakeview dancing pavilion is drawing its usual large crowds every evening. Just why this is so can be easily figured out. The patrons of this summer dancing floor know that when they go out there they always spend a delightful evening and are loath to exchange an uncertainty for a positive good time. That's the secret, friends, and that is why other and more extensively advertised amusements fail to attract the patrons of the Lakeview dancing pavilion. There's always a pleasant time for you at this summer ball with its splendid music, healthy atmosphere and unexcelled floor surface.

THE KASINO
Tonight—the cake-walk. Dances come and go like everything else. A dozen years have passed since the cake walk was popular throughout the country and in that time a new generation has sprung up. Possibly, that accounts for the revival of the cake-walk, for it is being re-kindled, and it is coming back for a long career. Judging by indications, people want "something different." Even the modern dances become monotonous after a while. If you are among those who seek diversion, come up to the Kasino tonight and see the cake-walk between Dominick Monahan and lady, of Lowell, and Ben Payne and lady, of Boston. It's a real contest for a substantial prize, and there's bound to be a hot time while it is in progress. Miner's orchestra will play, as usual, incidentally, don't forget the week-end opportunity at the Kasino—Saturday afternoon and evening.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Fashions in entertainment's change nearly as often as they do in other material phases of life, and the demand of the theatre-going public has caused many managers to present a mixture of high class vaudeville and the cream of motion picture. Keith's theatres have taken up this form of entertainment, among them the local one, whose fall and winter season opens Monday night. Four of the very best vaudeville acts obtainable, and four big pictures will constitute the program at each performance, and the bill will be changed twice weekly, on Monday and Thursday. In reality, almost for the same reason as before, the theatre-going public will be given every week, aside from the special Sunday entertainments, which will differ in every particular from those of week days. Anticipating very large audiences the management will offer two performances in the evening, the first beginning at 7 o'clock and the second about nine o'clock. Seats for Labor day and for the remaining performances of the first half-week are on sale at the box office. The leading vaudeville feature to be shown will be offered by Welsh, Jockey & Montrose, a trio of the funniest and lib. comedians in existence. Since their engagement at the Keith Boston theatre they have been in demand everywhere, and it is guaranteed that they will purvey more radiancy in the comedy line than has been seen in this country for many months. Grant & Delmar, constitute another vaudeville team. Miss Grant is a singer, dancer and impersonator of note, and is really a top-notch in her special work. The Moulton trio, two women and a man, will sing high class numbers, and the three vocalists will open the bill with their last year's successes. As in all, it will prove to be a most engrossing bill. The motion pictures to be shown will be announced later. Matinee prices, 10 and 20 cents; evening prices, 10, 15 and 25 cents.

CANOBIE LAKE
The mild weather and the cool breezes enjoyed on the cars has made this a week of unusual activity at Canobie Lake park and the crowds are flocking to the fair grounds, so that never before popular park has so crowded with visitors. Perhaps the most drawing attraction is the new edition of the Homans Musical Revue which is drawing its long engagement to a close at the performance of Labor day, this big musical program will be thoroughly just the kind of light amusement desired by the pleasure seekers (these days). In addition to the big singing and dancing show there are being shown the motion pictures taken at the park a week ago last Sunday when the last year's successes. As in all, it will prove to be a most engrossing bill. The motion pictures to be shown will be announced later. Matinee prices, 10 and 20 cents; evening prices, 10, 15 and 25 cents.

THE ROYAL THEATRE
Again "The Adventures of Kathlyn" are to be the special feature at the Royal theatre, at 483 Merrimack street. The seventh episode of the famous serial is entitled "The Garden of Brides" and contains many thrills, besides a clever plot, making it a most interesting and absorbing program of new releases will be found many new subjects, among the best of the season of "Gypsy" with Frank C. play of exceptional interest, finely acted. "Slippery Jim's Inheritance" will introduce Vic Essary's funny comedian in a new and original role, that of the man who inherits a large fortune, how Slippery starts in to dispose of his wealth will cause a long and hearty laugh. The other pictures on the program are all new to Lowell, and will comprise a great show. Always cool at the Royal.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
A laugh a minute for a solid hour is the promise held out by the management of the Academy of Music to its audience this evening. The occasion will be the first of a series of weekly amateur nights to be held in the Academy every Friday evening in conjunction with the regular vaudeville and motion picture show. There will be no advance in the prices of admission.

The amateur performance will be run this evening in conjunction with the regular topnotch vaudeville and exclusive motion picture program. The bill of amateurs as arranged to date is as follows: Sam White, comedian; Nellie Rose, singer; Frank Marjor, juggler; Treasa Dalton, singer; Al Rayney, whistler; Harry Baker, violinist; Father Brothers, eccentric dancers; Alice Foley, singer; Harry Miller, acrobat.

The list given above shows what each performer is alleged to do in the central line. The rest is up to the audience.

The management having secured the exclusive rights for this city of these photo masterpieces. In the vaudeville portion of the program the headliners for the first three days will be Clem Bevins and company in their comedy rural playlet, "Daddy." Air Bevins is termed the "Derman Thompson" of the vaudeville stage and will be supported by an excellent cast of Broadway favorites. Jeannette Lawrence and Jack Gardner, billed as elite vaudevillians, are both well known in musical comedy, where Miss Lawrie has made a name for herself as leading woman for Lew Fields in "It Happened in Nordland." Richard Carle in "Mary's Lamb," and last season was leading woman with Miss Billie Burke in "Mind the Paint Girl." In their present act in which they are breaking into Vaudeville, Miss Lawrie plays a breezy American girl and Mr. Gardner an English Johnnie of the extreme type, which is sure to be amusing. The Juggling Rannons will be seen in a club swinging novelty and a few minutes of nonsense will be contributed by Burt Melburn in a "Burt Melburn" act.

Bruce McRae, the distinguished dramatic actor, will be seen in the famous political romance, "The Ring and the Man," a Famous Players production in four reels.

The box office will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for the sale of seats and for reservations of same for the season, which will also be accepted by mail or telephone 261.

leading man, Mr. Pollard, entitled "The Silence of John Gordon," will surely make a hit. "The Tell-tale Star," "Our Mutual Girl," "Frenchy," a first two-part drama are others that will be appreciated by the fans. A new Keystone comedy has also been booked for Friday and Saturday. "Her Last Chance" is a pure comedy, and you'll agree to it after witnessing its unreeling. Coming, "The Wrath of the Gods."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
When the temperature is soaring and that close, stuffy feeling is everywhere, take a trip to the Merrimack Square theatre and there amid cooling breezes and a comfortable atmosphere see what is declared by patrons to be the best attraction in which the company has yet appeared, namely, "What Happened to Mary." This is probably two of the reasons why the crowds continue to increase at each performance—first the play and secondly because of the normal temperature which is always maintained. Admittedly two important reasons.

The coming week what is described as America's greatest laughing success, "Officer 665," will be the attraction. It will be staged from the original manuscript and all the different varieties will be seen to special advantage. Seats for all performances, including those for Labor day, are now on sale at the box office.

THEATRE VOYONS

THREE STORES ENTERED

IN BUSINESS SECTION OF FRANKLIN, N. H., BUT BURGLARS SECURED LITTLE

FRANKLIN, N. H., Sept. 4.—Burglars entered three stores in the business section last night but secured little for their trouble. The burglaries were discovered when the stores opened for business this morning.

At the postoffice sub-station on Main street a mail bag was rifled and the letters opened and left scattered about the yard in the rear. It is not known how much money was secured. In the adjoining establishment of the Griffin Drug Co. a cash register was broken into and about six dollars in coin taken. A new pocketbook was also missing from the show case. The third break was in Pickering's lunch wagon, where the visitors partook of a tasty meal but got no money.

LYNN, Sept. 4.—Walter L. Farland of Melrose Highlands died in the city hospital early today as the result of injuries sustained last night when an automobile in which he and three other men were riding struck an electric light pole on the Nahant boulevard. TOMORROW TWO GAMES LEWISTON vs. LOWELL

Spalding Park 2 O'clock

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Next Monday will be Labor Day, but outside of an open labor meeting, I have not heard of any special observance to be made in this city. Of course Lowell and Lawrence will have it at the State park, while many will go to Boston to see the Glants and the Braves do battle. Twenty-five years ago Labor Day was a brand new holiday and none of the mills closed and but few business places but the labor organizations had a celebration that reflected credit on them. The old Sun's account, in part, of the Labor Day observance of quarter of a century ago was as follows:

"On Monday, the labor organizations of the city celebrated Labor day in a manner deserving of highest praise. The day was fairly warm and thousands came out to enjoy the parade and the other events of the day under the auspices of organized labor. It being a legal holiday the banks and city offices were closed but none of the mills closed and very few of the business houses shut their doors, the merchants preferring to do business and reap a harvest from those who were out to see the sights. All the harnesses were closed, the law compelling the liquor dealers to suspend business for the day.

"The Stars and Stripes were floated from numerous flag-staves and in several places neat decorations were put out.

Chief Marshal William A. Yasinaki rode at the head of a fine procession of working men. It was the feature of the day. The formation of the procession was made in Appleton street and about 11 o'clock moved through a lengthy route in the following order: Platoon of Police.

Chief Marshal, W. A. Yasinaki; Chief of Staff, E. R. Pond.

"The procession moved to the Fair grounds after completing the route laid out and hundreds indulged in refreshments. At 2 o'clock the company was called to order by John P. Burns of the general committee who made a neat speech and introduced in turn the following speakers: Hon. John Welch, Hon. John J. Donovan, Rev. Alexander

Blackburn and Col. James H. Carmichael. The addresses were received with great enthusiasm and on motion of ex-President MacKenzie the speakers were given a vote of thanks. The speaking occupied about an hour and then the sports came up. A game of base ball between the plumbers and the plasterers was won by the former by a score of 5 to 2 and they also beat the carpenters, 11 to 6 and the painters 14 to 3. Messrs. Jennings and Smith were first and second in the hop, step and jump and the former won the shot-put contest. The half mile race was won by James Morris. At 5 o'clock in the evening a dance order of 22 numbers was played with John J. Dolan as floor director bringing the festivities of the day to a pleasant close. The matter of the Labor Day program are highly pleased with the showing made and they promise something just as good or better for next year.

Labor Day celebrations up to within comparatively few years were big events and were invariably successful. They served to unite local people and their money at home but there'll be little doing next Monday.

Their Silver Wedding

A week ago in this column, I mentioned the marriage 25 years ago of Joseph E. Boyd and Miss Addie Brooks of Bedford which took place in the hall on the Manchester grounds. At that time Mr. Boyd, originally from Lowell, was a resident of Manchester, N. H. and the bride of Bedford. But the marriage was brought them back to Lowell and of the celebration on their 25th marriage anniversary, last Tuesday evening, they were most pleasantly surprised at their cozy home, 73 Chestnut street by the 15 members of the Oakland L. C. Whist club of which Mrs. Boyd is a member. Music and whist were in order and the hostess presented 15 pieces of silver suitably inscribed and eight pieces of hand-painted china. The party broke up at midnight with best wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Boyd.

Took Heroic Treatment

Says the old Sun:

"Thomas Conway, an engraver, formerly of the Hamilton mills, but now residing at Somerville has been suffering with a spinal trouble for some time past. He consulted Dr. Hammond of Washington and the treatment ordered for Mr. Conway was suspension by the neck for two or three minutes every day. This treatment strengthens the spinal nerve and Mr. Conway is doing finely. Mr. Conway is a brother of 'Dick' Conway, the ball player."

"Tom Conway, died about 15 years ago and hence lived for the most part which he claimed prolonged his life. The treatment was discovered shortly before by one Dr. Charcot, an eminent Parisian surgeon. Dr. Charcot while lifting a child suffering from curvature of the spine discovered the beneficial effect and he proceeded to experiment with success. Dr. Hammond, at that time was one of the leading surgeons in the country and had been surgeon-general of the army during the war of '61. Mr. Conway went to Dr. Hammond's sanatorium at Washington for his first treatment but soon obtained an apparatus which enabled him to go through the treatment at his home. After considerable practice he could hang for almost five minutes at a time, and he claims that he was greatly benefited by the strange operation.

Hock, der Professor

Says the Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"The American orchestra has secured the services of Mr. Emil H. Hock, as leader and conductor. Mr. Hock is the son of a celebrated musician of Bremen, and at the early age of seven years was apprenticed to one of the best violin teachers in Germany, with whom he remained for several years, and he finally finished his education under that master of the violin, Jacobson. After playing in several theatres and with concert companies in Europe he decided on trying his fortunes in America, and came here in 1884, locating in New York. Soon after his arrival he became associated with Dr. Danrosch and later with the Strauss opera company, Niblo's and Waldorf theatre, in New York and the Novello theatre in Brooklyn."

There was some orchestra, that old American, and it was in continuous demand for many years. Prof. Hock, as above mentioned was leader and conductor and played first violin. Henry Valentine, played second violin and was prompter at dances; Roscoe McDunals, played cornet; O. J. Mark, trombone; Joe Jeannotte, clarinet; and Henri Dufresne, drums and traps. George Hamblett, also played second violin at times, and officiated as prompter while Walter Owen played flute. In later years Tommy McCarthy after several seasons with the original "1828" company returned to Lowell and played flute and piccolo with the Americans while Pierre Gregoire played the "big fiddle." When not engaged at the Opera House the American orchestra was in demand at dances and parties in Lowell, Nashua, and many of the towns while during the summer for several seasons the orchestra played on the Fall River boats. Of the original members, Messrs. Valentine, Jeannotte, Dufresne, Hamblett and Owen have passed away. Prof. Hock teaches violin in this city and vicinity and conducts the Hock orchestra which aids digestion at the Richardson hotel dining room, and but the fact that he has a son Hans, who is an orchestra leader himself, one would never suspect from the professor's appearance that he is in the "quarter of a century ago" class.

Those Were the Happy Days

"The Boston News Bureau hears," says the old Sun, "that the Boston and Lowell will show a handsome increase this year, and one director places the gross increase at $500,000 and the net at $400,000."

Another Boat Race

In a recent article I gave an account of a boat race between Hugh Mellen and John P. Harrigan which took place on the Merrimack. This race it seemed got others going for a result a match was made between Connie O'Hearn, an old time athlete from the North common and Joe Lambert and the old Sun reported the event as follows:

"The two-mile race between Connie O'Hearn and Joe Lambert in heat and bent boats for $50 a side took place Saturday afternoon. The men got in position at 5:30 o'clock when word was given to start by Referee John P. Harrigan. The race was a close one, the two boats were neck and neck for the first half mile, but O'Hearn's boat was a result a match was made between Connie O'Hearn, an old time athlete from the North common and Joe Lambert and the old Sun reported the event as follows:

LOOK UP MY OFFER

Upon opening my Lowell store in the Spring of 1908, I promised the people of Lowell that I would remain among them permanently, become part and parcel of this city and its industries, be a generous advertiser, and to that extent help to support its newspapers, be a good merchant and try to give the people more than everything that belonged to them for the money they spent with me.

TODAY, about six years later, as I enter upon this Fall Season, it is worth something to me to be able to go back with you through six big spring and five big fall seasons that have gone down the pike.

To the man who may have believed that I was a fly-by-night, that I came for one season only, I call attention to my new, permanent business address, 31 to 35 Merrimack Square, Lowell, long years after some people said I'd depart. My present store in the Hildreth building is perfect in every detail for a merchant tailor shop, sanitary, daylight, workshop on the premises second to none in Lowell, and an eight year lease to expire January 1, 1922.

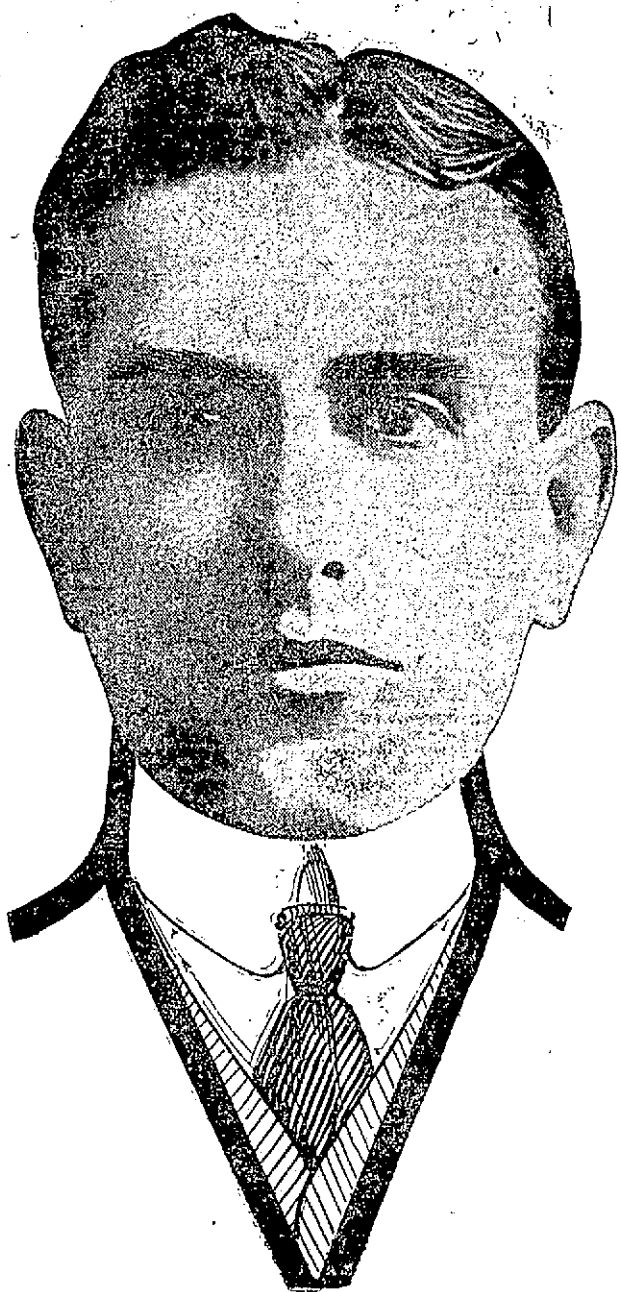

To the man who may have believed that I could not afford to stay an advertiser, that my methods were not such as to endure the fiercer glare of which publicity and the scathing criticism advertising necessarily attracts, I call attention to the fact that as I have continued in Lowell, so I have in other cities, never stopped value giving, nor placed a limit upon the qualities to which I think my customers are entitled.

From the foregoing, I may be open to the criticism of being reminiscent. It is reminiscence today but it was prophecy when I first told you the same things back in 1908.

For six years I have been telling the people of Lowell that outlandish claims in newspapers don't constitute bargains. If I advertise to make you a suit for $12.50, you know if I don't get much of a profit, I, at least, can't be making much of a loss at that price, or I could not have been selling at such loss for the last six years in Lowell without going broke.

A bargain to my mind is the purchasing of an article at a price lower than equal quality can be bought elsewhere—provided, the article you buy at such price is an article that you need and can use.

Today and Tomorrow a Free Pair of Trousers being the Price I am willing to pay to every customer as a sort of commission on his own business.

SPECIAL

My window display of New Fall Creations is the talk of the town. 140 pieces of Overcoatings. I am featuring 17 different shades in plaid backs for young men.

WORSTED SUITINGS—From all the leading mills in New England, names: Sheriffs, Standish, Dunn's North Adams and Blackingtons. I have over 300 styles in Tartan checks, grays, browns, blues, silk mixtures, pencil stripes and blacks.

I'll have plenty of work next month. I want my old customers to avail themselves of this opportunity. I want to see many new faces. I want to force the sale of at least a hundred suits and overcoats that otherwise would not be ordered till later. You don't spend your money now; just your order and your garment will be ready in a week, two weeks or two months, any time to suit your convenience.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

ANOTHER LIST OF BRITISH CASUALTIES

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The official bureau issues a further statement of British casualties as follows:

Killed, 18 officers; 62 other ranks.
Wounded, 78 officers; 312 other ranks.
Missing, 86 officers; 4672 other ranks.

The official bureau explained that the missing mentioned in the list of casualties are men not accounted for and included unwounded prisoners and stragglers as well as men killed or wounded.

As regards the "other ranks" it is stated that 2682 men are returned as having been sent back to their base as unfit, and that a large proportion of these would be included in the number shown as missing in this and the previous return from general headquarters.

KIEL CANAL REOPENED FOR TRAFFIC

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4.—Shipowners have been informed that the Kiel canal has been re-opened to traffic but only a limited number of ships would be allowed to traverse it.

TURKS AND ARMENIANS IN BATTLE

PETROGRAD, (St. Petersburg) via London, Sept. 4.—The Turkish mobilization on the Persian boundary is slow. Many Christians and Kurds have refused to join the movement. The Turks are forcibly enrolling all persons of military age. There has been a serious conflict between Turks and Armenians at Bitlis, in Turkish Armenia.

PEOPLE OF GHENT IN PANIC OVER ADVANCE OF GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—2.56 a. m.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ghent says that the people there are in a panic over the expected advance of the Germans on that city which is indicated by the persistent sight of aeroplanes and scouts in its vicinity. It is believed that the Germans are now at Termonde, 16 miles east of Ghent.

The Belgians have flooded the district around Malines to hinder the progress of the German artillery.

GERMANS CONTINUE TO PUSH ON TO PARIS—ALLIES DRIVEN BACK

PARIS, Sept. 4.—With Compiègne, 40 miles north, abandoned by the British, with Amiens in the hands of the Prussians and the eagle of Germany on the flagstaff of the Hotel de Ville, with another invading force battering at the very doors of Rheims, the government of France was removed to Bordeaux, 369 miles by rail southwest of this place. Now every energy is being turned to preparations for the seemingly inevitable siege.

News that has leaked out in the past 48 hours has been depressing; everywhere in the west there has been a falling back, and only the solid front presented by the French armies along the Lorraine border, in the far eastern fold, offers a gleam of hope.

La Fere is reported taken after a severe struggle and the fate of neighboring Laon can only be the same. The Valley of the Somme, which has been believed a great natural barrier to the German advance in the extreme west, has been given over to the invaders, as has the line of the Aisne, between Compiègne and Soissons, upon the north.

Military observers believe the allied line in front of Paris to be no farther distant than the Beauvais-Clermont-Creil-Corbeil front, which at its center is less than 20 miles from the most northerly of the Paris forts, Domont and Boulogne.

Whether the upper valley of the Aisne river, east of Soissons, has been given over to the Germans is not definitely known. There has been a mighty battle in progress there for a full week. Chateau Porcien and Rathel, both 22 miles northeast of Rheims, have been the centers of fighting.

The armies of Gens. von Hausen, von Buelow and Grand Duke Albert of Wurtemberg are straining every nerve to gain the outskirts of Rheims, and some think their guns are already battering its defenses.

An immense and complicated system of intrenchments is being constructed outside the city. It is reported that the engineers in charge of the work are keeping several hundred thousand men busy.

In an official statement issued today the war office says:

"There has been no contact with the German forces in the region of Compiègne and Senlis since yesterday. Precautions have been taken to stop any offensive movement of the enemy."

"Measures have also been taken to provide for the pursuit of German aeroplanes, especially those of the armored type, which will be prevented from flying over Paris."

"The situation in the northeast is the same as yesterday."

CZAR NOTIFIED OF FALL OF LEMBERG AND OTHER RUSSIAN VICTORIES

LONDON, Sept. 4, 7 a. m.—A Petrograd (St. Petersburg) special to the Reuters Telegram Co. says the commander in chief has notified the emperor that the Russians have occupied Lemberg.

The commander-in-chief's message was as follows:

"With extreme joy and thanking God, I announce to your majesty that the victorious army under Gen. Ruzsky has taken Halicz.

"I beg your majesty to confer on Gen. Ruzsky in recognition of services preceding the battles, the fourth class of the Order of St. George and of the payment of their salaries. The third class of the same order; and on Gen. Brussiloff the fourth class of the same order."

REPORTED THAT GERMANS HAVE CROSSED INTO SWITZERLAND

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Telegraphing from Rome the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. says that a message received there from Basel, Switzerland, declares that an unconfirmed report has come into Basel from Bern setting forth that Lieut.-Gen. Von Demling and the German forces under his command have crossed into Switzerland to prevent their capture by the French.

PRINCE WILLIAM OF WEID HAD BRIEF BUT TROUBLESOME REIGN

PARIS, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Durazzo, dated Wednesday night, tells of the departure of Prince William of Weid, whose brief reign has been a troublesome one.

A meeting of protest has been held in the city and the police intervened. Many armed people assembled before the department of finance and demanded the payment of their salaries. Comp-troller Travsky calmed the crowd with promises that payment would be made.

The Italian yacht Misurata, which had been placed at the disposal of Prince William flying the Italian and Albanian flags weighed anchor at 10.30 and after a salute from the Italian cruiser Libia steamed in the direction of Venice.

FEELING OF COMPLETE DESPAIR IN BUDAPEST OVER HALT IN CAMPAIGN AGAINST SERBIA

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ostend says:

"A tourist who as just arrived here from Budapest after nearly a week's trip, said:

"There is a feeling of complete despair in Budapest. This is caused mainly by the practical abandonment of the campaign against Serbia which had the whole-hearted support of the populace who believe that only one sharp stroke was needed to demolish Serbia. Yet at the end of a month not a single Austrian soldier is on Serbian soil."

"The position of the dual monarchy is very serious if it is compelled to make peace with Serbia on account of the chronic difficulties with the Slav population. The people of Budapest believe that the breaking up of the whole Austro-Hungarian structure is impending."

"The fallure of the army sent against the Russians is also disheartening to the Austro-Hungarians. The newspaper censorship in Budapest is so rigid that the people practically have ceased reading the newspapers."

BOMBARDMENT OF SENLIS BY THE GERMANS HEARD AT CHANTILLY

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4.10 a. m.—A despatch to the Mail from Dieppe, France, says that a visitor from Chantilly today reports that the bombardment of Senlis, 32 miles north-northeast of Paris, could be plainly heard from Chantilly Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fox, of 639 Bridge street observed the 21st anniversary of their wedding the past week. Mr. Fox was formerly a member of the police department and has been totally blind for six years as a result of an accident received while on duty. Mrs. Fox is confined to her bed by a serious illness from which she has been suffering for months.

WHAT TO DO WITH OUR BOYS

What to do with our boys is undoubtedly the question uppermost in the minds of many parents in this city today. Whether to send them to the high school, the industrial school, or to take them away from school altogether and send them to work is a problem that causes parents much serious thought and upon which they are seeking for wise counsel.

In the first place let it be understood that the great danger to be avoided is the taking of the children away from school too soon and thus sending them out into the battle of life handicapped by lack of an average education.

By far the greater number of grammar school graduates are obliged to quit school and go to work. For these the great problem is to find their proper place in the industrial environment or to get some work in which they will have an opportunity to advance.

Parents should guard against putting their boys into a "blind alley," so to speak, from which there is no escape, no road leading onward or upward. There are thousands of boys employed at occupations which call for no exercise of their mental faculties, and in which they are merely human machines that run for a certain number of hours per day. Such positions are ruinous to boys physically, mentally and in many cases morally. Don't make a mere automation of a boy or you will dwarf him in body and mind and even in soul.

But if a boy is to get more than a grammar school education the question comes as to whether it is better to send him to the high school than to the industrial. In deciding this point remember that if a boy gets even one year at the high school it will be of great assistance to him in whatever he may take up afterwards and that the chance to send him to the industrial school will still be open next year. Another thing to be remembered is, that the industrial school is not supposed to give a boy a trade. It merely helps to bring out his mechanical aptitudes and enables him to select more intelligently the occupation for which he is adapted. Moreover, it may be that the school is overcrowded in the department the boy would like to enter. The industrial school is handicapped for lack of room and for that reason it is restricted to an extent that seriously affects its usefulness. In deciding these important problems in the education of boys and girls, it is advisable to give them the very best education the parents can possibly afford, remembering that even then in the fierce competition for preferment, they will often be crowded to the rear just because they didn't know a little more.

WAR WITH MEXICO

And now comes General Carranza, the provisional president of Mexico, with the demand that we vacate Vera Cruz, withdraw our troops and leave Mexico to pursue the even tenor of her way. General Carranza has further announced that he has closed the port of Vera Cruz and will keep it closed until the American troops are withdrawn.

President Wilson in reply states that the American troops will remain until constitutional government be established in Mexico.

It is difficult to see on what constitutional ground President Wilson can make this declaration. The American troops were sent to Vera Cruz as the result of an insult to the American flag and because the then president of Mexico refused to offer an apology by saluting the flag. By the way, the flag has not yet been saluted and it does not seem that General Carranza is ready to offer any apology of that sort. It would appear, therefore, that under present conditions a state of war exists between the United States and Mexico and that as a result we are liable to become more deeply embroiled in the Mexican affair than ever before.

The great question at issue is: "By what right do we undertake to dictate to Mexico just what kind of government she shall have, whom she shall have for president or in what manner she may decide to establish responsible government?" If the Mexicans should decide to make Carranza king it is difficult to see wherein the United States would be called upon to prevent such an eventuality.

President Wilson's policy of "watchful waiting" has served very well to avoid war thus far, but if carried to an extreme it may have an entirely opposite result. The best thing in our judgment that President Wilson can do under present conditions is to make diplomatic arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz. The government of the United States has undoubtedly been partial to the rebels in Mexico and now that they have come into power, it will be just as well to leave them to themselves to fight the matter out. It is hardly to be expected that there will be peace in Mexico so long as there are men like Villa, whose chief desire is personal aggrandizement at the expense of the people.

The failure of the United States government to recognize President Huerta brought us into the Mexican trouble in the first place and although Huerta was a butcher he was perhaps as good as any of those who are about to take his place. It is high time that President Wilson should call off his troops and wash his hands of the whole business.

FOREIGNERS AND CITIZENSHIP

If the United States were engaged in war, the government would find it advantageous to have as many as possible of the foreign born element naturalized so that they would be available for military service. Many of these different nationalities that make up our cosmopolitan population have had military training and would make good soldiers. But we should engage their permanent service for peace rather than war by having them take the oath of allegiance to the United States as soon as possible after their arrival here.

At the present time there are about 1,500,000 men in this country available for war in Europe, many of whom will go there if they get the opportunity of transportation. The departure of any large number from their employment in this country must necessarily cause more or less of an industrial disturbance. The departure of large numbers of Greeks from this city for the Balkan war discommodated some of the local factories and the same state of affairs prevailed in many other cities.

While it is not the intention of the American government to prepare for war yet it would be well in future to provide against the consequences of war in other nations. To do this it is well to encourage naturalization rather than to place obstacles in its way, as has been the practice during the past few years. There are thousands of men in Massachusetts who would now be naturalized citizens but for the difficulty of complying with all the requirements of the courts. In some cases it is necessary to travel a considerable distance to the court, bringing several witnesses; and it is often quite difficult to find out just what is required by the courts or how to secure naturalization papers. While it is not advisable to open the doors to citizenship too widely, yet it is equally wrong to place too many barriers in the way of those who are ready to take the oath of allegiance to our government and who can do so in accordance with the requirements of our constitution. Better have them give their allegiance to our government than to some other so long as they have made their homes amongst us. The addition to our citizenship would be just so much taken from the elements that occasionally involve the world in war.

WAR INSURANCE BILL

The war insurance bill which has been passed by congress is a new departure for this government, yet necessary as an encouragement to American commerce on the seas. This is the first time the government of the United States felt called upon to assume any such responsibility. But the exigency warrants such action. Uncle Sam will have to look more closely after the welfare and even the protection of American vessels. It will be necessary for our fleet to be more alert in protecting American ships from seizure by some of the belligerents. The federal marine insurance business will offer security to certain classes of commercial vessels which private concerns may be unwilling to cover. It is easy to see that without the closest supervision, the government may be made responsible for very large amounts through trickery and fraud. These chances must be taken however if any attempt be made to assist legitimate lines of commerce.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

In this very hot spell there will be a great number of infants taken ill.

The scourge of cholera infantum has begun to appear and it will undoubtedly claim many victims before the cool weather sets in. As in past years, the chief relief is found in taking the children to the cool shade of the country, feeding them lightly, keeping them cool and shielding them from the direct heat of the sun. When infants are left in the care of little girls and boys to be carried about the streets under the broiling sun, it is no wonder they contract some of the various diseases brought on by excessive heat. Many parents whose children have been taken ill can receive valuable counsel and assistance at the milk stations of the Lowell Guild on Fulton street. The work of this excellent association has undoubtedly kept the infant mortality in Lowell much below what it otherwise would be.

BATTLE OF AEROPLANES

The report of an aeroplane battle over the city of Paris is the first news of the kind given to the world. It appears that a squadron of German aeroplanes and dirigibles appeared over the French capital and were at once attacked by a number of aeroplanes sent up to drive them off. The man who undertakes to fight in an aeroplane simply takes his life in his hand inasmuch as but a slight injury will disable the mechanism of his craft and bring him down to death. That aeroplanes, or still worse, the war dirigible, should be used for the destruction of cities and attacks upon non-combatants is one of the worst features of a war that is undoubtedly the most destructive ever waged in the history of the world.

WILSON FOR ANOTHER TERM

It is announced from Washington that President Wilson may be a candidate for a second term. This does not come officially from the president himself but the present time and the issues that are now before the country require a level headed man in the White House. President Wilson has demonstrated his eminent ability as a constructive statesman since he entered office and if the people can persuade him to accept another term, they will render a great service to the country. The record of President Wilson's term of office is replete with legislation that had been sorely needed by this country for the last 25 years. It would be most advisable to retain President Wilson to direct the administration of the reforms he has assisted in placing upon the statute books. It is true that he personally expressed himself in favor of a single term for president; but if the country insists upon retaining him for four years more, we believe his personal preference in the matter might be overcome.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The industrial school will open on September 14 under the conditions that prevailed last year. There will be no additional room, which means that the work must be conducted under difficulties and that in consequence, the results will not be as satisfactory as they otherwise would be. The work has been properly systematized and better progress would undoubtedly be made but for the inconvenience of having the school scattered in four different buildings. The school board should insist upon having a proper building provided for this school as early as possible. We are much behind some other Massachusetts cities in this matter of industrial education merely because of the lack of a suitable building in which to conduct the different departments.

The condition of the water supply during the past week in some parts of the city has been worse than ever before. It is difficult to understand how rusty, muddy water gets into the pipes. In parts of Centralville, Belvidere and Pawtucketville, the water is absolutely unfit for use either for cooking or for laundry purposes.

SEEN AND HEARD

If a foot ball hit Bob Paradis, would Cecil Dodge?

Hot Mom says that pudding flavored with cereals is not the least bit palatable.

Every bit of food on this table, said the serving lady to Lammson as he sat down to eat at the church supper, "was cooked by your wife."

"Oh, I don't mind," rejoined Lammson faintly. "I'm not a bit hungry, anyway."

A CALL DOWN

At a social affair the other night the conversation turned to justifiable reminiscences, when Congressman Frank H. Willis of Ohio, was reminded of the rebuke administered by a pretty girl named Marie.

One afternoon some time ago Marie called on her dearest chum and soon the two ladies were deep in the details of the gown and things seen at a reception the evening before.

"And do you know, Alice," confidently murmured Marie, when the subject reverted to the guests, "Harry had the nerve to kiss me on the forehead."

"You don't really mean it?" was the horrified rejoinder of Alice. "I suppose you called him down?"

"I certainly did," sweetly answered Marie. "About four inches," Philadelphia Telegraph.

TWO GENTLEMEN

When Charles Phelps Cushing was news editor of Collier's Weekly, a convict out in New Mexico sent him a little story of Christmas thoughts in prison. Cushing thought he would like to get his hands on a suitable photograph and would use the convict's little essay with it.

But the time went by and there was no opportunity to print the thing. So the editor sent the story back to the man in jail with a note telling how it had fared. He enclosed his personal check for $5 to recompense the man for having held his article until the Christmas season was over. The convict sent the check back, saying: "You treated me so square that I can't treat you otherwise."

A sanitary sink

The kitchen sink is the hardest place in the house to keep sanitary and free from bad odors. The use of a little Carbonol from time to time will do wonders.

Carbonol is a powerful disinfectant. It is always used in solution and a little of it goes a long way. Pour a little Carbonol in the sink and scrub it around with water to remove grease. Pour some Carbonol down the trap and if the trap is clogged with grease the Carbonol will dissolve the grease and clear it out.

TRAPPING ELEPHANTS

In view of the vast strength possessed by full grown elephants it is almost at first sight almost incredible that they can be captured in herds and quickly subdued to the will of their masters.

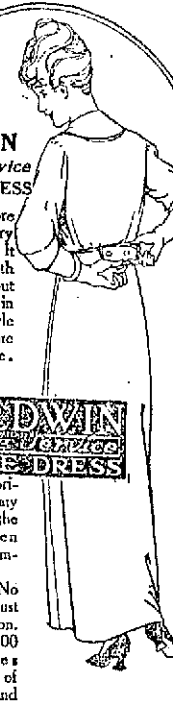

At the present time, in Mysore, the recent method of capturing wild elephants is for a large number of natives to go into the jungle, some mounted on tamed elephants and many on foot, and to make a great noise and hulla-balloo, which results in driving herds of the wild elephants into stockades, or often into ponds of water, which have previously been silted up on all sides, except at the approaches, by immensely strong pali-sades. As soon as the herd is cornered the passages that had been left open are securely closed, and then the trained elephants are brought into play to capture and subdue the perplexed prisoners.

In India elephants are no longer captured, as they still are in Africa, by means of huge pitfalls in the ground. In these traps they are often seriously injured or killed. The Indian elephant is somewhat smaller than the African and differs from it in other ways—as, for instance, in the fact that tusks are possessed only by the males, while both sexes are provided with them in Africa. In general, also, the tusks of African elephants are nearly twice as large as those of their Indian relatives. A single pair sometimes weighs as much as 250 or 300 pounds.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

DIED FOR HIS IDEAL

It is related that Napoleon was once badly defeated at Colobate by the Cossacks. After the battle he was surrounded by enemies and would have lost his life had he not been saved by the presence of mind of one of his soldiers, Corporal Spohn.

Realizing that Napoleon's only chance of life was in getting off the battlefield unrecognized, the corporal begged the emperor to change hats and horses with him. The change was made ere the smoke had cleared away, and Napoleon with his corporal's hat and mounted on a poor steed, rode away undisturbed. The Cossacks crowded around the corporal, taking him for a prisoner, they led him in triumph to

Agent W. A. Mitchell of the Massachusetts mills is at present on an extended business trip.

Joe Quinn, the general secretary of the Machinists' union is enjoying a vacation this week.

Business Agent Roscoe Hall of the Machinists' union has returned to Lynn after spending two enjoyable weeks in this city.

Quite a few young men employed in the Saco-Lowell shops will journey to Nashua Sunday where a sumptuous repast will be served in their honor.

Hugh Gilbee, overseer of the finishing room at the Lowell Bleachery was an interested visitor at the Rockingham fair yesterday afternoon.

Elmer Olson of the Lowell Bleachery, in charge of the tinshop is attracting much attention in his new Hudson touring car.

Joseph Goddard of the Mass. mills, the recognized long distance man of Lowell will try his hand at the games to be held in Brookline, Labor day. He avers that he will bring home the bacon.

The regular weekly business session of the Millmen's union will be held tonight in Carpenters' hall in the Runch building. Business of much importance will be transacted, and all members are desired to attend.

That superstition still prevails, is evident at the Machinists' rooms, when a party of young men decided to go fishing yesterday because there was a full moon the night previous. Amos Turner, the champion fisherman of the local is spending the week at Crystal Lake.

If the employees of the local mills and industries had started a baseball league early in the season, some stars would have surely been developed. In the practice games between mill teams at Shedd park every day some real good playing is witnessed by large crowds.

The Appleton Company will suspend operations next week, in order to give the employees their annual vacation. Business at this mill is unusually good and a full complement of help is steadily employed.

The regular meeting of the Machinists' union, 123, was held last night in Machinists' hall in Middle street. Pres. Arthur Phelps presided. Seven new members were admitted and several applications were received. Reports of committees were read and accepted. The outing committee reported favorably on the outing held a short time ago, and a vote of thanks was accorded the committee for its untiring work in making the time a success. The secretary reported the union to be in strong financial condition.

Painters Held Meeting

The members of the Painters' union held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runch building last evening. Four applications for membership were received and laid over for one week. Considerable business of a routine nature was transacted, and Business Agent George E. Fildes gave a short talk on the history of the local in Lowell. The secretary submitted a report of progress.

The Daily Consular and Trade Reports print the following report cabled to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce from the American charge d'affaires at Berlin. "For information. American cotton producers. German textile production reduced six per cent. Immediate further reduction probable. Local orders during the past week at a standstill. A few foreign orders filled. Import of raw material from Russia stopped. Only large mills made for military purposes. Much labor withdrawn from mills. No transportation facilities now available. Warehouses at ports overloaded with goods. Impossible to export."

The Machinists' union, local 123, composed of men employed at the Boston and Maine repair shops held its regular meeting in Odd Fellows hall in Middle street last evening. President Morris called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock and introduced Mr. A. A. Farnsworth, representative of the Trades Federated council, who gave a very instructive talk on unionism and what it has done for labor. A list of routine business was transacted and 10 new members were admitted and 3 applications for membership were received. The secretary reported the union to be progressing rapidly.

Wool Outing Cancelled

The executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have agreed to cancel this year's annual outing and banquet, and to this end have notified the trade as follows:

"Owing to the terrible conditions now prevailing in Europe and which are liable to grow more serious in the near future, the executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have deemed it advisable to postpone until next year, the annual outing arranged for September 18, at which the Philadelphia Wool and Textile association were to have been our guests." "The close relationship existing between the numerous members and factors engaged in the great struggle as well as the general sympathetic feeling has made this move a most fitting and proper one, for under the circumstances our local trade as well as our Philadelphia guests could not feel fully justified in attending a day's festivities with the world's greatest conflict being enacted almost before their eyes."

countless victims of the war were being cut down.

The war, he said, had armed faithful against faithful, priest against priest, while bishops of each country offered prayers for the success of the army of his own nation. But victory for one side means manslaughter to the other, the destruction of children equally dear to the heart of the pontiff.

The conclave of the Sacred college had been in session since the evening of Monday, August 31, and the final vote was not taken until yesterday morning. When the name of Cardinal Della Chiesa was called out by the cardinal scrutineers as having received the prescribed two-thirds vote, there was much excitement among the members of the conclave.

Then followed the traditional formula, the cardinal being asked as to whether he accepted the position. Amid breathless silence he assented in the affirmative, but his reply, owing to profound emotion, was scarcely audible. Immediately all the cardinals removed the canopies from above their chairs, this being the tangible sign that the leadership of the church had passed from them to the newly elected pope.

Later, during the course of a reception of laymen, the pope spoke of America, which, he said, was especially dear to him. He expressed great admiration for the genius of its people, which was only comparable to their religious zeal, and he added: "I am glad that my first apostolic benediction abroad will be forwarded to America, where the American cardinals will later impart it to the people directly."

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "want" column.

The pontiff also expressed the hope that America, in favor of peace, together with the players raised to the Almighty throughout the world, would mean that peace will come.

In the history of papal conclaves the present conclave was unique, inasmuch as, theoretically, the election of any cardinal was possible, while in previous conclaves there were special designations.

On the election of Cardinal Della Chiesa, Monsignor Bogliano, secretary of the conclave, with the master of ceremonies, the dean of the cardinals and other high church dignitaries, bowed before the chair where Cardinal Della Chiesa was seated.

He asked if the cardinal would accept the pontificate, and upon the affirmative reply all the canopies above the cardinals' thrones were lowered excepting that of Cardinal Della Chiesa.

In answer to the question of the dean of the cardinals, the new pope said he desired to take the name of Benedict XV.

Monsignor Bogliano, assisted by the other officials, recorded the act of election and the acceptance, and the members of the conclave then entered the Sistine chapel with the pope. The pontiff was clothed in flowing white robe, red slippers and high stock with a broad red crayat. Cardinal Della Voipe placed upon his shoulders a red stole, embroidered with gold. The pope then mounted the throne to receive the homage of the cardinals.

The cardinals first kissed the feet and then the hands of the pontiff, who administered the accolade and pronounced the benediction. Cardinal

Della Voipe placed upon the pontiff's finger the Fisherman's ring, which the pope returned to Monsignor Damico, to have engraved with his name.

The pontiff proceeded from the Sistine chapel to the Basilica of St. Peter's where he gave benediction. He returned to the Sistine chapel where the second act of homage by the cardinals was accorded him.

When the pope was asked to present himself before the people for the first benediction he turned to Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, and said:

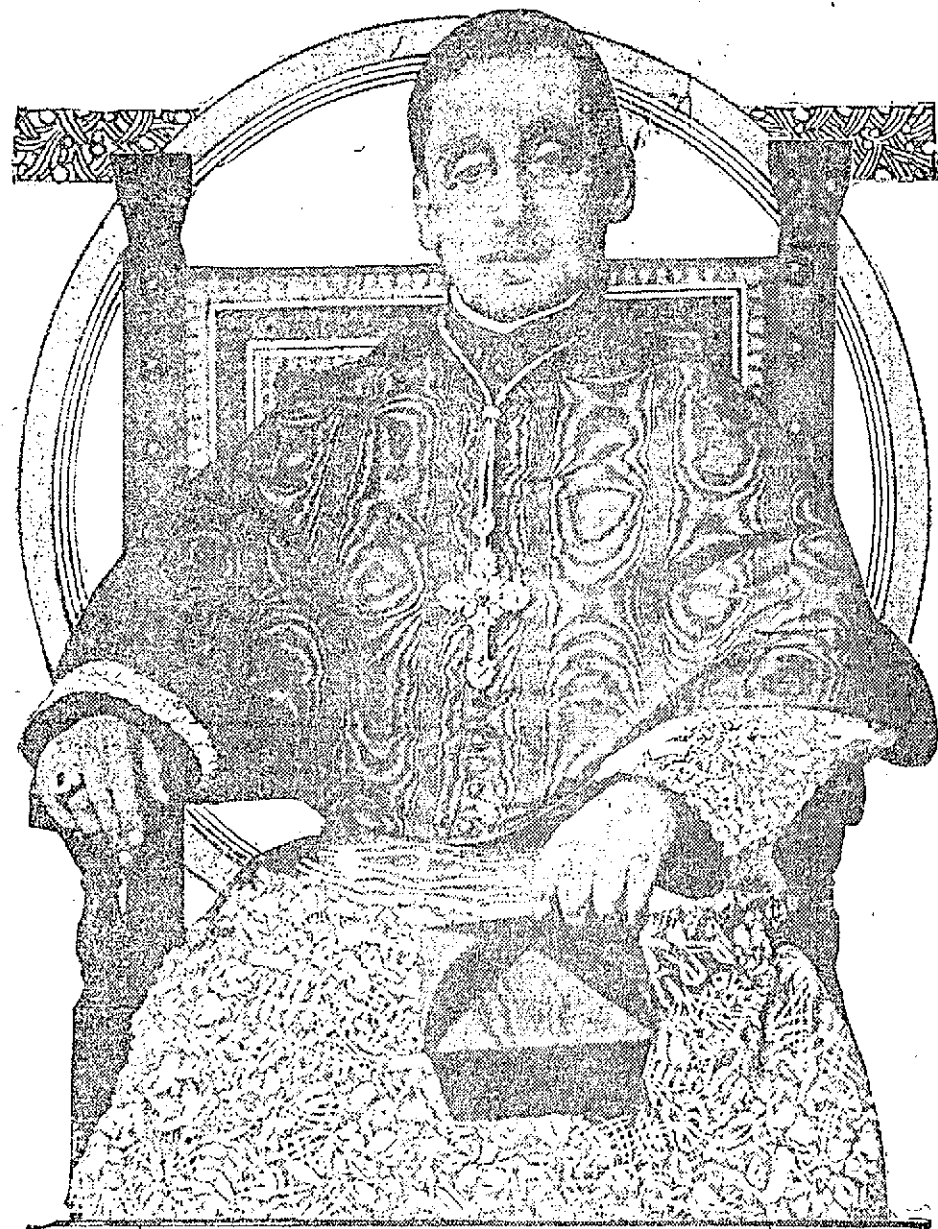

"I hope I shall have strength to overcome my emotion."

Crowds outside clamored to see the new pontiff, and several of the cardinals, including Cardinals Gibbons, Farley and O'Connell, tried to calm the assembly, to obtain silence.

The excitement reached a climax when the pope finally emerged. He was alone and a hush fell over the multitude. All knelt, and the pontiff raised his hand, with three fingers outstretched, and imparted with melodious voice the apostolic blessing. A great cheer rang out as he turned to withdraw.

Even in the conclave the election of the new pope caused much excitement. The cardinals surrounded him and addressed to him their greetings and congratulations in Latin. All wished to be the first to kiss his hand.

Coronation of Pope Benedict XV Will Take Place Sept. 6

BENEDICT XV—THE NEW POPE

A few facts about the life of Benedict XV, the new pope, whose election came as a distinct surprise, will be interesting. First of all stands out the vital point that the new pontiff will likely carry out many different policies from his predecessor, the late Pius X. He is known, for one thing, to be on good terms with the Quirinal, and so his election may mean the establishment of modus vivendi by which the long disagreement of forty-four years between the Vatican and the national government may be ended. The new pope was the youngest of the newly created cardinals, having been elevated only last May with four others. He is in his sixtieth year. Giacomo della Chiesa was born at Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, Italy, on Nov. 21, 1854. He studied at Rome and was ordained a priest on Dec. 21, 1878. He accompanied the late Cardinal Rampolla to Madrid in 1883 and remained there as secretary of the nunciature until 1887. He was made monsignor while there. He then returned to Rome with Cardinal Rampolla, who was made secretary of state by Pope Leo XIII, and entered that office as one of the minor officials. In 1901 he was appointed substitute of the secretariat and secretary of the cipher. Mgr. della Chiesa received a noted promotion when on Dec. 16, 1907, Pope Pius X. named him archbishop of the important see of Bologna. Less than seven years of prudent administration there won for him on May last a place in the sacred college.

CARDINALS O'CONNELL AND GIBBONS REGRET INABILITY TO TAKE PART IN CONCLAVE
ROME, Sept. 3 (Delayed in transmission).—Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore and Cardinal O'Connell of Boston arrived here today from Naples, whither they had hurried by steamer from the United States hoping to reach Rome in time for the conclave which elected Cardinal della Chiesa supreme pontiff of the Roman hierarchy in succession to the late Pope Pius.

750,000 MEN IN BATTLE

Between Germans and French in Western Field—Asquit Expects Protracted Struggle

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Reference to the titanic struggles between the German army under Crown Prince Frederick William and the forces of France which took place between Rheims and Verdun Wednesday is made again today from Berlin. If the Berlin statement proves correct—that three quarters of a million troops were fighting in that region Wednesday in "the greatest battle of history," it would explain much of what has been happening in the western field. To bring the troops in that region to anything like the number of 750,000 enormous French forces must have been concentrated at the expense of the French left flank where the Germans have been making progress with their brilliant dash on Paris. The battle along the Rheims-Verdun line has been claimed in an earlier message from Berlin as a victory for the army of the crown prince who is reported to have had the assistance of Emperor William, who was present. That nothing further concerning such a historic fight now two days old has come through from any source regarded as reliable, even in these days when virtually all sources of information are official. The French official communications continue to show an utter absence of pessimism and they are generally regarded as indicating that the situation of the allies is far from being as bad as might be conjectured by superficial observers judging from the stereotyped announcements of retreats. Some correspondents go so far as to suggest that the invaders of French soil have been fought to a standstill. There is no confirmation of the report from Bern, Switzerland, that a German force under General Von Deimling has been obliged to take refuge in Switzerland to avoid capture by the French. In an appeal to the nation to join the colors made by Premier Asquit in Guildhall today, the speaker said he recognized that the present was only the "early stages of what is going to be a protracted struggle." The premier made also this statement: "I had abundant grounds for pride and comfort in whatever direction I looked."

erations. Most of these people are going to the south or west of France. The military governor of the city has but at the disposal of non-combatants 15 trains of 25 cars each. Passage on them is to be entirely free. They will run today, tomorrow and Saturday and convey refugees to points outside of the military zone. The principal newspapers of Paris have transferred their offices to Bordeaux, where the Havas Agency also has established headquarters.

50,000 RUSSIAN TROOPS PLACED IN FRANCE BY ENGLAND BY MEANS OF TRANSPORTS

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Reports have reached London from Liverpool that England has placed more than 50,000 Russian troops in France by means of transports sent north of the Scandinavian peninsula to Finland, where the coasts are unbarred. Because of the mines in the Baltic and North seas and the presence of the German fleet it has been regarded as impossible for Russia to reach France except by marching through Germany. A stream of ships have been moving south from Liverpool ever since the declaration of war but there had been no observation of ships northbound and the rumor that England has helped Russians into France has given rise to much speculation as to where the ships sailed from. However, the secrecy which surrounded the movement of the expeditionary army was so complete that the public is willing to believe the English government has it within its power to conceal any movement. According to stories told by passengers who returned from England on the Mauretania Sept. 3 the reported movement of Russian troops to France was made by way of the Scotch coast.

VAGARIES OF THE BRITISH CENSORSHIP PASS ALL UNDERSTANDING

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The vagaries of the British censorship pass all understanding. The war excitement was not so intense that the London papers did not care to print reports of the Davis cup tennis matches in New York but the news did not come when it was expected. Hours went by. Inquiry was pursued with the cable companies and finally it was discovered that the incoming reports had been held up by the censors because they detected mystery in what they called "the code numbers" following the proper names. These "code numbers" were the names of the sets. Moreover, it was said by the censors the wonders of the despatches had violated the ethics of censorship by not setting the full names of the players—McLoughlin might be code for some Germany spy.

SAYS BRITISH CRUISERS RECEIVED AMMUNITION FROM VESSEL FLYING AMERICAN FLAG

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, announced that two British cruisers lying 10 miles from New York harbor had received supplies of coal, provisions and ammunition from a vessel flying the American flag.

ANGLO-FRENCH FLEET IN ADRIATIC THREE TIMES AS POWERFUL AS AUSTRIA

ROME, Sept. 4.—Despatches received here from Vienna describe the ridicule with which Austrian naval circles are commenting upon the Anglo-French fleet in the Adriatic. They declare that although this fleet is more than three times as powerful as that of Austria, it never yet has dared to attack or even invite the Austrian fleet to battle.

CORONATION OF THE NEW POPE WILL TAKE PLACE ON SEPT. 6

ROME, Sept. 3.—The coronation of Cardinal della Chiesa, as Pope Benedict XV, will take place on September 6. Immediately after his election yesterday the pontiff said that he could not imagine how his frail being was capable of enduring the weight of enormous responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, especially at a moment when almost all the countries of Europe were stained with blood, when the wounds inflicted upon humanity were also inflicted on the church and when

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP
MANCHESTER, Vt., Sept. 4.—At the end of the first 18 holes in the semi-final round for the national amateur golf championship, Francis Ouimet of Woodland and W. C. Fownes of Oakmont were all square and J. D. Travers of Upper Montclair, the 1913 champion was one up over Walter J. Travis of Garden City.

Both matches proved unusually exciting, as Ouimet and Fownes were never more than a hole apart, and Travers overcame an early lead by Travis of three holes.

The gallery followed the Ouimet-Fownes struggle and saw the Bostonian in the rough on his first drive while Fownes played the 342 yard hole a stroke under par. Ouimet went to the front at the fifth when Fownes drove into a trap. The crowd cheered when the two players at the sixth ran down long putts for a pair of twos. Fownes obtained the advantage at the ninth by playing the 343 yards under par. Ouimet followed suit on the tenth, a 500 yard hole which he negotiated in four, once more squaring the match. Ouimet lost both the 15th and 16th on strokes.

THE NERVES AND THEIR NEEDS

We do not give much thought to our nervous system when it is working all right but when it goes wrong nature has a way of calling it forcibly to our attention by something that we cannot overlook—pain. Try to reach a painful nerve with medicine of any sort and you are confronted with a fact that every doctor knows, that the only way to reach the nerves is through the blood.

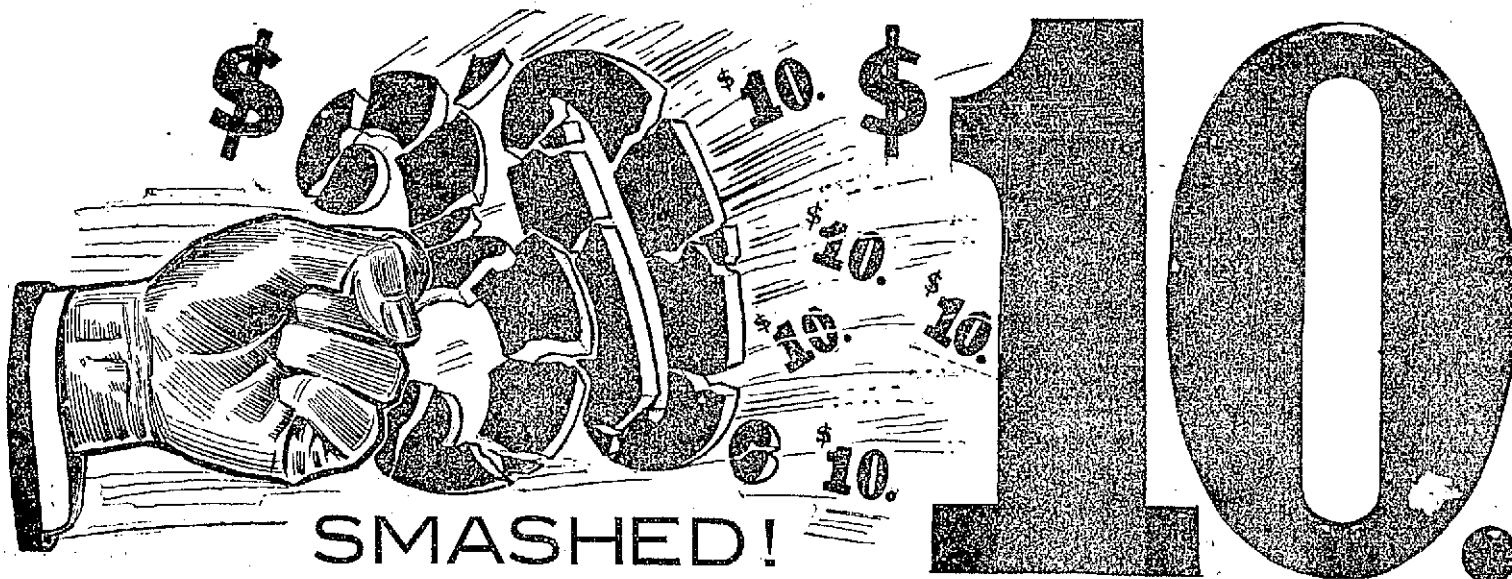

You see now why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the great tonic for the blood, are also a great nerve builder. When a nerve becomes inflamed and painful it is—unless caused by an accident—because the blood was not giving it the elements of nourishment it needed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, the nerves are strengthened, the inflammation subsides and the pain vanishes. By keeping the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the danger of nervous breakdown, insomnia, nervous indigestion and other disorders caused by ill-nourished nerves is greatly lessened. In children the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills banishes the fear of St. Vitus' dance.

The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., will send free on request a good little book on Nervous Disorders. Write for it today. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

OLD CUBS HAVE DRIFTED

ONLY FRANK SCHULTE REMAINS OF THE FAMOUS CLUB WHICH WON PENNANTS

"Where are the Cubs of yesteryear?"

Gone—all gone!

Of that famous Chicago club of 1906, probably the greatest baseball machine ever constructed, there is but one player remaining—Frank Schulte, the "home run king" of bygone days. The title of Chicago Nationals more often is applied of late than the handle of Cubs. And today, as you watch that team, you wonder. Eight years ago you wondered also—but in a much different way. Then it was you wondered how it came such a galaxy of scintillating players ever were gathered on one team. Now you can but ask yourself where they have gone.

Do you remember the lineup of that world's championship machine? Look it over again:

Slagle, catcher.
Tinker, shortstop.
Chance, first base.
Steinfeldt, third base.
Schulte, right field.
Evers, second base.
Kling, catcher.
Brown, pitcher.
Reulbach, pitcher.
Hofman, utility.
Slagle, who led off that famous batting list, was rapidly lost to baseball. He is out of it forever.
Schulte has dropped to the American association.
Joe Tinker virtually started the Federal league and heads the Chicago Federal club.

Frank Chance's bright star is waning rapidly. There is talk of someone replacing him as the Yankee's manager.

Steinfeldt recently died at his home in Kentucky.

Evers is doing his best for the Boston Braves—a peppery man as of old. Kling, the marvel, no longer adorns the diamond. He runs a billiard hall in Kansas City.

Old Ed Reulbach is with the Brooklyn Nationals—but is not at his best by any means.

Mordcau Brown, the "three-fingered" twirler, is with the Feds. Artie Hofman is frolicking about second base with the Brooklyn Feds under Bill Bradley.

Of that illustrious, fear-inspiring machine, Schulte alone is left. Frank still is playing good ball, but it was not so very long ago that he was taken out to allow another to bat for him—a silent message that the end is drawing near for one of the brightest stars of the baseball firmament, the one who has made more home runs in the big leagues than any other, and who once was adjudged the most valuable player in the National league and at one time considered one of the best in the world.

therefore, is regarded by the department as unwarranted from the standpoint of the supply and the import price of the seed. Some dealers are continuing to sell at the former price, but these are exceptions.

If the present high price is maintained, the specialists are doubtful whether crimson clover can be profitably used as a green manure crop for seeding in corn or on vacant ground, or under other conditions where the catch is not reasonably certain. Under such conditions they point out that it will be better practice to sow rye this fall and use the difference in price in adding nitrogen to the soil in the form of nitrate of soda or some other highly nitrogenous fertilizer. The rye will afford a winter cover preventing washing and leaching, and can be plowed under in the spring to add humus to the soil.

When crimson clover is being used regularly as a winter cover crop in orchard culture, or where local experience indicates that a good catch and a good crop are practically certain, payment of a higher price for the seed will no doubt be justified.

A somewhat similar condition exists with reference to hairy vetch seed. There has been approximately six-sevenths as much seed imported since November 1, 1913, as in the year previous. This shortage, however, is partly counter-balanced by the increasing domestic production of hairy vetch seed. Wherever the price of hairy vetch seed is found to be exorbitant, the same change in farm practice is recommended as that suggested in the case of the crimson clover.

WARREN IS ONE YOUNGSTER TO MAKE GOOD IN FEDERAL LEAGUE

WARREN—INDIANAPOLIS FEDS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—William H. Warren, one of the catchers for the local Federal league team, is a youngster who seems to have shown his ability to stay in fast company. In forty-five times at bat he made fourteen hits for a percentage of .311 and scored five runs. His work behind the bat has been satisfactory, and his throwing to the bases shows steady improvement.

WAR CAUSES SCARCITY

BIG INCREASE IN COST OF CRIMSON CLOVER AND HAIRY VETCH SEED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—Prices for imported crimson clover and hairy vetch seed have recently shown such a marked upward tendency that specialists of the department of agriculture fear that the cost of these seeds, of which Europe is the chief source, will interfere with the increasing use of these leguminous cover crops. In fact, it is feared that the prices of the seed of these legumes may go as high as to make it inadvisable to plant them this year.

Before the present European conditions arose, crimson clover seed was selling at from $4 to $5 per bushel. Up to August 15 there was a scarcity of this seed in the United States, owing to the fact that the receipts from Europe were smaller than usual. The prices then advanced to from $7.50 to $8.00 per bushel. Since that date importations have continued to arrive, until there is now more imported seed available for full need than there was in this country a year ago at this time. This seed, according to the department's information, was all imported at approximately the same price as that sold for $4 to $4.50 per bushel in the early part of the season. The present high price,

The courses in the boys' department are as follows:

Carpenter—This course, providing training for the trade of carpenter will consist of shop practice and science, study of building materials, construction, drawing, mathematics, English and civics.

NO POSSIBILITY OF UPRISING OF MOSLEMS, SAYS DR. BARTON

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The possibility of a general uprising of Moslems throughout the Turkish empire in a holy war against the Christian races is most remote, according to Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

Dr. Barton, who is in close touch with 200 American missionaries in Turkey and the Balkan peninsula, declared today that nobody who understands the Mohammedans and the present situation has any fear of a general Moslem uprising against native Christians. In case of war, the Mohammedans will unquestionably afford the American missionaries the same ample protection they have always given in the past, he declared.

Commissioner Donnelly presented an order for the location of the polling booths for the coming election and it was adopted. There are four changes this year. of Superintendent of streets of the city of Lowell, I have come to the definite conviction that the passage of that order would be for the best interests of the city of Lowell.

Therefore, I move the adoption and passage of the order of removal of Newell E. Putnam from the office of superintendent of streets of the city of Lowell, for the reasons therein specified and set forth.

A vote was taken by roll call, and the result was as follows: Commissioner Brown, yes; Commissioner Donnelly, no; Commissioner Carmichael, no; Commissioner Morse, yes. The vote then stood two to two with the mayor to cast his ballot. After a minute's hesitation, Mayor Murphy voted yes, saying he governed his action on the first and sixth charges. Commissioner Brown was then asked by the reporters why he had shifted his vote and his reply was: "I will give an entire explanation to the people at the proper time. A man in public service must be careful." The meeting adjourned until next Tuesday.

STOMACH TROUBLES DUE TO ACIDITY

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, water brash, flatulency, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as "hiccups," while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food, and such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a treatment of liquidated mucinase, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quart or a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acid in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a liquidated mucinase, which can be obtained from a druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being disturbed by gas and dangerous acids.—M. F. P.

OVERCOME BY THE HEAT

PROSTRATIONS IN BOSTON—WEDNESDAY NIGHT WARMEST ON RECORD FOR SEPTEMBER

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Another 24 hours of sustained heat with very little breeze, following as it did the hot weather and high humidity of Wednesday and the warmest September night in the history of the local weather bureau caused further suffering in Boston.

Yesterday there were seven prostrations in this city, one of them being that of an unidentified man who collapsed at the corner of Tremont and Pleasant streets.

One manufacturing plant, the Starford Glue Works, in Hyde Park, where 100 men are employed, closed at noon. As a matter of fact the weather yesterday was more comfortable than on the preceding day. The maximum temperature was 85 at noon and the humidity was only 64 at 5 a. m. and 93 at 5 p. m.

A TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

IN LAWRENCE—MILK DEALER MAY BE EXCLUDED FROM DELIVERING MILK IN THAT CITY

LAWRENCE, Sept. 4.—The board of health authorities are determined to take positive action in the hope of stopping the spread of typhoid fever cases in this city. Four more were reported, which makes a total of 20 in the past few weeks.

Included in the two cases reported yesterday are two families who receive milk from a dealer who has been supplying milk to nine families in the city. The dealer, who has been infected, has been excluded from delivering milk in that city.

This morning Chairman Harris of the board and Milk Inspector Tobin held a conference on the matter, and it was practically decided by them that if any more cases of typhoid fever are reported, which in any way are connected with the milk dealer, that he be excluded from delivering milk in this city.

KINGS WILL AID KAISER

R. W. BABSON THINKS FEAR OF REPUBLICS WILL LEAD THEM TO SAVE HIM FROM DOWNFALL

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Even if Emperor William should be defeated, he has still the means of securing liberal terms from the monarchial governments of Europe by the simple expedient of suggesting the spread of a possible republic in Germany. This is the opinion of Rorer W. Babson of Wellestey. He believes that all the royal rulers at present realize that the fall of the emperor might mean a wave of sentiment in favor of government by the people, and that to prevent the spread of a movement against monarchies they would be willing to make concessions to him and restore him to a measure at least of his former power.

"Members of these royal families who cannot be bullied, coerced or bribed," he said, "are absolutely panic-stricken at the thought of their monarchies falling into the hands of practical purposes go England, Belgium and some of the others are as good as republics now, but in their courts yet have tremendous privileges which they would not have under a republican form of government."

"In the case of nations like Russia and Austria the emperors still exercise real power which is wanted by the people. Hence in these countries the fear of a republic on the part of the ruling classes is even greater. Con-

BRITISH GUNBOAT SPEEDY

Went Down

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Additions to the official communication regarding the torpedo gunboat Speedy say:

The missing includes the skipper and four men of the Linsell. Two men were seriously injured.

The remainder of the crew of the Linsell had been picked up by the Speedy before the latter struck a second mine.

The Speedy was an old torpedo gunboat of 800 tons and prior to the declaration of war she was engaged on fishery protection.

This "additional information" relates to the torpedo gunboat Speedy.

Three young men were taking a delightful trip in the waters of the canal in the afternoon when the torpedo gunboat Speedy was sighted. It was all off with the swim then for the trio were hustled to the station, where complaints were made against them on the charge of trespassing.

This morning the young fellows appeared before Judge Enright and received a brisk lecture from His Honor on the matter of trespassing upon others' property. The cases against all three were filed as the company simply wanted this morning's procedure to stand as a lesson for the other young men in that district.

WAR REVENUE MESSAGE

Pres. Wilson Urges Legislation to Raise $100,000,000 to Meet Deficit Threatened by War

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—President Wilson personally addressed congress in joint session today urging legislation to raise $100,000,000 a year annual revenue through internal taxes to meet a treasury deficit threatened by the conflict in Europe.

The president told congress that he discharged a duty which he wished with all his heart he might have been spared but which he performed without hesitation or apology because of the danger in present circumstances to create a moment's doubt as to the strength and sufficiency of the treasury of the United States.

While the treasury, he said, could get along for a long period, he pointed out the peril of the government's withdrawing from the national banks approximately $15,000,000 of the treasury balance deposited there, advised against the government borrowing money or selling bonds which would make a "most untimely and unjustifiable demand upon the money market" and appealed to the intelligent and profoundly patriotic public to bear the burden of a special tax to meet the unforeseen emergency.

Congress listened attentively to the address. Immediately upon its conclusion the legislative machinery was set in motion to carry its recommendations into effect.

Chairman Underwood called a meeting of the ways and means committee to perfect an internal revenue measure tentatively drafted in preliminary conferences. A bill will be introduced as soon as possible.

SURRENDER OF PARIS CONSIDERED

GERMANS FORCING WAY INTO PARIS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The correspondent of The Times at Dieppe under Thursday's date indicates that the Germans are less than 25 miles from Paris. He says:

"All day yesterday the head of the wedge which now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-En-Valois. The cannonading broke windows in Chantilly, which is only 17 miles north of Paris. The Germans are also near Soissons."

Another despatch to The Times from Beauvais, 40 miles northwest of Paris, says the Germans entered Clermont, 35 miles from Paris, at seven o'clock Wednesday morning. At the same time their cavalry was operating around Beauvais.

SAYS VICTORY AT LEMBERG IS BEGINNING OF END

LONDON, Sept. 4.—8.20 a. m.—The Times correspondent in Petrograd sends the following under date of Thursday:

"Information telegraphed by the headquarters staff today encourages the hope that the victory at Lemberg is the beginning of the end. The retreat of such an enormous force, reliably estimated at eight army corps, taken in conjunction with the rout of the army which was to serve as a screen to their retreat already spells disaster, complete and overwhelming. Information obtained by the war office shows that the garrison has already been preparing positions at Grudek, 20 miles to the westward and on the railway to Pzemyśl."

GREAT GERMAN ARMY BEFORE PARIS FORTS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The great German army that has been smashing its way through the lines of the allies to the north of Paris has at last won its way to the forts that guard the French capital.

Already the guns that have been rumbling behind the cavalry and infantry are being set up in favorable positions to batter through the steel and concrete of the Paris forts just as they battered the strongholds of Liege and Namur.

Such is the general opinion held here despite the fact that no confirmation of fighting at the forts has as yet been received.

SAY RUSSIANS OCCUPY CZERNOWITZ

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 4.—The Secolo's Bucharest, Rumania, correspondent who is usually well informed, says the Russians have occupied Czernowitz, an eastern crownland of Austria-Hungary, without resistance, and are now marching southward from that city in the direction of Suczawa in the same province and near the Rumanian border.

PARIS REPORTS GERMANS CHECKED AT VERDUN

The statement adds: "The Germans have been checked at Verdun. The French are successful in Lorraine and the Vosges. The situation has not changed."

ZEPPELIN GREETED BY FUSILADE BY ANTWERP FORTS

ANTWERP, Sept. 4 (5 a. m., via Paris)—A Zeppelin airship appeared over the city at 3.55 o'clock this morning. It was greeted by a fusilade by the forts but it is not known what damage was inflicted.

CONFIDENCE PREVAILS IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—By Wireless via Sayville, Berlin is permanently decked with flags. Confidence prevails that nothing can stay the victorious advance of the western armies. Major Morab, the military expert of the Tagblatt, expects that the armies of Duke Albrecht and the crown prince will soon reach Chalons and Verdun, which can be easily masked without delaying the advance.

RUSSIANS DEFEATED 200,000 AUSTRIANS AT LEMBERG—IMPORTANT VICTORY

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4 a. m.—The Post's Petrograd correspondent wires according to these reports, opened the last stage of the week's conflict around Lemberg by a determined attack on the Russians between Kuhl, Lublin and Khmel. About 120 miles north of Russian territory the attacks failed and the Russians assumed the offensive. The Austrian army, retiring southward, received terrible punishment from the pursuing Russians.

The next day the Russian army moved forward along the whole 200 mile front to about 40 miles southeast of Lemberg. All along the line the Russians attacked vigorously and won the second Austrian army which was posted east of Lemberg broke and fled the Russians captured in the immediate vicinity of Lemberg another score of guns. The forward movement continued without interruption, the Austrians having entrenched in a strong position west of Lemberg at Goruck, 20 miles back.

Of the magnitude of the Russian victory before Lemberg there can be no question, the correspondent adds. The Austrian forces amounted to no less than 200,000 men with five hundred pieces of artillery. There were three complete army corps, the third, the 11th and 12th and parts of the fourteenth and seventh. An Austrian army corps on war footing it was explained is raised to three divisions of which the third is made up of reserves.

By this victory Russia has been put out of action a quarter of the total Austrian first line troops and captured nearly a quarter of the Austrian artillery besides commanding all roads leading from Galicia into Hungary. The Galicians warmly welcomed the Russian troops, according to the prisoners who also spoke of the terrible execution of the Russian artillery.

There are 300 men in this big hospital, to which they were taken so that they might be near their relatives.

The king and queen gave the most minute attention to the accommodations provided for the soldiers.

THE RUSSIAN OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION TELLS OF VICTORIES OVER AUSTRIANS

LONDON, Sept. 4, 1.15 a. m.—The Russian official communication issued here on Thursday and carried here by the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Petrograd, said:

"On Sept. 3 the Austrian troops tried to break through the Russian centre through Lublin and Kholm, but failed. They were forced to beat a hasty retreat. The Russians captured one enemy, eight maxims and 1000 prisoners."

"On the following day hard fighting was resumed with renewed energy. Prisoners taken by us report that the second Austrian army, constituting the covering force to the east of Lemberg, is perfectly panic-stricken."

"In the neighborhood of Lemberg on Sept. 2, 20 more guns were captured by the Russians, making a total of 170. On this front the Russian advance continues uninterruptedly."

RUSSIA CLAIMS COMPLETE DESTRUCTION OF AUSTRIAN ARMED FORCES IS NEAR

LONDON, Sept. 4, 4.07 a. m.—The Petrograd (St. Petersburg) correspondent of the Times in the report on the operations around Lemberg, says: "The forts of Lemberg have fallen and other Austrian armies have been engaged in northern Galicia near Lublin. We may yet have to chronicle the complete destruction of the dual monarchy's armed forces."

The operations extended over an enormous front of 200 miles and probably a million men were engaged. The Austrian extreme right sustained enormous losses, but the most terrible blow was dealt them by the gallant Russian army which, starting from Ravnin, moved thence toward the southwest, speaking fanwise so as to involve the region north and south of Lemberg, menacing the rear of the Lublin army and threatening to cut its communications.

"To parry this movement the Austrians transferred several army corps from the west side of the Vistula and moving them toward Lublin hurled them at Ruzsky."

"The result of this movement is chronicled in today's official bulletin of victory. The Austrians' desperate onslaught on Ruzsky's army has been attended with a whole series of disasters, notably the destruction of the sixth army corps at Lushoff."

GERMAN SOCIALISTS GIVEN LUKEWARM RECEPTION BY ITALIAN BROTHERS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4.15 a. m.—A Rome despatch to the Times says that when a delegation of German socialists came to Rome to explain to the Italian socialists their attitude in the present war they were received in a lukewarm manner by their Italian brethren. The Italian socialists adopted a motion protesting against the delegation whose mission they consider an insidious intrigue.

HEAVY CASUALTY SUFFERED BY THE COLDESTREAM GUARDS, SAYS CORRESPONDENT

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In reference to the heavy casualty suffered by the Coldestream Guards, a correspondent of the Telegraph states it is largely due to the fact that a company of the guards found themselves surrounded by Germans at night. When their position was revealed through a German officer's challenge the guards turned the maxims on the Germans and moved them down in great numbers. Before the Coldestream guards could be helped, however, they suffered heavily both in officers and in men.

SECRET BERLIN MEETING

Discussed Plans for Improvement of German Trade Abroad Long Before War Broke Out

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In an official statement the foreign office has made public a despatch from Sir Edward Goschen, formerly British ambassador at Berlin to Sir Edward Grey, the secretary for foreign affairs, dated at Berlin on February 27 last. The despatch, which is a report to the foreign office, tells of a secret meeting in Berlin a short time previously to discuss plans for the improvement of German trade abroad. Sir Edward Goschen says:

"A short time ago a meeting of which the secret was well kept was convened at the ministry of foreign affairs. The foreign secretary himself was present and the meeting was attended by members of the leading industrial concerns of this country such as the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg American S. S. companies, the Deutsche bank, the Allgemeine Electricitäts Gesellschaft, the Siemens and Halske and Schukert works and the Krupp and Cuzou works."

This meeting formed a private company for the purpose of furthering German industrial prestige abroad which is a conveniently vague purpose. The company will be financed by private subscription. The government will first grant a sum which was suggested as the necessary revenue. "The private subscriptions amounted to $62,500, but the delegates present at the first meeting were so enthusiastic that definite promises of annual subscriptions of $125,000 were made and the company promised to add $62,500 per annum."

"The company has entered into an agreement with the Agency Havas by which the latter will in the future only publish news concerning Germany if it is supplied through Wolff's telegraphic bureau. The latter will receive its German news exclusively from the new company."

"The company intends to make a similar arrangement with Reuters' telegraphic bureau for those foreign countries in which Reuters' controls telegraphic communication. If Reuters declines the Deutsche Kabelgesellschaft, a smaller German news agency which is supplying telegrams from certain countries such as Mexico, working in agreement with Wolff's telegraphic bureau is to be financed by the new company, which is to run a service in competition with Reuters."

DISCONTENT AMONG AUSTRIANS
LONDON, Sept. 4, 4.10 a. m.—A despatch to the Reuters Telegram Co. from Rome says that from private news which came across the Austrian frontier it appears that great discontent prevails among the Austrian troops of Slav nationality. Several cases of insubordination, it is said, have been suppressed by the shooting of those suspected of disloyalty, but a mutiny of some of the regiments is feared.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

Did some one say that Peplosid was in the same class of ball players as Del Howard? It must have been meant for a joke. Louis Plover knew what he was doing when he swapped Pep for Howard. The Haverhill second baseman is a good ball player all right but he has a lame leg which makes speed impossible for him. He knows the game thoroughly also but a glance at Howard's work is enough to convince one of the latter's superiority.

Tom Bright, one of the greatest gridiron stars which Exeter ever turned out, has decided to enter Harvard this fall. All of the larger colleges have been after this youngster. Bright is probably the greatest prep school athlete in the country.

Although Weaver allowed a dozen safe blows yesterday he was never really in danger until the last inning when he seemed to lose control completely with two men down. The crowd felt greatly relieved when he finally forced Bloor to lift a weak fly which was really gobbled up.

Doveaux, the new right fielder, connected with three hits, one of which was a triple, but he'll have to do more than that to convince us that he's a ball player. His style is of the most pronounced amateur. The way Doveaux goes after a fly ball is enough to give his teammates heart disease. At that the youngster may eventually be rounded into a ball player. If he can connect for three hits on each occasion we'll excuse a lot.

Down into second place tumbled the Braves yesterday after their short stay at the top of the National league heap. New York's double win over the Superbas and brilliant defeat of the Boston team did the trick. However, they're only a half game behind now. There'll be plenty of fun in these two games at Fenway park Monday.

Manager Gray is making his preparations for the pennant raising at the park next Monday afternoon. With Lawrence as an opponent the local ball yard ought to be well patronized on the holiday. This year's champions are sure to draw a tremendous crowd down river in the morning game.

If the Red Sox were not so far behind in the American league race—ten and a half games—their supporters might have received a few extra heart beats yesterday when the Black Sox fell twice before the onslaught of Carrigan's men. Joe Wood, while not as effective as on many previous occasions, handled the Athletics rather roughly in the second contest which ended with a 6-3 victory for the Bostonians.

That Walter Mohr-Franklin Mark beat at the Atlas A. A. next Tuesday night ought to be well worth attending. It is rated as the feature bout of an all-star show. The Brooklyn boxer is one of the cleverest lightweights in the country. The youngster who was seen in Boston in years.

tried out by the local club at the beginning of the season and who later broke his ankle while playing with Brooklyn in the Colonial league, is back in the game once more. Spraw has played remarkably good ball for the Colonials thus far and may receive a boost next year.

Chester Martel defeated Paul Posher in their ten string match last night at Kittredge's alleys. The Lowell roller was once a partner of Posher. Martel's advantage at the end of the ten string was 21 pins, the score standing 1054 to 1033. It was a mighty good rolling by both men.

CHAMPION RIFLEMAN
SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 4.—By winning the big divisional match yesterday with the high score of 326, Private C. C. Terry of the Marine Corps is the acknowledged champion rifleman of the eastern division, embracing 23 New England and North Atlantic states. The match, which consumed the entire day, was shot in seven stages—200, 300, 500, 600 and 1000 yards slow fire, and 200 and 300 rapid fire.

There were 116 men entered in the event. Second honors went to Sergeant Claude H. Cyde, Marine Corps, with 325, and third place was won by Corporal Archie Karvaburson, Marine Corps, with the same total score.

LAST OF WILD PIGEONS DEAD
Boston, Sept. 4.—Wiped out by the traps, not and guns of American hunters, the last survivor of the millions of wild pigeons that for years inhabited eastern United States has just died at the Zoological gardens at Cincinnati, according to an announcement made yesterday by T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies.

The vast flocks of these birds, which a generation ago were the ornithological wonder of the world, have entirely disappeared. The last one was a female, and was hatched in captivity 23 years ago.

CUMNOCK PARTY

Home From Europe—
Arrived in New York
on Chartered Liner

A. G. Cumnock, treasurer of the Appleton Mfr. Co., and Misses Eva and Grace Cumnock arrived home yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Mich., were members of the Cumnock party. Mr. Blodgett is a son-in-law of Mr. Cumnock. Mrs. Blodgett will arrive in Lowell this evening. Mr. Blodgett is credited with being responsible for the chartering of the steamship which brought him and several others back to this country.

The Cumnock party arrived in New York on the Italian liner Principeessa Mafalda, which sailed from Genoa during the latter part of August.

The chartering of the vessel was a very unusual transaction and the manner in which it was consummated is related as follows:

When Genoa began to fill with thousands of Americans, Consul General Jones obtained an option on several vessels which were lying in the port. He then called the State department for authority to pledge the credit of the United States to pay the charter price of the ships. One of these ships, privately financed, was able to get away, but no word came from Washington with reference to the others.

Crowds of Americans began to besiege the office of Dr. Jones, and pointed out what other governments were doing relative to the taking home of their citizens. But the fact remained that ships owners refused to allow their vessels to sail unless the United States government would guarantee the charter price. And that must be paid in gold before sailing.

Among the ships in the harbor of Genoa was the Principeessa Mafalda, for which the charter price was 3,000,000 francs to equal gold. There was a rumor that Italy might soon want the ship, and that if the Mafalda was to sail it must be at once.

It was at this juncture that Mr. Blodgett presented himself to the American consul general, urging him to retain his expiring option on the Mafalda, and he agreed to guarantee the United States against all liability on the contract and to personally raise the amount of 324,000 francs, or $184,600, and to pay it before the ship sailed. Consul General Jones immediately executed the contract and accepted Mr. Blodgett's guarantee, and this is said to have been a contract and guarantee unique in maritime history, in which an individual pledged himself to secure a government against responsibility in the taking of its own citizens to its shores.

BOWLING ALLEYS

H. C. Kittredge Opens
New Establishment to Tremendous Crowd

One of the most elaborate dedications of an amusement resort which this city has ever seen was held yesterday afternoon in the Tyler block at the corner of Central and Market streets when Kittredge's alleys were thrown open to the Lowell public. In spite of the hot weather, which rendered bowling a feat for the hardy, the new establishment was jammed to the doors until the lights were extinguished late in the evening.

The Lowell sporting public turned out in unprecedented numbers to look over the new bowling-emporium of Harry C. Kittredge which has just been completed. The sixteen alleys were far too small a number to accommodate those who wished to try the speed of the polished floors.

Paul Posher and his wife, both of them bowlers with national reputations, were at the alleys both afternoon and evening and this feature was an added impetus to the interest in the new amusement plant.

Floral plants and other potted plants as well as the presence of Keith's orchestra gave all the outward appearances of a veritable garden party. The excellent lighting system and the coolness of the two stories occupied by Kittredge's alleys caused by the number of windows further rendered the scene unique for such an establishment.

Everything connected with the new amusement plant is complete. Not a single detail has been neglected by Mr. Kittredge in his attempt to provide Lowell with a modern bowling equipment. The latest innovations of the Brunswick people have been installed and it is safe to say that a more complete set of alleys cannot be found in any locality.

The attendance of so many people at the opening of Kittredge's alleys yesterday shows conclusively that the Lowell public likes the bowling game provided that it can have the use of the best alleys in the land.

The exhibition given by Paul Posher of Boston and Chester Martel of this city, in the evening was watched with great enthusiasm by the crowd. In fact even standing room was at a premium while the two well known rollers were knocking down the candle pins. In the afternoon Mrs. Posher and Mr. Hinde of this city gave an exhibition roll which was also productive of much interest. Both exhibitions were of ten strings.

The new alleys will be of particular worth to business men in the downtown district. Situated within a stone's throw of Merrimack Square Kittredge's new amusement establishment can be easily reached without loss of time. If yesterday's opening is any criterion, the new alleys will prove a very popular institution this winter.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The Lowell Nest of Owls, No. 1255 held their regular meeting in their quarters in Elys hall, Middle street, last evening. The meeting which was largely attended was presided over by President J. E. MacCallum. Business of importance was transacted and several propositions for membership received.

Thomas E. Boucher, chairman of the board of auditors, submitted a report of the financial condition of the Nest. The report included important changes in the accounting system.

C. F. Harrington reported as chairman of the entertainment committee, that the dance and social held recently at Thomas Talbot hall, North Hill street, was most successful.

Vice-President R. J. Flynn, chairman of the grand union committee of the Merrimack Valley Nest of Owls, reported that arrangements were nearing completion for the grand outing and field day which is to be held under the auspices of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill Nests. Prominent Owls from all parts of New England have signified their intention of attending the outing. Nona but members will be admitted to the grounds. On this occasion, a great boom for the order will be launched.

Industry Council, No. 8, B. & A. Industry Council, No. 8, Royal Arcanum held a meeting last evening in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street. A proof of death was read on the late brother, George Fairbairn for payment.

During the meeting the members stood in silence for three minutes while the organist played "Nearer, My God, to Thee" in respect to the late brother.

After the business session, whist was played and refreshments served and a jolly good time was had. Brother Trindler of Dorchester was a guest at the meeting and renewed many old acquaintances.

Plans are under way for the starting of a bowling league, and it is proposed to have five teams enter the league. The bowling league was a decided success last year but it is the opinion of the members that this year's tournament will be even better.

A minstrel troupe which will be known to the world as "Jackson's Troubadours" has been formed, and they are arranging for a minstrel show to be held in the near future.

ITCHING BURNING SKIN ERUPTION

On Neck, Face, Shoulders and Back.
Could Get No Sleep, Clothing Irritated, Felt as In a Fire, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

P. O. Box 107, Gardner, Mass.—"First there were little red spots on my skin, growing red and large very rapidly, my neck, face, shoulders and back being affected. Then there was itching which caused scratching, then came the burning. My face was horrid looking. I could get no sleep. The large sores forming burst awfully and my clothing would irritate the sores. I always felt as in a fire. I had the trouble for two years.

"I had heard so much of Cuticura Soap and Ointment I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Ointment. It was marvelous. They would stop the burning almost instantly, with great relief and soon the trouble disappeared. I was cured." (Signed) J. A. Brusseau, Mar. 13, 1914.

Assisted by Cuticura Ointment, it is most valuable in the treatment of eczema, measles and other itching, burning skin eruptions. LUCK DECIDES PENNANT RACE

A little imagination will enable any dreamy fan in any of our cities to fly the National league flag, at present. What is popularly described as "one of the greatest races in baseball" history is now on, contributing more or less toward cold suppers for the housewife and hot times for the handbook men.

By "the greatest race" etc., is meant merely an uncertain one. As it stands now, four clubs are in such a state of non-championship development that it's hard to tell which will lose.

Expert informants have it that the "team that gets the breaks" will fly the flag; in other words, any club will be lucky to win!

Put four lumps of sugar on the window sill and then put a bet down on the one you think will first tempt the festive fly to alight. That's the way the National league championship race looks to the naked eye.

However, there's still hope for excitement. There's ever a chance for a strong finish in a chess championship.

Nevertheless the National race is exciting far more attention than the American league procession, in which a really and truly one-hat-hot club is playing—the Athletics. The situation reduces to this:

That there may be more class in the American league, but as a race it's a joke. After all, it's more exciting to see a nose finish between selling places than a parade by thoroughbreds.

53 KILLED IN RIOT

Aboard German Steamship—Passengers and Crew Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A riot aboard the German steamship Bluecher, at anchor in the harbor of Pernambuco, Brazil, in which three of the Bluecher's crew and 50 of her 800 steerage passengers were killed, was described yesterday by passengers aboard the Brazilian steamship Sao Paulo, upon her arrival here from Brazilian ports, whence she sailed at the commencement of the European war.

The Bluecher was bound from Buenos Aires for Hamburg, under the German flag, when Germany and England went to war. Upon learning that war had been declared, the Bluecher put back to Pernambuco. She had aboard, the Sao Paulo's passengers asserted, several million dollars for London and 500 Spaniards and Portuguese in the steerage.

Capt. Cyro della Amica, the Sao Paulo's commander, says the trouble began with an anti-German demonstration by Spanish and Portuguese against the Bluecher's crew. This was resisted, and the ship's butcher, a German, attacked one of the leaders of the demonstration. The German was killed and the other German members of the crew seized arms and began firing. A fearful hand-to-hand fight ensued. The captain of the Bluecher summoned the Pernambuco police, who fired right and left.

Many of the rioters jumped overboard and were drowned. The police did not thoroughly quell the trouble until reinforced by cadets from the Brazilian training ship Benjamin Constant.

The cadets were still in charge of the Bluecher, Capt. della Amica said, when the Sao Paulo sailed. There were nine German ships at anchor in Pernambuco.

ARRIVED ON THE ARABIC

NIECES OF MR. O'BRIEN OF THIS CITY RETURN FROM TOUR OF IRELAND UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Among the passengers who arrived on the steamship Arabic from Europe yesterday were Sister Mary William, O. S. D., and Sister Constance, O. S. D., the former of St. Francis de Sales convent, Charlestown, Mass., and the latter of West Lynn. Both nuns are nieces of Monsignor William O'Brien, P. R., of this city and had been visiting the houses of the Dominican order in Ireland. They had intended to return to this country somewhat earlier but experienced the trouble of all tourists in securing passages.

PLAN TO AID JEWS

Still in Europe—Conference of Leaders of Zionists Movement to Be Held Late This Month

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Following the announcement yesterday that Louis D. Brandeis had accepted the offer of the Hebrew Zionists to become the leader of the movement to protect Zionist activity throughout the world, which has been considerably disturbed by the European war, and to take steps to relieve distress of unprotected Jews of Europe, some of the most prominent Jews of Greater Boston arranged for a conference of representatives of all Jewish organizations of Massachusetts to launch a nation-wide campaign among all classes of Jews, to relieve the distress of the Hebrews affected by the war.

The conference will probably be held on Thursday, Sept. 24. The leading American Zionists are expected to attend. Among them will be Dr. Schneur Zalman, a former member of the Russian Duma, who is a member of the Inner Action Zionist committee of Berlin.

STALLINGS HAS THEORY

Most managers believe more or less in working left-handed batters, especially outfielders, against right-handed pitchers as much as possible and as little as possible against southpaws, but with George Stallings this idea has become an obsession. The Stallings theory is: "Don't let a left hand hitting outfielder on the ball field when a left-handed pitcher is working." He has played his cards along these lines persistently while the Braves bobbed about in the cellar, and with the club catapulting out of last place to the first division, he has still played his hand with great results. From the zealousness with which Stallings urges his southpaw hitters to show in clearing off the field of action when left-handed pitchers begin to trudge toward the mound, many of the Braves players believe that their boss has developed superstition along his theory lines.

ASQUITH MAKES APPEAL

Premier Spoke With Great Emotion in Guildhall—Urged Britons to Rally to Colors

LONDON, Sept. 4, 1.15 p. m.—In the historic guildhall of London Premier Asquith today started the crusade, to stimulate enlistment under the British flag, which he intends to push throughout the country. He is calling upon every able-bodied Briton of military age to come to the help of his country in the hour of need.

The premier opened his address with the heartening announcement that up to today between 250,000 and 300,000 recruits had responded to the call of Lord Kitchener, the secretary of war.

Speaking with great emotion, the premier called attention to the fact that it was just three and one-half years ago that he had spoken in the guildhall on the occasion of the decision of the two English-speaking nations of the world to settle their differences by arbitration without resorting to armaments.

"No one was then sanguine enough to think, or even hope, that the era of war was at end," the premier continued. "But no one anticipated such a terrible spectacle as confronts us today at a time when we thought we were confident in the security of peace. We know that ourselves involved with the whole strength of this empire in a bloody arbitrament of might versus right that has been entered into with clear judgment and a clear conscience," the premier declared. "What would have been our place among the nations if we had been base enough or so paralyzed in our sense of honor and duty to be false to our word and faithfulness to our friends? We should have been standing with folded arms and with such countenance as we could command while the siege of Louvain and the terrible spectacle of Belgium's defense against overwhelming forces."

Continuing, Premier Asquith detailed the heroic efforts of the Belgian forces, he mentioned the siege of Louvain and enumerated countless outrages on the part of what he termed "barbaric adventurers." He declared that the greatest crime against civilization was the sacking of Louvain.

"This," he continued, "was performed by blind barbaric vengeance. Sooner than

SNEEZERS IN CONVENTION AT BETHLEHEM, N. H., PROPOSE A BILL TO KILL THEM

BETHLEHEM, N. H., Sept. 4.—Legislative action against the sneeze as it prevails in its most obnoxious form in Massachusetts and New Hampshire was urged vehemently by the 41st annual meeting of the United States Hay Fever association yesterday afternoon at Methodist Episcopal church.

If the legislature of the two states follow the program suggested, there will be a campaign against sneezes and sneezers which will be as strenuous as that of eradicating the fly or eliminating the pestiferous mosquito.

As the first step the association will have the authorities begin an unrelenting battle for the destruction of such noxious weeds as the daisy, wild carrot, ragweed, devil's thistle, and the golden rod which has had its advocates as a national floral emblem will not be spared. That, too, has no particular beauty to those who view it with tears in their eyes—the tears caused by excessive sneezing. The golden rod must go with the rest.

Ready for Official Action

Everything is in readiness for official action in the Bay state. Dr. Martin C. Burrows of Lynn has a bill which will make it possible. The measure was brought to the attention of the legislature last year, but was not reported out by the committee on agriculture. An extra indentment was given by the association for the proposed law today and a request was drawn asking for its early passage. A law will be asked in New Hampshire similar to that already passed by Michigan.

The terrors of hay fever will be brought home vividly not only to the 200,000 sufferers in the United States, but to 20,000,000 other persons who are prospective victims. This will be accomplished by means of moving pictures. Three film firms which reach all corners of the globe have agreed to throw upon their screens the silent drama advertising the work accomplished by the association.

Ragweed Viewed With Alarm

Percy F. Jerome of New York, secretary of the association, in his report stand aside we would see this country of ours blotted out from the pages of history."

Continuing, the British prime minister made the declaration that the invasion of Belgium was the first step in a greater policy to crush the freedom and autonomy of the free states of Europe.

He then paid a compliment to the policy of Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary.

Reviewing the incidents leading up to the war he declared that one power and one power only was responsible for the war, and that power was Germany.

The premier praised France and Russia as two great powers who did not mean to separate themselves from Great Britain any more than Great Britain meant to separate herself from them.

The premier made the declaration that his object was to impress on the people the imperative urgency of this supreme duty.

Referring to affairs at home, the premier declared, that since the order of mobilization had been given between 250,000 and 300,000 recruits have been secured.

As to the progress of the war, the premier declared that in his judgment in whatever direction he looked there was abundant grounds for pride and comfort. "I will not say more," he said, "because I think we should have in mind that we are at the present time watching the fluctuations of fortune in the early stages of what is going to be a protracted struggle."

The meeting came to an end with speeches by Bonar Law, leader of the Unionist party in the house of commons, and former Premier Balfour.

Mr. Law declared that the key to peace or war had been in Berlin for nearly a generation. The head of the German movement had merely to whisper the word "Peace" and there would have been no war. He did not speak that word but drew the sword and may the accused system for which he stood perish by it.

Mr. Balfour said that Great Britain and Ireland had been in a position of honor and interests could not be divorced and because of a nation which strove for great power but which was utterly ignorant how to use it.

emphasized the constantly growing interest in hay fever, its prevention and cure. Twenty-four new products for curative purposes have been brought to his attention during the past year and all have been investigated thoroughly.

An especial protest was made by those who attended against the spreading of the rumors of the plant being destroyed by hay fever sufferers through the use of baited hay, and it was pointed out that a particularly objectionable feature was the scattering of the seed of the plant along railroad tracks while it was being transported.

Among immune places the following have been reported favorably by the committee: Deadwood, S. D.; Highmont, Pa.; Catskill, N. Y., altitude 2500 feet; Eagles Nest, N. C., altitude 5050 feet; Highby Camp, Adirondacks; Chautauque, N. Y., altitude 1400 feet; Port Carling, Muskoka Lakes; Mt. Desert Island, Oseton club, Adirondacks, where a banishment of hay fever sufferers is projected.

The officers for the coming year are: President, the Rev. Guy Robert of Bethlehem; vice-president, William N. Patterson of New York; secretary-treasurer, P. F. Jerome of New York.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Miss Jennie L. Minard, a postal service substitute clerk, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshals Ruhl and Tighe on a complaint of Postoffice Inspector Hall, charging her with secreting and embezzling a letter containing $50. The letter was addressed to Miss Maude Henry, Variety Theatre, San Francisco, Cal.

The defendant was arraigned before Commissioner Hayes, pleaded not guilty and was held under $500 for a hearing Sept. 8. Her father, Percy L. Minard, furnished bail.

Miss Minard is 22 years old, and has been employed by the government since Dec. 31, 1912, as substitute clerk in sub-stations in the Boston postal district. She has lately been employed at station 97, Miss Minard lives at 579 Columbia road, Dorchester, and is said to be the first woman in the employ of the postal service to be arrested for stealing from the mails.

SALEM RELIEF FUND

HARD TO DECIPHER—LOWELL COMMITTEE CANNOT FIND OUT WHERE LOWELL STANDS

Without criticising the doings of the Salem relief fund committee, it seems that the members of the said committee have a very poor way of doing business, or at least it seems that way, according to a reply to Patrick O'Hearn, treasurer of the local committee, who wrote the treasurer of the Salem committee asking him to let him know just how Lowell stood with other cities as to the amounts donated the sufferers.

At the last meeting of the Lowell committee it was voted that the treasurer write the treasurer of the Salem committee, asking him how Lowell stood with other cities of the commonwealth for the local committee felt that Lowell having sent over $10,000 must be pretty near the top of the list. Mr. O'Hearn wrote and the reply was as follows:

Aug. 26, 1914.
Patrick O'Hearn, Esq., 282 Riverside street, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir:

In Mr. Lane's absence I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated Aug. 25 and enclosed check for $250.39. I know that the committee will be very grateful to you for this additional subscription.

Not being able to answer your question in regard to the amount subscribed by other cities in Massachusetts, this is because the cities did not hold back their subscriptions until they were complete but sent them gradually—the city of Worcester, for instance, sent a contribution almost every day. It would be a tremendous task to go through the books and pick out the various subscriptions from the cities in Massachusetts and add them together. I think you will appreciate this position.

Very truly yours,
Paul Garland,
Secretary to Gardner M. Lane.

Commissioner Brown of the finance department has this morning appointed the precinct officers for the coming election. The commissioner informed the writer there is practically no change with last year's list for all those who served in the last election have been reappointed. However a few changes will have to be made for some of the men appointed have changed wards since the election and cannot serve in any other ward but that in which they reside.

Mayor Invited

Mayor Murphy has received an invitation to attend the convention of the League of American Municipalities, which will be held at Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1 and 2. The letter was sent by the city clerk of Milwaukee, P. P. Leach and in it he states that the city has experiments stations showing the various systems of sewerage and that the city has just been put into operation and are educational for city officials who desire to see them.

High School Annex

The new high school annex in Kirk street will not be ready for occupancy for the opening of the fall term on Sept. 14. Sept. Francis A. Connor of the public property department stated this morning that the place will not be ready until the first of October. He said this will not interfere with the school for special classrooms will be arranged in the hall of the main high school building pending the opening of the new building.

Chelmsford Street Hospital

On Monday the employees of the Chelmsford street hospital will start the harvesting of corn and the superintendent, Martin Conley, reports that this year's crop is the best for years. He estimates that about 150 tons of corn will be housed and he allows that that is going some.

The attendance at the hospital is by far the largest for this time of the year than in any other previous year. There are now 414 inmates in the hospital and the women are so numerous that a ward which has been closed for the past ten years will be opened this fall. New beds and other pieces of furniture will be purchased for the fitting up of this ward. This was the old ward occupied by insane women and when the law forced the city to remove its insane patients in 1904, the ward was closed. Mr. Conley says if there is no change in the present condition the hospital will be overtaxed before the snow flies, and he does not know how the inmates will be accommodated. Only 550 can be comfortably taken care of and the superintendent fears this number will be reached before a great while.

Chauveurs

Examiners Bowen and Hubbell of the state highway commission came to Lowell this morning and they were kept very busy for no less than 20 applicants for chauveurs' licenses were examined.

To Enlarge Plant

The United States Carriage Co. has been granted a permit for the erection of an addition to its boiler plant in Lawrence street. The building will be of wood with cement foundation and floor and will cost about $100.

MILLIONAIRE IS SUED

SAILORS HELD—ALLOWED TO DESERT WITHOUT REFERENCE TO IMMIGRATION LAWS

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Seven members of crews of two British steamships engaged in transatlantic passenger service to the port of Boston, were taken in custody by United States authorities yesterday to be held as witnesses against the captains of the vessels, against whom the federal government has brought charges of violation of the immigration laws.

One of the seven was a cook, another a steward. The other five were seamen. They arrived here on Aug. 3 and Aug. 17, after Great Britain had declared war on Germany, and were not anxious to return on their ships for fear they would be taken prisoners of war.

According to Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Daniel A. Shea, who represents the government in the case, they informed their captains they were anxious to leave their ships and were told they would be marked as deserters if they did. They were willing to do this, and the captains, the government alleges, instead of having the aliens examined and admitted by the immigration authorities, simply allowed them to land as a result the captain of each vessel is liable to a fine of $1000 for each alien allowed to land in this way.

Dist. Atty. Shea declined to give the names of the captains or their vessels. It is the intention of the government to place the captains under arrest when they return to this country, their vessels now being in foreign ports.

Since they were allowed to leave their ships and land here, the seven aliens have been in the custody of the German consul, and most of them have been working. Some said they had been ridiculed when it was learned they were Germans and had to leave their places of employment because of the humiliation they were forced to undergo. In public places, too, they said, they were humiliated because they were Germans.

Yesterday afternoon the seven were brought before Commissioner Hayes and through Interpreter Ferri Weiss were told why they were being held. As there was no one to furnish bail for them they were all ordered to the East Cambridge jail. Deputy U. S. Marshal Cameron, who, by the way, is a former British soldier himself, took the party to the jail in an automobile.

They will receive $1 a day while they are held, and will be given all the liberties possible. The $1 a day will be more than some received on board ship.

When they were told they had to go to jail they looked at each other with dismay, but smiled pleasantly when Mr. Weiss told them they were not going as criminals. One of the first things they wanted to know was if they could have the daily papers.

"We want to know how the Kaiser and Franz Josef are doing," said one of them in fairly good English.

They were told they couldn't have the daily papers, but might have all the weeklies and magazines they wanted. This pleased them and they went over to the jail in a happy frame of mind. Commissioner Hayes told them they would be better off in jail than if they went home, for then they would be put in the German army and might be shot. Every one of them shook his head and remarked patriotically that

NEW HAMPSHIRE TOWN

To Benefit By Will—Trust Funds Provided Also By the Late John A. Gale

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The will of John A. Gale of 226 Bancroft street, Brookline, was filed in Dedham yesterday. Gale was killed about ten days ago while automobile riding with Samuel W. McCall, republican candidate for governor. Gale's will provides that the bulk of his property be left to his family with the exception of a bequest of $2000 to the trustees of the Newton (N. H.) library and $500 for the First Christian church of Newton, N. H.

The will provides that the Gale residence, all household effects and personal property, including a $1000 legacy, be left to Mrs. Gale. Another portion of the estate was left in trust to the testator's daughter, Mrs. Jennie Mabel Barnum, and her husband, Geo. M. Barnum, Jr., and Joseph E. Denigrow of Winchester, as trustees and executors. The will contains one personal bequest which directs that the income of a trust fund of $25,000 shall be paid to George M. Barnum, Jr., as long as he lives, and continue to be the legal husband of the testator's daughter. In the event of Barnum's death or the dissolution of the marriage between Barnum and the testator's daughter, the income is to be paid to Mrs. Barnum and then to the testator's granddaughter.

The income of a trust fund of $25,000 is to be divided between the granddaughter and the granddaughter's children for 21 years, when the fund shall stop and the money be equally divided.

The residue of the estate is to be held in trust for Mrs. Gale and her daughter. If either one should die, the income is to revert to the other, and if both die the remainder is to be given to the two granddaughters of the testator, Margaret Gale Barnum and Elizabeth Barnum or any other grandchildren.

MUTE REFUGEE HELD UP

THIRTY TIMES AS A SPY—TEXAS MAN ON DUTCH FREIGHTER HAD ROUGH EXPERIENCE

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Every one of the 12 passengers who arrived at this port yesterday on the Dutch freighter Soesdijk, from Rotterdam, told a story of hardship while within the war areas of Europe, and the most disagreeable experiences related were those undergone by Eugene Bremond, Jr., of Austin, Tex. Bremond is a deaf mute, and this affliction made the military authorities especially suspicious that he was a spy and that his inability to hear, readily understand and answer their questions was shamming.

Through the help of one of his fellow passengers, who understood and translated the deaf and dumb language, Bremond said: "I guess that I was held up 30 times in the different European cities. Because I couldn't speak the people thought I was only bluffing and arrested me as a spy."

Cruelty a Habit
"Cruel treatment was just a habit over there. My passports were taken from me on several occasions. At the police stations where I was taken I was laughed at when I tried to explain that I was deaf and dumb. "I had difficulty while in France, where I was arrested a number of times as a spy. On entering the country I was held up by the authorities who questioned me. When I could not answer they took me to the police station as a German spy. When I produced papers and letters proving that I was both deaf and dumb the officers only laughed at me.

"On another occasion, I was arrested three times in one day on the same charge, of course.

Freud by American Consul
John Manjokas of Philadelphia had the same experience of being arrested as a spy. Manjokas was sent to jail to await trial as a French spy, while in Tilsit, Germany, but after three days' imprisonment was released on complaint of the American consul.

"I was making my way out of Tilsit," said Manjokas, "when I was arrested as a spy. My passports were taken from me at the police station and amidst the jeers and insults of the crowd was hurried to jail to await trial as a French spy. I tried to explain that I was an American, but my mouth was quickly closed by the hand of one of the guards who struck me. For three days I lived on hard bread and water given to me twice a day.

Benjamin Zinnson of New York was arrested in France as a spy, but was identified as an American and allowed to go.

Forever Getting Arrested
M. P. Bockweldt of Guldvari's Island had many exciting experiences while in the war zone. "I was forever getting arrested," he said, "but I guess that was nothing more than a habit over there, because everybody was getting arrested. I lost my passports in France and had considerable trouble getting new ones. I was half-starved all of this time. The people of France are panic stricken. There is no food there.

Charles Snow of Washington, D. C., described his experiences in the war zone as terrible. "There are hundreds of others who have gone through more than I have," he said, "but, believe me, I don't want to go through it again. I lost about everything I owned and was held up for two weeks in France. The people there are panic stricken. The people are starving; there is no food at all."

W. P. Dickey of 15 Everett street, Cambridge, was the only Bostonian aboard the Soesdijk. After his trunk had been inspected Dickey started on a run from the wharf.

"I had some tough times," he said, "and I'm the happiest boy in the world to be back in dear old Boston."

"Make for 15 Everett street, Cambridge, driver with all speed. I'm going to give the folks a surprise."

O'Sullivan Says:

What do you think of the war? This is a question you are often asked and you yourself are apt to ask. It is a conflict of such gigantic proportions without any precedent in magnitude that no disinterested critic has yet ventured an answer except by deductions. That its losses will ultimately entail tremendous hardships upon the masses of the people of the nations involved, there is little difference of opinion; and that the benefits to the agricultural and manufacturing industries of a neutral nation like ours must be tremendous is generally conceded.

Made in U. S. A. is the password for American goods and, though the Merrimack Clothing company never handled imported goods, we are glad to endorse the password and pass it along.

This week we are showing new fall goods in every department as you can see by our window display and the opening prices are made sufficiently attractive to encourage early buying—for instance you will notice in our Ladies' department the quality of the suits priced from $15 to $35 and in the Men's department the suits priced $15 and $20.

On Men's Blue Serge Suits we've put a steam roller price of $9.50 on all hand made Rough-riider Blue Serge suits that will stand up against anything that you will see in Lowell for $12.50. This suit has got all hand made buttonholes and a hand felled collar and is a good weight all wool serge. It hasn't a barrel of flour in each trouser pocket but it has our guarantee of "your money back" if it doesn't give you satisfaction.

We're making a strong bid for your hat business this fall. It seems as though everyone so far is buying a $3.00 hat, but the layout at $2.00 in soft felt hats and stiff derbys is the strongest we ever made. All our goods are marked with the purpose of paying you well for the few extra steps you take to get to the Merrimack.

TWO SMALL FIRES TODAY

Two local fires occurred this morning within a few minutes of each other. Neither of them, however, caused very much damage.

At 10:01 the central fire station was notified by telephone that a fire had broken out in the dwelling at 23 Liberty street and several pieces of apparatus were dispatched to the scene at once. A child had accidentally set fire to a trunk full of clothing in the second story of the building and the flames had begun to shoot up through the roof when the firemen arrived. The blaze was put out in short order as the partitions of the building remained intact.

The other alarm was rung in from box 215. A kettle of boiling fat became ignited at 48 Elm street but practically no damage was caused for the firemen extinguished the flames in a very few minutes with the chemicals.

STAR SPANGLED BANNER

G. A. R. HEAD ASKS COMRADES TO PROVE ON USE OF NATIONAL AIR IN MEDLEYS

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 4.—A plea for the perpetuation of "The Star Spangled Banner" as the American national air, without alloy, was made fervently by Washington Gardner, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, in his address before the 48th national encampment of that organization yesterday.

He urged the old soldiers to join in a movement to pay special honor to this song, and to discountenance the practice of playing it in medley with such "flippant and comparatively meaningless ditties" as "Yankee Doodle" and "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home." He said there was something inspiring in an audience rising and standing uncovered at the majestic strains of the national anthem, but it was "incongruous, bordering even on the ludicrous," for the band to strike up some other national air in medley with this, and to observe the audience resume sitting in "an irregular, half-ashamed manner." It was better not to rise at all when the national hymn is played in medley, he said.

With the spectacular feature of the encampment virtually concluded, the selection of a city for next year's rally ground occupied a great deal of the aged veterans' attention yesterday. Much sentiment was manifested in favor of Washington, D. C. It was argued that the nation's capital would be a fitting place for the next encampment because 1915 will mark the 50th anniversary of the close of the Civil war and of the grand review of the armies of the north before President Lincoln. The meeting place will not be definitely decided upon, however, until today or tomorrow.

Aside from Commander-in-Chief Gardner's address, yesterday's program was given up to routine business, including reports of committees and national officers.

The Women's Relief corps elected officers. There were several spirited contests. Mrs. Sarah E. Fulton of Rochester, N. Y., was made president. The report of Oscar A. James of Detroit, adjutant general of the Grand Army of the Republic, showed that: "On Jan. 1, 1913, there were 180,213 members in good standing in the organization, and on Jan. 1, 1914, there were 171,335, a net loss of 8,878 members, as against a loss of 11,119 for the previous year. The loss on account of death is 11,187, which is 161 less than a year ago."

Reinstatements in membership and new members during the last year made the annual decrease in membership much less than that of the previous year.

Mrs. Essie A. Bowser of Indianapolis was elected president of the apolls was elected president of the Daughters of Veterans auxiliary. The United States Veteran Signal Association has elected George Carr Romel, Manassas, Va., president.

Fourth Edition NEWELL F. PUTNAM FIRED BY COUNCIL

Commissioner George H. Brown sprang a big surprise at a special meeting of the municipal council this morning, when he moved to discharge Supt. Newell F. Putnam of streets and highways, his motion being sustained by Mayor Murphy and Commissioner Morse. What caused the surprise was the fact that at the beginning of the Putnam hearing Commissioner Brown presented a motion asking that the charges against Supt. Putnam be dismissed. At the conclusion of the meeting Commissioner Brown was asked by the newspapermen how he accounted for his action and his reply was:

"I will give an entire explanation to the people at the proper time. A man in public service must be careful." The mayor announced the purpose of the special meeting, saying it was to act on an order from the clerk of the superior court to draw eight travelers jurors for the September sitting of the criminal superior court, and Commissioner Morse was appointed to draw the names from the box. The following names were drawn:

John J. Green, 25 Bartlett street, laborer.

NORTH POMONA

Grange Opened its Fall Session in This City This Morning

The 1914 fall session of the Middlesex North Pomona grange was auspiciously opened this morning at 11 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall in Bridge street. Grange Master A. G. Sutherland was the presiding officer. After the regular routine business had been transacted, the meeting was taken over by Mrs. Nettie O. Wilson, the grange lecturer. The morning subject, "What effect will the European war have on business in the United States?" was opened for discussion by Lewis MacBrayne, and the following ones, prominent in agricultural life, spoke on the subject: George "Trull" of Tewksbury, E. P. Dickerson of Billerica, L. W. Wheeler of Westford, and Mrs. Margaret Wright of Billerica. After quite a lengthy debate in which every point pro and con had been carefully weighed it was decided that the war will have a very beneficial effect on business in the United States. The speakers were loudly applauded at the close of their remarks. At the close of the arguments all repaired to the lower hall, where a hearty repast, prepared by the ladies of the Westford grange, was awaiting them. After dinner the time was spent enjoyably in whist and games until 2:15, when the afternoon program was opened by Lecturer Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. Charles W. Kimball of Littleton was the first speaker called upon and he took for his subject, "Is there a brighter outlook in store for the farmer?" His talk was in part as follows:

"There are certain indications that unmistakably show that the farmer has good grounds for believing that in spite of disastrous seasons and disappointments a brighter day is dawning for those who seek their livelihood through the pursuit of agriculture. And one of the first of these is the fact that people in general, and business men in particular, are beginning to see the important part that the farmer plays in our great industrial system of today."

"At the recent convention of the bankers of this country held in the city of Boston, one of the most important topics discussed was that of agriculture and it was ably handled by Mr. James J. Hill, the maker of the great northwest, and the late president of the Northern Pacific railroad. Now I do not remember all he said, but this statement I do recall: 'Nearly all our wealth, with the exception of a small amount from the mines and the sea, comes from the soil, and we all know that large and abundant crops mean volumes of business for other lines of trade. In fact it is a well known axiom, that when our farmers are busy and prosperous, there is no stagnation in business and little idleness in our mills and factories.'"

"Again the back to the land movement, or as some say, perhaps more accurately, the forward to the land

Fred Lake and his Manchester hopes, who while they are not shining much this year, according to their grandpa are going to be some team next season, descended upon Spalding park this afternoon for a battle with the Grays, lately strengthened by a raw recruit in the person of "Pooch" Donovan, not the famous short distance athlete but a much younger person possessed it would appear from his debut, with a wallop.

Considerable interest was taken in Capt. Sweat of the Manchester team as a result of the rumor that Tom Fleming, the old Lowell manager, who is scouting for the Federal league, was looking after Sweat. The captain with the hot name doesn't know anything about the report.

The lineup was as follows:

Lowell	Manchester
Sweeney, cf	2b, Sweat
McCluskey, 2b	cf, Kane
Fahy, 3b	rf, Reed
Stimpson, lf	1b, Ostergren
Dee, ss	as, Torpey
Kelly, 1b	3b, Spire
Donovan, rf	c, Kilhullen
Wacob, c	p, King
King, p	lf, Scanlon

At the outset Empire Doherty announced a double-header here tomorrow, first game at 2 o'clock. The crowd was not large.

First Inning

Kelly took Sweat's high foul fly. Fahy came inside and took Kane's slow roller, throwing the Manchester center field out at first by a fraction of a stride. Stimpson was waiting for Reed's high fly in left and Lowell went to bat. No runs, no hits, no errors. For Lowell, King was wild and passed Sweeney on four pitched balls. McCluskey hit sharply to Sweat and Sweeney was forced at second. Mac's speed preventing a double-play. McCluskey stole second on the first ball pitched. Fahy singled between Spire and Torpey. McCluskey going to third. Fahy went to second while Ostergren fielded Stimpson's grounder and made the put-out himself. Mac was held at first. Dee doubled along the first base foul line scoring both Mac and Fahy. Kelly kept up the good work with a single to left and Dee scored. Kelly making second on the throw in. After waiting for three balls movement, has served to interest large numbers of people in farming who would have never considered the idea of seeking a livelihood from agricultural pursuits. As to the farmer in politics or the farmer vote there is no one today who dares to enter a political contest where the constituency is made up wholly or in part of the farming element, without taking into consideration the strength and power it has in saving an election one way or the other. There can be no doubt of the fact that three years ago this fall, when Governor Foss was seeking re-election, the votes of the farmers decided the contest in his favor.

"Candidates for presidential, gubernatorial and congressional honors are fully alive to the fact that the farming element pays a large part in the election to office and to ignore this is to simply invite defeat."

"With the high cost of living there has come a profound respect for the man who supplies our markets and is such an essential factor in our economic system."

RAILROAD MEN TO VISIT WILSON
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Eight railroad executives will confer with President Wilson next Wednesday and will talk of the difficulties facing the roads because of money rates and management of short time paper. Former Senator Baughner, who arranged for their hearing, denied that increases in rates were to be discussed. The railroad men, it was said, asked for the interview to give the president their views on the business situation.

Ostergren was forced at second and Torpey died a first. No runs, no hits, one error. In Spire's' glove, Torpey did not have to move for McCluskey's lift. Fahy sent up the third infield fly of the inning. Another offering to Spire's. Three ephers.
Score: Lowell, 4; Manchester, 0.

Seventh Inning

Spire's went down by the strike-out route. Kelly took Kilhullen's high fly and Donovan was under King's boost to short right. No, no, no. Stimpson went to first on four bad breaks by King and Dee sacrificed him along to the next hum. Stimpson went to third on Kelly's infield out and then Kilhullen sent the crowd into spasms by connecting his third hit, a single to left on which Stimpson scored. Wacob then singled in the

RECORD PRICE FOR WHEAT

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Yesterday's record price for wheat, 1.25 1/2, was displaced in the opening trades today when the May option sold at 1.25 1/2, an advance of more than four cents a bushel compared with last night's close. Reports that Holland had received an ultimatum from Germany excited the trade and there were rumors that big export orders were being handled in the United States for the direct account of the government of Great Britain, France and Greece. It was said that one firm in Minneapolis had sold 100,000 barrels of flour to France. European buying of oats, too, appeared to be limited only by the amount available for immediate shipment at the seaboard. Profit-taking on the upturn was lively. Reactions ensued amounting in some cases to more than one cent a bushel.

ALLIES DRIVEN BACK ON THE PARIS FORTS

German Right Furiously Forcing Way to Paris, Battering Rear of Retreating French—Canonading Broke Windows in Chantilly, 17 Miles North of Paris

The German right is described in news despatches today as at the rear of the retreating French who are falling back through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-en-Valois.

This would place the advance of the German host as within perhaps 20 miles of the limits of Paris, their objective point.

Official information regarding the respective positions of the Germans and the allies, is, however, lacking.

Mail advices reaching New York from London today bring a report originating in Liverpool that British transports have landed 80,000 Russian troops in France. This matter was not permitted to pass the cable censors.

Press reports of the operations in the east add little to what has been made known from official sources. In general they refer to fighting early in the week and only confirm Russian claims of Austrian disaster in Galicia and German successes in East Prussia. The Russians have occupied Lemberg, the capital, and stronghold of Austrian Galicia.

Australia has arranged to send more infantry and light horse in support of the allies.

Premier Asquith opened the crusade to stimulate recruiting at a meeting in Guildhall, London. He called upon every able-bodied Briton of military age to rally to the colors.

The German ambassador to the United States, Count Von Bernstorff, announced that he had positive information that two British cruisers off New York harbor were receiving supplies from a vessel flying the American flag.

SAYS STATEMENTS OF DEMANDS OF GERMANY FROM BRUSSELS ARE PREMATURE

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Central News from Amsterdam says that messages from Berlin declare that all statements concerning the war contributions demanded by Germany from Brussels and Liege are premature, as the amounts have not as yet been definitely fixed.

It is stated that service in English is still permitted at the British churches in Dresden but Saxons policemen who understand English are present at these services and no prayers for the success of British arms are allowed.

LOWELL DEFEATED HAVERHILL

Local Team Won 5-4
Game With Weaver
on the Mound

New Right Fielder Connected for Three Hits
Swayne Featured

The fact that yesterday's game was not a regularly scheduled affair, but transferred at the 11th hour, together with the fact that the Rockingham fair was a strong counter-attraction had the effect of keeping the attendance way down and those who arrived late had no difficulty in securing good seats.

The interest taken in the game was evidenced by the following overheard in the pressbox:

"Who's going to pitch today?"
"I dunno; it's Tyler's turn, isn't it?"
"I mean in this game."

"Oh, I dunno; I thought you meant the Braves."

According to the man who sells the peanuts, cakes and candies at the ground somebody came early to avoid the rush, gaining an entrance during the night and getting away with cigars and candy. Still, the thieves left enough to go around among the crowd that put in an appearance.

The only new thing on the field was a new right fielder from Boston playing for Lowell. His name is in Boston and he doesn't come from the Red Sox or Braves.

First Inning
Campbell started off for Haverhill with a single through the box into center field. After Fahey had taken Rieger's foul fly Campbell stole second, Greenhalge making a very poor throw which went into center field. Campbell went to third while Duggan was being thrown out. Dee to Kelly. Smith contributed an infield hit that scored Campbell. Poploski was thrown out on a grounder to Dee. One run, two hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Although Haverhill connected for a double and a single in the second run were forthcoming. Yelle, the first man up batted the ball to left center for two bases. He was caught sleeping a moment later on Weaver's peg to Dee and put between second and third. Conley singled to second. Campbell then singled to left but Fullerton closed the inning with a fly to McCleskey. No runs, two hits, no errors. Lowell scored, 1; Haverhill, 0.

Third Inning
Dee made a wonderful stop to Campbell's hot grounder back of second and got the runner at first. Rieger walked the ball over Stimpson's head for three bases. Greenhalge took Duggan's foul fly. Smith scored Rieger with a single to left. Smith went out trying to steal second. One run, two hits and no errors. In Lowell's half Swayne led off with a single to left center, and then stole second. McCleskey singled to right field, scoring Swayne. Dee forced at second on Fahey's grounder to Fullerton. Stimpson grounded to Poploski and the latter chanced Fahey.

Fourth Inning

After Fahey had taken Rieger's foul fly Campbell stole second, Greenhalge making a very poor throw which went into center field. Campbell went to third while Duggan was being thrown out. Dee to Kelly. Smith contributed an infield hit that scored Campbell. Poploski was thrown out on a grounder to Dee. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Gaston fled to Swayne in deep center. Fahey dropped Fullerton's fly; it was too easy and hence the drop. Campbell singled to right, sending Fullerton to second. Rieger forced Campbell at second with a grounder to McCleskey while Fullerton went to third. Rieger in turn was forced at second on Duggan's grounder to Dee. No runs, one hit, one error. In Lowell's half, Weaver beat out an infield hit that Campbell did well to stop. Weaver went around to third when Fullerton made a bad pass to Smith in an attempt to catch the Lowell pitcher napping at first. Swayne singled to right and Weaver crossed the plate for another run. Swayne was forced at second on McCleskey's grounder to Poploski. Fahey flied to Conley. Stimpson beat out an infield hit to Yelle and Dee went to second. Dee walked and the bases were all tenured. Gaston went into the diamond and took Kelly's fly. One run, three hits, no errors.

Swayne took Yelle's line drive to center. No runs, two hits, no errors. In Lowell's half, Donovan, the new pink, made his third hit. A single to left and the fans roared with delight. Greenhalge sent him to second with a sacrifice. Weaver beat out a grounder to Campbell while Donovan was going to third. Donovan was caught at the plate when he tried to score on Swayne's grounder to Fullerton. Weaver went to second. McCleskey beat out a grounder to Smith and flied to the bases. Fahey flied to Yelle. No runs, three hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning

Dee was retired on a line drive to Rieger in deep center. Fullerton and Smith did the business on Kelly's grounder. Three errors.

Eighth Inning

Smith struck out. Donovan misjudged Poploski's fly and Haverhill runs crossed the plate. Poploski turned the hit into a triple. Yelle flied out to Stimpson. Two runs, one hit, two errors.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LAKEVIEW DANCING PAVILION

In spite of the counter attractions this week, the Lakeview dancing pavilion is drawing its usual large crowd every evening. Just why this is so can be easily figured with the patrons of this summer dancing floor know that when they go out there they always spend a delightful evening and are loath to exchange an uncertainty for a positive good time. That's the secret, friends, and that is why other and more extensively advertised amusements fail to attract the patrons of the Lakeview dancing pavilion. There's always a pleasant surprise for you at this summer ball room with its splendid music, healthy atmosphere and unexcelled floor surface.

THE KASINO

Tonight—the cake-walk. Dances come and go like everything else. A dozen years have passed since the cake walk was popular throughout the country and in that time a new generation has sprung up. Possibly that accounts for the revival of the cake-walk, for it is being revived, and it is coming back for a long engagement. Judging by indications, the people want "something different." Even the modern dances become monotonous after a while. If you are among those who seek diversion, come up to the Kasino tonight and see the cake-walk between Frankie Monahan and lady, of Lowell, and Ben Payne and lady, of Boston. It's a real contest for a substantial prize, and there's bound to be a hot time while it is in progress. Minors' orchestra will play as usual. Incidentally, don't forget the week-end opportunity at the Kasino—Saturday afternoon and evening.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Fashions in entertainment change nearly as often as they do in other material phases of life, and the demand of the theatre-going public has caused many managers to present a mixture of high class vaudeville and the cream of motion pictures. Many of the Keiths have taken up this varied form of entertainment and their local one, whose fall and winter season opens next Monday afternoon, four of the best vaudeville acts obtainable, and four big pictures will constitute the program at each performance, and the bill will be changed twice weekly, on Monday and Thursday. In reality, almost for the same price as before, eight acts and eight pictures will be given every week, aside from the special Sunday matinee, which will differ in every particular from those of week days. Anticipating a successful season, the management will offer two performances in the evening, the first beginning at 7 o'clock and the second about nine o'clock. Seats for Labor day and the remaining performances of the first half-week are on sale at the box office. The leading feature to be shown will be offered by Mealey & Montross, three of the funniest of 11b comedians in existence. Since their arrival in the Keith Boston theatre they have been in demand everywhere, and it is guaranteed that they will put two nifty dances in their act. Grant & Deland constitute another very classy team. Miss Grace, a girl dancer and impersonator of note, and is really a topnotcher in her special work. The musical trio, two women and a man, will sing high class numbers, and Musical Vagabonds will open the bill with their barnyard nonsense. All in all it is a program to be most engaging bill, and the motion pictures will be shown at 10 and 12 o'clock. Matinee prices: 10 and 20 cents; evening prices, 10, 15 and 25 cents.

CANOE LAKE

The mild weather and the cool breezes enjoyed on the cars has made this a break of unusual activity at Canoe Lake park and the crowds of people in large numbers, many of them from far grounds, so that never has this popular park been so crowded. The motion pictures will be shown at 10 and 12 o'clock. Matinee prices: 10 and 20 cents; evening prices, 10, 15 and 25 cents.

THE ROYAL THEATRE

Again "The Adventures of Kathlyn" are to be the special feature at the Royal theatre, at 488 Merrimack street. The seventh episode of this wild and wonderful melodrama is entitled "The Garden of the Gods." It is a story of a thrilling, beside a clever plot, making it a play by its own. On the regular program of new releases will be found many new subjects, among the best are "Trunk of Tragedy," with Francis C. Bushman in the leading part and a play of exceptional interest. Snely acted, "Slippery Slim's Inheritance" will introduce Vic Patel, Essanay's funny comedian in a new and original role, that of the man who inherits a large fortune, how Slippery starts in to dispose of his wealth will cause a lot of merriment and hearty laughter. The pictures on the program are all new to Lowell, and will complete a great show. Always cool at the Royal.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A laugh a minute for a solid hour is the evening in conjunction with the regular to-morrow vaudeville and exclusive motion picture program. Jay Egan and his troupe of musical dogs will be one of the big features of the regular program. Like and unlike, those two nifty dancing boys and Ward and Webster, entertainers of class, will also appear on the regular program. These acts, together with the regular all-feature bill of exclusive motion pictures, is guaranteed to be worth three times the price of admission charged. The bill of amateurs as arranged to date is as follows: Sam White, cornet; Nellie Rose, singer; Frank Barker, juggler; Treva Dalton, singer; Albert Hager, whistler; Harry Baker, violinist; Parker Brothers, eccentric dancers; Alice Foley, singer; Harry Miller, acrobat.

The list given above shows what each performer is allowed to do in the theatrical line. The rent is up to the audience.

OPERA HOUSE

The eagerly awaited opening of the season at the new popular Opera House will occur next Monday afternoon with high class vaudeville and the very best in motion pictures, namely, the Famous Players' productions, the management having secured the exclusive rights for this city of these photo masterpieces. In the vaudeville portion of the program the headliners for the first three days will be Clem Bevis and company in their comedy rural playlet, "Daddy." Mr. Bevis is termed the "Dumbest Thompson" of the vaudeville stage and will be supported by an excellent cast of Broadway favorites. Jeannette Lowrie and Jack Gardner, billed as elite vaudeville acts, are both well known in musical comedy, where Miss Lowrie has made a name for herself as leading woman for Lew Fields in "It Happened in Nolandia." Richard Carle in "Mary's Lamb," and last season was leading woman with Miss Little Burke in "Mind the Paint Girl." In their present act in which they are breaking into vaudeville, Miss Lowrie plays a breezy American girl and Mr. Gardner an English Johnnie of the extreme type, which is sure to be amusing. The Juggling Bananas will be seen in a club swinging novelty and a few minutes of nonsense will be contributed by Bert Melburn in a "Rural Cork" act.

Bruce Melroe, the distinguished dramatic actor, will be seen in the famous political romance, "The Ring and the Man," a Famous Players' production, in four reels.

Bordes' concert orchestra has been re-engaged for the coming season and one can look for the best in high-class music from this popular and well known orchestra.

The box office will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for the sale of seats and for reservations of same for the season, which will also be accepted by mail or telephone 211.

THE OWL THEATRE

The policy of the Owl Amusement company is giving good shows, good service and absolute comfort. Success has been attained entirely through their efforts to please. "Claws of Greed," an attractive three-part feature with Stuart Holmes in the leading part, has been secured for their Friday program. The story of this play deals with immigration, and shows dramatic incidents that are well acted and finely staged. A Beauty film with Margaret Fischer and her leading man, Mr. Pollard, entitled "The Silence of John Gordon," will surely make a hit. "The Tell-tale Star," "Our Mutual Girl" and "Frenchie," a fine two-part drama are others that will be appreciated by the fans. A new Keystone comedy has also been booked for Friday and Saturday. "Her Last Chance" is some comedy—and you'll agree to it, after witnessing its unreeling. Coming, "The Wrath of the Gods."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

When the temperature is soaring and that close, stuffy feeling is everywhere, take a trip to the Merrimack Square theatre and there amid cooling breezes and a comfortable atmosphere see what is declared by patrons to be the best attraction in which the company has yet appeared, namely, "What Happened to Mary." This is probably two of the reasons why the crowds continue to increase at each performance—first the play and secondly because of the normal temperature which is always maintained. Admittedly two important reasons.

The coming week what is described as America's greatest laughing success, "Other 665," will be the attraction. It will be staged from the original manuscript and all the different writers will be seen to special advantage. Seats for all performances, including those for Labor day, are now on sale at the box office.

THEATRE VOYONS

IN BUSINESS SECTION OF FRANKLIN. N. H., BUT BURGARS SECURED LITTLE

FRANKLIN, N. H., Sept. 4.—Burgars entered three stores in the business section last night but secured little for their trouble. The burglaries were discovered when the stores opened for business this morning. At the postoffice sub-station on Main street a mail bag was filled and the letters opened and left scattered about the yard in the rear. It is not known how much money was secured. In the adjoining establishment of the Griffin Drug Co. a cash register was broken into and about six dollars in coin taken. A new pocketbook was also missing from the show case. The third break was in Pickering's lunch wagon, where the visitors partook of a tasty meal but got no money.

LOOK UP MY OFFER

Upon opening my Lowell store in the Spring of 1909, I promised the people of Lowell that I would remain among them permanently, become part and parcel of this city and its industries, be a generous advertiser, and to that extent help to support its newspapers, be a good merchant and try to give the people more than everything that belonged to them for the money they spent with me.

TODAY, about six years later, as I enter upon this Fall Season, it is worth something to me to be able to go back with you through six big spring and five big fall seasons that have gone down the pike.

To the man who may have believed that I was a fly-by-night, that I came for one season only, I call attention to my new, permanent business address, 31 to 35 Merrimack Square, Lowell, long years after some people said I'd depart. My present store in the Hildreth building is perfect in every detail for a merchant tailor shop, sanitary, daylight, workshop on the premises second to none in Lowell, and an eight year lease to expire January 1, 1922.

To the man who may have believed that I could not afford to stay an advertiser, that my methods were not such as to endure the fiercer glare of which publicity and the scathing criticism advertising necessarily attracts, I call attention to the fact that as I have continued in Lowell, so I have in other cities, never stopped value giving, nor placed a limit upon the qualities to which I think my customers are entitled.

From the foregoing, I may be open to the criticism of being reminiscent. It is reminiscence today but it was prophecy when I first told you the same things back in 1909.

For six years I have been telling the people of Lowell that outlandish claims in newspapers don't constitute bargains. If I advertise to make you a suit for $12.50, you know if I don't get much of a profit, I, at least, can't be making much of a loss at that price, or I could not have been selling at such loss for the last six years in Lowell without going broke.

A bargain to my mind is the purchasing of an article at a price lower than equal quality can be bought elsewhere—provided, the article you buy at such price is an article that you need and can use.

Today and Tomorrow a Free Pair of Trousers being the Price I am willing to pay to every customer as a sort of commission on his own business.

SPECIAL

My window display of New Fall Creations is the talk of the town. 140 pieces of Overcoatings. I am featuring 17 different shades in plaid backs for young men.

WORSTED SUITINGS—From all the leading mills in New England, names: Sheriffs, Standish, Dunn's North Adams and Blackingtons. I have over 300 styles in Tartan checks, grays, browns, blues, silk mixtures, pencil stripes and blacks.

The dull season will soon be over, this offer is designed to lick the dullness around the holiday. You are going to order your winter clothing in a few weeks anyway. Give me that order now. I'll have plenty of work next month. I want my old customers to avail themselves of this opportunity. I want to see many new faces. I want to force the sale of at least a hundred suits and overcoats that otherwise would not be ordered till later. You don't spend your money now; just your order and your garment will be ready in a week, two weeks or two months, any time to suit your convenience.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

ANOTHER LIST OF BRITISH CASUALTIES

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The official bureau issues a further statement of British casualties as follows:

Killed, 18 officers; 62 other ranks.
Wounded, 78 officers; 312 other ranks.
Missing, 66 officers; 4672 other ranks.

The official bureau explained that the missing mentioned in the list of casualties are men not accounted for and included unwounded prisoners and stragglers as well as men killed or wounded.

As regards the "other ranks" it is stated that 2682 men are returned as having been sent back to their base as unfit, and that a large proportion of these would be included in the number shown as missing in this and the previous return from general headquarters.

KIEL CANAL REOPENED FOR TRAFFIC

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4.—Shipowners have been informed that the Kiel canal has been re-opened to traffic but only a limited number of ships would be allowed to traverse it.

TURKS AND ARMENIANS IN BATTLE

PETROGRAD, (St. Petersburg) via London, Sept. 4.—The Turkish mobilization on the Persian boundary is slow. Many Christians and Kurds have refused to join the movement. The Turks are forcibly enrolling all persons of military age. There has been a serious conflict between Turks and Armenians at Bitlis, in Turkish Armenia.

PEOPLE OF GHENT IN PANIC OVER ADVANCE OF GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—2.50 a. m.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ghent says that the people there are in a panic over the expected advance of the Germans on that city which is indicated by the persistent sight of aeroplanes and scouts in its vicinity. It is believed that the Germans are now at Tervuerde, 16 miles east of Ghent.

The Belgians have flooded the district around Malines to hinder the progress of the German artillery.

GERMANS CONTINUE TO PUSH ON TO PARIS—ALLIES DRIVEN BACK

PARIS, Sept. 4.—With Compiègne, 40 miles north, abandoned by the British, with Amiens in the hands of the Prussians and the eagle of Germany on the flagstaff of the Hotel de Ville, with another invading force battering at the very doors of Rheims, the government of France was removed to Bordeaux, 559 miles by rail southwest of this place. Now every energy is being put into preparations for the seemingly inevitable siege.

News that has leaked out in the past 48 hours has been depressing; everywhere in the west there has been a falling back, and only the solid front presented by the French armies along the Lorraine border in the far eastern field offers a gleam of hope.

La Fère is reported taken after a severe struggle and the fate of neighboring Leon can only be the same. The Valley of the Somme, which has been believed a great natural barrier to the German advance in the extreme west, has been given over to the invaders, as has the line of the Aisne, between Compiègne and Soissons, upon the north.

Military observers believe the allied line in front of Paris to be no farther distant than the Beauvais-Clamont-Creil-Crepy-Soissons front, which lies in the center of the Paris basin, from the most northerly of the Paris forts, Domont and Reuilly.

Whether the upper valley of the Aisne river, east of Soissons, has been given over to the Germans is not definitely known. There has been a mighty battle in progress there for a full week. Chateau Porcien and Bethel, both 22 miles northeast of Rheims, have been the centers of fighting.

The armies of Gens. von Hausen, von Buelow and Grand Duke Albert of Wurttemberg are straining every nerve to gain the outskirts of Rheims, and some think their guns are already battering its defenses.

An immense and complicated system of intrenchments is being constructed outside the city. It is reported that the engineers in charge of the work are keeping several hundred thousand men busy.

In an official statement issued today the war office says:

"There has been no contact with the German forces in the region of Compiègne and Soissons since yesterday. Precautions have been taken to stop any offensive movement of the enemy."

"Alliances have been taken to provide for the pursuit of German cavalry, especially those of the armored type, which will be prevented from flying over Paris."

"The situation in the northeast is the same as yesterday."

CZAR NOTIFIED OF FALL OF LEMBERG AND OTHER RUSSIAN VICTORIES

LONDON, Sept. 4, 7 a. m.—A Petrograd (St. Petersburg) special to the Reuters Telegram Co. says the commander in chief has notified the emperor that the Russians have occupied Lemberg.

The commander-in-chief's message was as follows:

"With extreme joy and thanking God, I announce to your majesty that the victorious army under Gen. Ruzsky has taken Halicz.

"I beg your majesty to confer on Gen. Ruzsky in recognition of services preceding the battles, the fourth class of the Order of St. George and for the capture of Lemberg the third class of the same order; and on Gen. Brussiloff the fourth class of the same order."

REPORTED THAT GERMANS HAVE CROSSED INTO SWITZERLAND

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Telegraphing from Rome the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. says that a message received there from Basel, Switzerland, declares that an unconfirmed report has come into Basel from a source setting forth that Lieut.-Gen. Von Demling and the German forces under his command have crossed into Switzerland to prevent their capture by the French.

PRINCE WILLIAM OF WEID HAD BRIEF BUT TROUBLESOME REIGN

PARIS, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Durazzo, dated Wednesday night, tells of the departure of Prince William of Weid, whose brief reign has been a troublesome one. A meeting of protest has been held in the city and the police intervened. Many armed people assembled before the department of finance and demanded the payment of their salaries. Compulsory travel was called the crowd with promises that payment would be made. At five o'clock in the afternoon, Italian sailors landed and occupied the streets in the vicinity of the royal palace and Prince William and his princess, accompanied by Turkish Pasha, Akis Pasha, Sami Bey, Ekren Bey, and the diplomatic corps left the palace at six o'clock. The international commission assembled in the garden and presented its respects to the prince and princess, who then proceeded to the quay. Volunteers and Italian sailors lowered the flag on the royal palace.

FEELING OF COMPLETE DESPAIR IN BUDAPEST OVER HALT IN CAMPAIGN AGAINST SERBIA

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Ostend says:

"A tourist who has just arrived here from Budapest after nearly a week's trip, said:

"There is a feeling of complete despair in Budapest. This is caused mainly by the practical abandonment of the campaign against Serbia, which had the whole-hearted support of the populace who believe that only one sharp stroke was needed to demolish Serbia. Yet at the end of a month not a single Austrian soldier is on Serbian soil."

"The position of the dual monarchy is very serious if it is compelled to make peace with Serbia on account of the chronic difficulties with the Slav population. The people of Budapest believe that the breaking up of the whole Austro-Hungarian structure is impending.

"The failure of the army sent against the Russians is also disheartening to the Austro-Hungarians. The newspaper censorship in Budapest is so rigid that the people practically have ceased reading the newspapers."

BOMBARDMENT OF SENLIS BY THE GERMANS HEARD AT CHANTILLY

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fox, of 591 Bridge street observed the 21st anniversary of their wedding the past week. WHAT TO DO WITH OUR BOYS

What to do with our boys is undoubtedly the question uppermost in the minds of many parents in this city today. Whether to send them to the high school, the industrial school, or to take them away from school altogether and send them to work is a problem that causes parents much serious thought and upon which they are seeking for wise counsel.

In the first place let it be understood that the great danger to be avoided is the taking the children away from school too soon and thus sending them out into the battle of life handicapped by lack of an average education.

By far the greater number of grammar school graduates are obliged to quit school and go to work. For these the great problem is to find their proper place in the industrial environment or to get some work in which they will have an opportunity to advance.

Parents should guard against putting their boys into a "blind alley," so to speak, from which there is no escape, no road leading onward or upward. There are thousands of boys employed at occupations which call for no exercise of their mental faculties, and in which they are merely human machines that run for a certain number of hours per day. Such positions are ruinous to boys physically, mentally and in many cases morally. Don't make a mere automation of a boy or you will dwarf him in body and mind and even in soul.

But if a boy is to get more than a grammar school education the question comes as to whether it is better to send him to the high school than to the industrial. In deciding this point remember that if a boy gets even one year at the high school it will be of great assistance to him in whatever he may take up afterwards and that the chance to send him to the industrial school will still be open next year. Another thing to be remembered is, that the industrial school is not supposed to give a boy a trade. It merely helps to bring out his mechanical aptitudes and enables him to select more intelligently the occupation for which he is adapted. Moreover, it may be that the school is overcrowded in the department the boy would like to enter. The industrial school is handicapped for lack of room and for that reason it is restricted to an extent that seriously affects its usefulness. In deciding these important problems in the education of boys and girls, it is advisable to give them the very best education the parents can possibly afford, remembering that even then in the fierce competition for preferment, they will often be crowded to the rear just because they didn't know a little more.

WAR WITH MEXICO

And now comes General Carranza, the provisional president of Mexico, with the demand that we vacate Vera Cruz, withdraw our troops and leave Mexico to pursue the even tenor of her way. General Carranza has further announced that he has closed the port of Vera Cruz and will keep it closed until the American troops are withdrawn.

President Wilson in reply states that the American troops will remain until constitutional government be established in Mexico.

It is difficult to see on what constitutional ground President Wilson can make this declaration. The American troops were sent to Vera Cruz as the result of an insult to the American flag and because the then president of Mexico refused to offer an apology by saluting the flag. By the way, the flag has not yet been saluted and it does not seem that General Carranza is ready to offer any apology of that sort. It would appear, therefore, that under present conditions a state of war exists between the United States and Mexico and that as a result we are liable to become more deeply embroiled in the Mexican affair than ever before.

The great question at issue is: "By what right do we undertake to dictate to Mexico just what kind of government she shall have, whom she shall have for president or in what manner she may decide to establish responsible government?" If the Mexicans should decide to make Carranza king it is difficult to see wherein the United States would be called upon to prevent such an eventuality.

President Wilson's policy of "watchful waiting" has served very well to avoid war thus far; but if carried to an extreme it may have an entirely opposite result. The best thing in our judgment that President Wilson can do under present conditions is to make diplomatic arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz. The government of the United States has undoubtedly been partial to the rebels in Mexico and now that they have come into power, it will be just as well to have them to themselves to fight the matter out. It is hardly to be expected that there will be peace in Mexico so long as there are men like Villa, whose chief desire is personal aggrandizement at the expense of the people.

The failure of the United States government to recognize President Huerta brought us into the Mexican trouble in the first place and although Huerta was a butcher he was perhaps as good as any of those who are about to take his place. It is high time that President Wilson should call off his troops and wash his hands of the whole business.

FOREIGNERS AND CITIZENSHIP

If the United States were engaged in war, the government would find it advantageous to have as many as possible of the foreign born element naturalized so that they would be available for military service. Many of these different nationalities that make up our cosmopolitan population have had military training and would make good soldiers. But we should engage

The scourge of cholera infantum has begun to appear and it will undoubtedly claim many victims before the cool weather sets in. As in past years, the chief relief is found in taking the children to the cool shade of the country, feeding them lightly, keeping them cool and shielding them from the direct heat of the sun. When infants are left in the care of little girls and boys to be carted about the streets under the broiling sun, it is no wonder they contract some of the various diseases brought on by excessive heat. Many parents whose children have been taken ill can receive valuable counsel and assistance at the infirmary of the Lowell Guild on Dutton street. The work of this excellent association has undoubtedly kept the infant mortality in Lowell much below what it otherwise would be.

BATTLE OF AEROPLANES

The report of an aeroplane battle over the city of Paris is the first news of the kind given to the world. It appears that a squadron of German aeroplanes and dirigibles appeared over the French capital and were at once attacked by a number of aeroplanes sent up to drive them off. The man who undertakes to fight in an aeroplane simply takes his life in his hand inasmuch as but a slight injury will disable the mechanism of his craft and bring him down to death. That aeroplanes, or still worse, the war dirigible, should be used for the destruction of cities and attacks upon non-combatants is one of the worst features of a war that is undoubtedly the most destructive ever waged in the history of the world.

WILSON FOR ANOTHER TERM

It is announced from Washington that President Wilson may be a candidate for a second term. This does not come officially from the president himself but the present time and the issues that are now before the country require a level headed man in the White House. President Wilson has demonstrated his eminent ability as a constructive statesman since he entered office and if the people can persuade him to accept another term, they will render a great service to the country. The record of President Wilson's term of office is replete with legislation that had been sorely needed by this country for the last 25 years. It would be most advisable to retain President Wilson to direct the administration of the reforms he has assisted in placing upon the statute books. It is true that he personally expressed himself in favor of a single term for president; but if the country insists upon retaining him for four years more, we believe his personal preference in the matter might be overcome.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The industrial school will open on September 14 under the conditions that prevailed last year. There will be no additional room, which means that the work must be conducted under difficulties and that in consequence, the results will not be as satisfactory as they otherwise would be. The work has been properly systematized and better progress would undoubtedly be made but for the inconvenience of having the school scattered in four different buildings. The school board should insist upon having a proper building provided for this school as early as possible. We are much behind some other Massachusetts cities in this matter of industrial education merely because of the lack of a suitable building in which to conduct the different departments.

The condition of the water supply during the past week in some parts of the city has been worse than ever before. It is difficult to understand how rusty, muddy water gets into the pipes. In parts of Cambridge, Belvidere and Pawtucketville, the water is absolutely unfit for use either for cooking or for laundry purposes.

SEEN AND HEARD

If a foul ball hit Bob Paradi, would he be hurt?

Hot men say that pudding flavored with molasses is not the least bit palatable.

Every bit of food on this table, said the serving lady to Lamson as he sat down to eat at the church supper, "was cooked by your wife."

"Oh, I don't mind," rejoined Lamson calmly, "I'm not a bit hungry, anyway."

A CALL DOWN

At a social affair the other night the conversation turned to justifiable remonstrances, when Congressman Frank H. Willis of Ohio, was reminded of the rebuke administered by a pretty girl named Marie.

On a certain morning some time ago Marie called on her dearest chum, girl and soon the two ladies were deep in the details of the gown and things seen at a reception the evening before.

"And do you know, Alice," confidently murmured Marie, when the subject reverted to the guests, "Harry had the nerve to tell me on the forenoon."

"You don't really mean it?" was the horrified rejoinder of Alice. "I suppose you called him down?"

"I certainly did," sweetly answered Marie. "About four inches."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

TWO GENTLEMEN

When Charles Phelps Cushing was news editor of Collier's Weekly, a convict in New Mexico sent him a little story of Christmas thoughts in prison. Cushing thought he would be able to get his hands on a suitable photograph and would use the convict's little essay with it.

But the time went by and there was no opportunity to print the thing. So the editor sent the story back to the man in jail with a note telling him it had failed. He enclosed his personal check for $5 to recompense the man for having held his article until the Christmas season was over.

The convict sent the check back, saying: "You treated me so square that I can't treat you otherwise."

TRAPPING ELEPHANTS

In view of the vast strength possessed by full grown elephants, it seems at first sight almost incredible that they can be captured in herds and quickly subdued to the will of their masters.

At the present time, in Mysore, the regular method of capturing wild elephants is to go into the jungle, some mounted on tamed elephants and many on foot, and to make a great noise and hubbub, which results in driving herds of the wild elephants into enclosures, or often into ponds of water, which have previously been surrounded on all sides, except at the front, by immovably strong palisades. As soon as the herd is cornered the passages that had been left open are suddenly closed, and then the trained elephants are brought into play to ensnare and subdue the perplexed prisoners.

In India elephants are no longer captured, as they still are in Africa, by means of huge pitfalls in the ground. In these traps they are often seriously injured or killed. The Indian elephant is somewhat smaller than the African and differs from it in other ways. As for instance, in the fact that tusks are possessed only by the males, while both sexes are provided with them in Africa. In general, also, the tusks of African elephants are nearly twice as large as those of their Indian relatives, a single tusk sometimes weighing as much as 250 or 300 pounds.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

DIED FOR HIS IDOL

It is related that Napoleon was once badly defeated at Colobnitz by the Cossacks. After the battle he was surrounded by enemies and would have lost his life had he not been saved by the presence of mind of one of his soldiers, Corporal Spohn.

Realizing that Napoleon's only chance for life was in getting off the battlefield unrecognized, the corporal begged the emperor to change hats and horses with him. The change was made ere the smoke had cleared away, and Napoleon with his corporal's hat and mounted on a poor steed, rode away unnoticed, the Cossacks crowding around the corporal. Taking him prisoner, they led him in triumph to

They combine the oil of the palm and the oil of the olive. The famous beauty of white hosiery of each country offered prayers for the success of the army of his own nation. But victory for one side means manslaughter to the other, the destruction of children equally dear to the heart of the pontiff.

The conclave of the Sacred college had been in session since the evening of Monday, August 31, and the final vote was not taken until yesterday morning. When the name of Cardinal Della Chiesa was cried out by the cardinal scrutineers as having received the prescribed two-thirds vote, there was much excitement among the members of the conclave.

Then followed the traditional formula, the cardinal being asked as to whether he accepted the position. Ambitious silence he answered in the affirmative, but his reply, owing to profound emotion, was scarcely audible. Immediately all the cardinals removed the canopies from above their chairs, this being the tangible sign that the leadership of the church had passed from them to the newly elected pope.

Later, during the course of a reception of laymen, the pope spoke of America, which, he said, was especially dear to him. He expressed great admiration for the genius of its people, which was only comparable to their religious zeal, and he added: "I am glad that my first apostolic benediction abroad will be forwarded to America, where the American cardinals will later impart it to the people directly."

The pontiff also expressed the hope that America, in favor of peace, together with the players raised to the Almighty throughout the world, would mean that peace will come.

In the history of papal conclaves the present conclave was unique, inasmuch as, theoretically, the election of any cardinal was possible, while in previous conclaves there were special designations.

On the election of Cardinal Della Chiesa, Monsignor Boggiano, secretary of the conclave, with the master of ceremonies, the dean of the cardinals and other high church dignitaries, bowed before the chair where Cardinal Della Chiesa was seated.

He asked if the cardinal would accept the pontificate, and upon the affirmative reply all the canopies above the cardinals' thrones were lowered excepting that of Cardinal Della Chiesa.

In answer to the question of the dean of the cardinals, the new pope said he desired to take the name of Benedict XV.

Monsignor Boggiano, assisted by the other officials, recorded the act of election and the acceptance and the members of the conclave then entered the Sistine chapel with the pope. The pontiff was clothed in flowing white robe, red slippers and high stock with a broad red eravat. Cardinal Della Voipe placed over his shoulders a red stole, embroidered with gold. The pope then mounted the throne to receive the homage of the cardinals.

The cardinals first kissed the feet and then the hands of the pontiff, who administered the accolade and pronounced the benediction. Cardinal

AMONG THE TOILERS

Agent W. A. Mitchell of the Massachusetts mills is at present on an extended business trip.

Joe Quinn, the general secretary of the Machinists' union is enjoying a vacation this week.

Business Agent Roscoe Hall of the Machinists' union has returned to Lynn after spending two enjoyable weeks in this city.

Quite a few young men employed in the Saco-Loewell shops will journey to Nashua Sunday where a sumptuous repast will be served in their honor.

Hugh Gildea, overseer of the finishing room at the Lowell Bleachery was an interested visitor at the Rockingham fair yesterday afternoon.

Wm. Olson of the Lowell Bleachery, in charge of the tinshop is attracting much attention in his new Hudson touring car.

Joseph, Goddard of the Mass. mills, the recognized long distance man of Lowell will try his hand at the games to be held in Brockton, Labor day. He avers that he will bring home the bacon.

The regular weekly business session of the Millmen's union will be held tonight in Carpenters' hall in the Runkel building. Business of much importance will be transacted and all members are desired to attend.

That superstition still prevails, is evident at the Machinists' rooms, when a party of young men decided to go fishing yesterday because there was a full moon the night previous. Amos Turner, the champion fisherman of the local is spending the week at Crystal Lake.

If the employees of the local mills and industries had started a baseball league early in the season, some stars would have surely been developed. In the practice games between mill teams at Shedd park every day some real good playing is witnessed by large crowds.

Appleton Company

Machinists' Union, 138

The regular meeting of the Machinists' union, 138, was held last night in Machinists' hall in Middle street. Pres. Arthur Phelps presided. Seven new members were admitted and several applications were received. Reports of committees were read and accepted. The outgoing committee reported favorably on the outing held a short time ago, and a vote of thanks was accorded the committee for its untiring work in making the time a success. The secretary reported the union to be in strong financial condition.

Painters Held Meeting

The members of the Painters' union held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting in Carpenters' hall in the Runkel building last evening. Four applications for membership were received and laid over for one week. Considerable business of a routine nature was transacted, and Business Agent George Plfield gave a short talk on the history of the local in Lowell. The secretary submitted a report of progress.

German Milk Curdall

The Daily Consular and Trade Reports print the following report cable to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce from the American charge d'affaires at Berlin. "For information American cotton producers. German textile production reduced six per cent. Immediate further reduction probable. Local orders during the past week at a standstill. A few foreign orders filled. Import of raw material from Russia stopped. Only large sales made for military purposes. Much labor withdrawn from mills. No transportation facilities now available. Warehouses at ports overloaded with goods. Impossible to export."

Machinists' Union, Local 318 Met

The Machinists' union, local 318, composed of men employed at the Boston and Maine repair shops held its regular meeting in Old Fellows hall in Middle street last evening. President Morris called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock, and introduced Mr. A. A. Farnsworth representative of the Trades Federated council, who gave a very instructive talk on unionism and what it has done for labor. A grant of routine business was transacted and 10 new members were admitted and 8 applications for membership were received. The secretary reported the union to be progressing rapidly.

Wool Outing Cancelled

The executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have agreed to cancel this year's annual outing and banquet, and to this end have notified the trade as follows:

"Owing to the terrible conditions now prevailing in Europe and which are liable to grow more serious in the near future, the executive committee of the Boston Wool Trade association have deemed it advisable to postpone until next year, the annual outing arranged for September 18, at which the members of the Philadelphia Wool and Textile association were to have been our guests."

The close relationship existing between the numerous members and factors engaged in the great struggle as well as the general sympathy feeling has made this move a most fitting and proper one, for under the circumstances our local trade as well as our Philadelphia guests could not feel fully justified in attending a day's festivities with the world's greatest conflict being enacted almost before their eyes.

countless victims of the war were being cut down.

The war, he said, had armed faithful against faithful, priest against priest, while bishops of each country offered prayers for the success of the army of his own nation. But victory for one side means manslaughter to the other, the destruction of children equally dear to the heart of the pontiff.

The pontiff also expressed the hope that America, in favor of peace, together with the players raised to the Almighty throughout the world, would mean that peace will come.

In the history of papal conclaves the present conclave was unique, inasmuch as, theoretically, the election of any cardinal was possible, while in previous conclaves there were special designations.

On the election of Cardinal Della Chiesa, Monsignor Boggiano, secretary of the conclave, with the master of ceremonies, the dean of the cardinals and other high church dignitaries, bowed before the chair where Cardinal Della Chiesa was seated.

He asked if the cardinal would accept the pontificate, and upon the affirmative reply all the canopies above the cardinals' thrones were lowered excepting that of Cardinal Della Chiesa.

In answer to the question of the dean of the cardinals, the new pope said he desired to take the name of Benedict XV.

Monsignor Boggiano, assisted by the other officials, recorded the act of election and the acceptance and the members of the conclave then entered the Sistine chapel with the pope. The pontiff was clothed in flowing white robe, red slippers and high stock with a broad red eravat. Cardinal Della Voipe placed over his shoulders a red stole, embroidered with gold. The pope then mounted the throne to receive the homage of the cardinals.

The cardinals first kissed the feet and then the hands of the pontiff, who administered the accolade and pronounced the benediction. Cardinal

Della Voipe placed upon the pontiff's finger the Fisherman's ring, which the pope returned to Monsignor Damico, to have engraved with his name.

The pontiff proceeded from the Sistine chapel to the Basilica of St. Peter's where he gave benediction. He returned to the Sistine chapel where the second act of homage by the cardinals was accorded him.

When the pope was asked to present himself before the people for the first benediction he turned to Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, and said: "I hope I shall have strength to overcome my emotion."

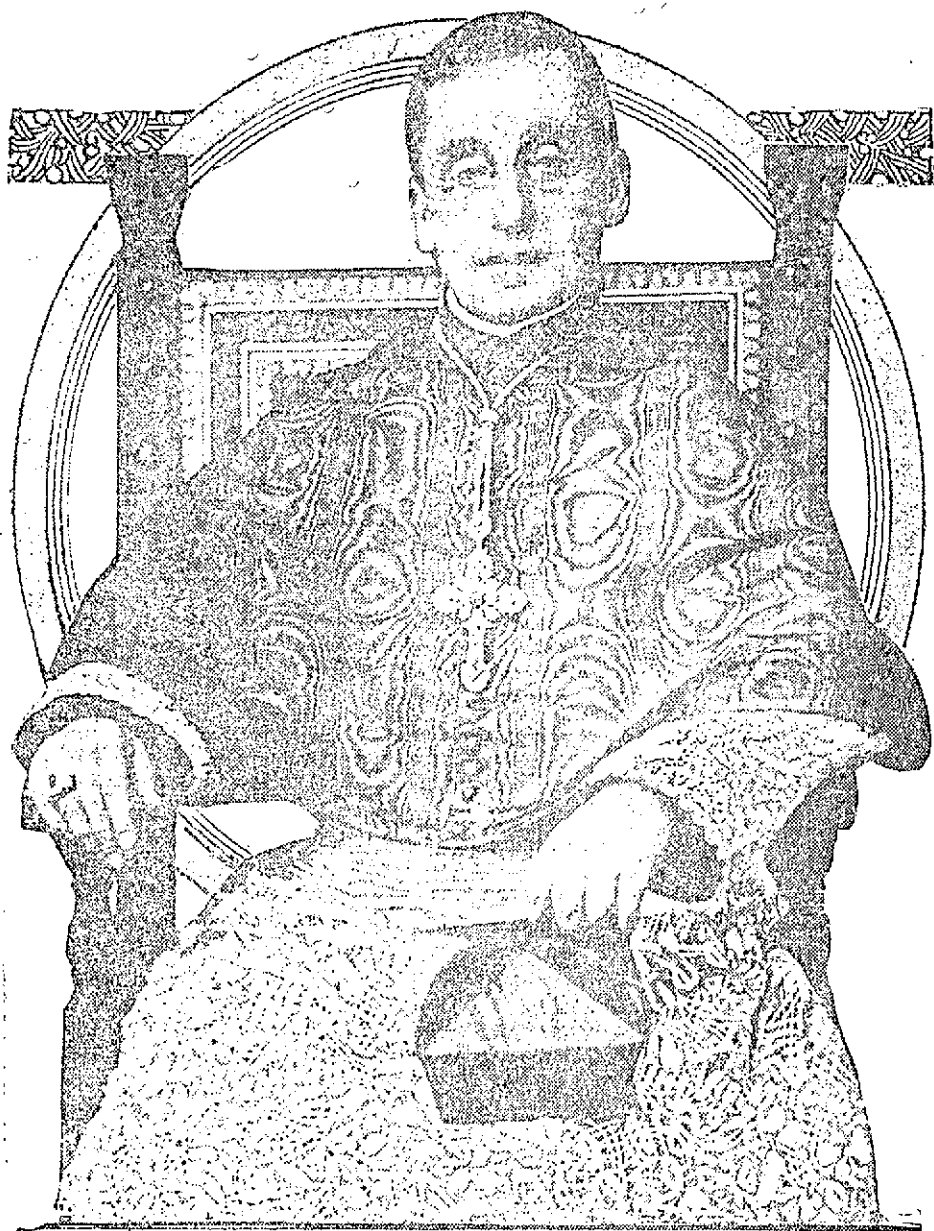

Crowds outside clamored to see the new pontiff, and several of the cardinals, including Cardinals Gibbons, Farley and O'Connell, tried to calm the excitement, to obtain silence.

When the pope finally emerged, he was alone and a hush fell over the multitude. All knelt, and the pontiff raised his hand, with three fingers outstretched, and imparted with melodious voice the apostolic blessing. A great cheer rang out as he turned to withdraw.

Even in the conclave the election of the new pope caused much excitement. The cardinals surrounded him and addressed to him their greetings and congratulations in Latin. All wished to be the first to kiss his hand.

Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell, who only reached Rome shortly before noon yesterday, expressed their gratification at being the first cardinals not participating in the conclave to render tenderly and said he appreciated the efforts they had made to come to Rome for the conclave, at much personal discomfort.

Coronation of Pope Benedict XV Will Take Place Sept. 6

BENEDICT XV—THE NEW POPE

A few facts about the life of Benedict XV, the new pope, whose election came as a distinct surprise, will be interesting. First of all stands out the vital point that the new pontiff will likely carry out many different policies from his predecessor, the late Pius X. He is known, for one thing, to be on good terms with the Quirinal, and so his election may mean the establishment of modus vivendi by which the long disagreement of forty-four years between the vatican and the national government may be ended. The new pope was the youngest of the newly created cardinals, having been elevated only last May with four others. He is in his sixtieth year. Giacomo della Chiesa was born at Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, Italy, on Nov. 21, 1854. He studied at Rome and was ordained a priest on Dec. 21, 1878. He accompanied the late Cardinal Rampolla to Madrid in 1883 and remained there as secretary of the nunciature until 1887. He was made monsignor while there. He then returned to Rome with Cardinal Rampolla, who was made secretary of state by Pope Leo XIII, and entered that office as one of the minor officials. In 1901 he was appointed substitute of the secretariat and secretary of the cipher. Mgr. della Chiesa received a noted promotion when on Dec. 16, 1907, Pope Pius X. named him archbishop of the important see of Bologna. Less than seven years of prudent administration there won for him on May last a place in the sacred college.

CARDINALS O'CONNELL AND GIBBONS REGRET INABILITY TO TAKE PART IN CONCLAVE
ROME, Sept. 3 (Delayed in transmission).—Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore and Cardinal O'Connell of Boston arrived here today from Naples, whither they had hurried by steamer from the United States hoping to reach Rome in time for the conclave which elected Cardinal della Chiesa supreme pontiff of the Roman hierarchy in succession to the late Pope Pius.

750,000 MEN IN BATTLE

Between Germans and French in Western Field—Asquit Expects Protracted Struggle

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Reference to the titanic struggles between the German army under Crown Prince Frederick William and the forces of France which took place between Rheims and Verdun Wednesday is made again today from Berlin. If the Berlin statement proves correct—that three quarters of a million troops were fighting in that region Wednesday in "the greatest battle of history." It would explain much of what has been happening in the western field. To bring the troops in that region to anything like the number of 750,000 enormous French forces must have been concentrated at the expense of the French left flank where the Germans have been making progress with their brilliant dash on Paris. The battle along the Rheims-Verdun line has been claimed in an earlier message from Berlin as a victory for the army of the crown prince who is reported to have had the assistance of Emperor William, who was present. That nothing further concerning such a historic fight now two days old has come through from any source is regarded as remarkable, even in these days when virtually all sources of information are official. The French official communications continue to show an utter absence of pessimism and they are generally regarded as indicating that the situation of the allies is far from being as bad as might be conjectured by superficial observers judging from the stereotyped announcements of retreats. Some correspondents go so far as to suggest that the invaders of French soil have been fought to a standstill. There is no confirmation of the report from Bern, Switzerland, that a German force under General Von Deimling has been obliged to take refuge in Switzerland to avoid capture by the French. In an appeal to the nation to join the colors made by Premier Asquit in Guildhall today, the speaker said he recognized that the present was only the "early stages of what is going to be a protracted struggle." The premier made also this statement: "I had abundant grounds for pride and comfort in whatever direction I looked."

LATE WAR NEWS

AUSTRIANS EMBARRASSED BY ACTIVITIES OF RUSSOPHILE GALICIAN

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 4.—(Via London, 3:05 p. m.)—A despatch to the War Bureau from Vienna says that the Austrian war correspondents declare that the Austrians have been greatly embarrassed by the activities of Russophile Galicians who have acted as spies and scouts especially in east Galicia.

CHRISTABEL PANKHURST THE MILITANT SUFFRAGETTE "COMES BACK"

LONDON, Sept. 4.—12:20 a. m.—Christabel Pankhurst, the militant suffragette who in bygone days gave the authorities plenty of trouble and who has been in exile in France for about two years has returned to her native land to carry on a campaign of patriotic propaganda.

TENS OF THOUSANDS FLEE FROM CITY—TROOPS GO TO FRONT

PARIS, Sept. 4.—French troops have been passing through Paris for the last three days headed toward the battle lines which protect the capital from the German advance. The resumption of the German offensive is awaited at any moment. The confidence of the French is strengthened. It is felt that the strategic problem of the allies is to select the right plan and the right moment for a counter offensive movement. Tens of thousands of Parisians, chiefly women and children, have taken advantage of the free trains placed at their disposal by the government for the purpose of clearing Paris and its environs, so far as possible, of civilians who might hamper the military operations.

erations. Most of these people are going to the south or west of France. The military government of the city has put at the disposal of non-combatants 15 trains of 25 cars each. Passage on them is to be entirely free. They will run today, tomorrow and Saturday and convey refugees to points outside of the military zone. The principal newspapers of Paris have transferred their offices to Bordeaux, where the Havas agency also has established headquarters.

50,000 RUSSIAN TROOPS PLACED IN FRANCE BY ENGLAND BY MEANS OF TRANSPORTS

LONDON, Aug. 27.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Reports have reached London from Liverpool that England has placed more than 50,000 Russian troops in France by means of transports sent north of the Scandinavian peninsula to Finland, where the conscripts embarked.

Because of the mines in the Baltic and North seas and the presence of the German fleet, it has been regarded as impossible for Russia to reach France except by marching through Germany. A stream of ships have been moving south from Liverpool ever since the declaration of war but there had been no observation of ships northbound and the rumor that England has helped Russian troops into France has given rise to much speculation as to where the ships sailed from. However, the secrecy which surrounded the movement of the expeditionary army was so complete that the public is willing to believe the English government has it within its power to conceal any movement.

According to stories told by passengers who returned from England on the Mauretania Sept. 3 this reported movement of Russian troops to France was made by way of the Scotch coast.

VAGARIES OF THE BRITISH CENSORSHIP PASS ALL UNDERSTANDING

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The vagaries of the British censorship pass all understanding. The war excitement was not so intense that the London papers did not care to print reports of the Davis cup tennis matches in New York but the news did not come when it was expected. Hours went by. Inquiry was pursued with the cable companies, and finally it was discovered that the incoming reports had been held up by the censors because they detected mystery in what they called "the code numbers" following the proper names. These "code numbers" were the scores of the sets. Moreover, it was said the sender's name and in it was said by the censors the sender's name of the newspaper had violated the ethics of censorship by not sending the full names of the players. McLoughlin might be code for some German spy.

SAYS BRITISH CRUISERS RECEIVED AMMUNITION FROM VESSEL FLYING AMERICAN FLAG

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, announced that he had received information that two British cruisers lying 10 miles from New York harbor had received supplies of coal, provisions and ammunition from a vessel flying the American flag.

ANGLO-FRENCH FLEET IN ADRIATIC THREE TIMES AS POWERFUL AS AUSTRIA

ROME, Sept. 4.—Despatches received here from Vienna describe the ridicule with which Austrian naval circles are commenting upon the Anglo-French fleet in the Adriatic. They declare that although this fleet is more than three times as powerful as that of Austria, it never yet has dared to attack or even invite the Austrian fleet to battle.

It is recalled that in the last letter written by Pope Benedict when he was acting as secretary of state for the late Cardinal Rampolla before the death of Pope Leo was in reply to a communication saying that even the Protestant churches in America were praying for the recovery of Pope Leo. In his reply the present pontiff said that Cardinal Rampolla had communicated this telegram to Pope Leo, who had answered that it was a great consolation to hear this as it showed that his idea of the reunion of Christian churches was not a dream.

CORONATION OF THE NEW POPE WILL TAKE PLACE ON SEPT. 6.

ROME, Sept. 3.—The coronation of Cardinal della Chiesa, as Pope Benedict XV, will take place on September 6. Immediately after his election yesterday the pontiff said that he could not imagine how his frail being was capable of enduring the weight of enormous responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, especially at a moment when almost all the countries of Europe were stained with blood, when the wounds inflicted upon humanity were also inflicted on the church and when

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

MANCHESTER, Vt., Sept. 4.—At the end of the first 18 holes in the semi-final round for the national amateur golf championship, Francis Ouimet of Woodland and W. C. Fownes of Oakmont were all square and J. D. Travers of Upper Montclair, the 1913 champion was one up over Walter J. Travis of Garden City.

Both matches proved unusually exciting, as Ouimet and Fownes were never more than a hole apart, and Travers overcame an early lead by Travis of three holes.

The gallery followed the Ouimet-Fownes struggle and saw the Bostonian in the rough on his first drive while Fownes played the 342 yard hole a stroke under par. Ouimet went to the front at the fifth when Fownes drove into a trap. The crowd cheered when the two players at the sixth ran down long putts for a pair of twos. Fownes obtained the advantage at the ninth by playing the 243 yards under par. Ouimet followed suit on the tenth, a 500 yard hole which he negotiated in four, once more equating the match. Ouimet lost both the 15th and 16th on strokes.

OLD CUBS HAVE DRIFTED

ONLY FRANK SCHULTE REMAINS OF THE FAMOUS CLUB WHICH WON PENNSYLVANIA

Where are the Cubs of yesterday? Gone—all gone!

Of that famous Chicago club of 1906, probably the greatest baseball machine ever constructed, there is but one player remaining—Frank Schulte, the "home run king" of bygone days.

The title of Chicago Nationals more often is applied of late than the handle of Cubs. And today, as you watch that team, you wonder, Eight years ago you wondered also—but in a much different way. Then it was you wondered how it came such a galaxy of scintillating players ever were gathered on one team. Now you can but ask yourself where they have gone.

Do you remember the lineup of that world's championship machine? Look it over again:

Slagle, center field.
Tinker, shortstop.
Chance, first base.
Steinfeldt, third base.
Schulte, right field.
Evers, second base.
Kling, catcher.
Brown, pitcher.
Reubach, pitcher.
Hofman, utility.
Slagle, who led off that famous batting list, was rapidly lost to baseball. He is out of it forever. Sheckard has dropped to the American association.

Of that illustrious, fear-inspiring machine, Schulte alone is left. therefore, is regarded by the department as unwarranted from the standpoint of the supply and the import price of the seed. Some dealers are continuing to sell at the former price, but these are exceptions.

If the present high price is maintained, the specialists are doubtful whether crimson clover can be profitably used as a green manure crop for seeding in corn or on vacant ground, or under other conditions where the catch is not reasonably certain. Under such conditions they point out that it will be better practice to sow rye this fall and use the difference in price in adding nitrogen to the soil in the form of nitrate of soda or some other highly nitrogenous fertilizer. The rye will afford a winter cover preventing washing and leaching, and can be plowed under in the spring to add humus to the soil.

When crimson clover is being used regularly as a winter cover crop in orchard culture, or where local experience indicates that a good catch and a good crop are practically certain, payment of a higher price for the seed will no doubt be justified.

A somewhat similar condition exists with reference to hairy vetch seed. There has been approximately six-sevenths as much seed imported since November 1, 1913, as in the year previous. This shortage, however, is partly counter-balanced by the increasing domestic production of hairy vetch seed. Wherever the price of hairy vetch seed is found to be exorbitant, the same change in farm practice is recommended as that suggested in the case of the crimson clover.

WARREN-INDIANAPOLIS FEDS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—William H. Warren, one of the catchers for the local Federal league team, is a youngster who seems to have shown his ability to stay in fast company. In forty-five times at bat he made fourteen hits for a percentage of .311 and scored five runs. His work behind the bat has been satisfactory, and his throwing to the bases shows steady improvement.

WAR CAUSES SCARCITY

BIG INCREASE IN COST OF CRIMSON CLOVER AND HAIRY VETCH SEED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—Prices for imported crimson clover and hairy vetch seed have recently shown such a marked upward tendency that specialists of the department of agriculture fear that the cost of these seeds, of which Europe is the chief source, will interfere with the increasing use of these leguminous cover crops. In fact, it is feared that the prices of the seed of these legumes may go as high as to make it inadvisable to plant them this year.

Before the present European conditions arose, crimson clover seed was selling at from $4 to $5 per bushel. Up to August 15 there was a scarcity of this seed in the United States, owing to the fact that the receipts from Europe were smaller than usual. The prices then advanced to from $7.50 to $9.00 per bushel. Since that date importations have continued to arrive, until there is now more imported seed available for fall seeding than there was in this country a year ago at this time. This seed according to the department's information, was all imported at approximately the same price as that sold for $4 to $4.50 per bushel in the early part of the season. The present high price,

NO POSSIBILITY OF UPRISING OF MOSLEMS, SAYS DR. BARTON

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—The possibility of a general uprising of Moslems throughout the Turkish empire in a holy war against the Christian races is most remote, according to Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

Dr. Barton, who is in close touch with 200 American missionaries in Turkey and the Balkan peninsula, declared today that nobody who understands the Mohammedans and the present situation has any fear of a general Moslem uprising against native Christians. In case of war, the Mohammedans will unquestionably afford the American missionaries the same ample protection they have always given in the past, he declared.

It will be noticed that out of the eight names drawn, three of them are from Bartlett street and Commissioner Morse could not help commenting on this fact.

Commissioner Donnelly presented an order for the location of the polling booth for the coming election and it was adopted. There are four changes this year. of superintendent of streets of the city of Lowell, I have come to the definite conviction that the passage of that order would be for the best interests of the city of Lowell.

Therefore, I move the adoption and passage of the order of removal of Newell F. Putnam from the office of superintendent of streets of the city of Lowell, for the reasons therein specified and set forth.

A vote was taken by roll call, and the result was as follows: Commissioner Brown, yes; Commissioner Carnahan, no; Commissioner Morse, yes. The vote then stood two to two with the mayor to cast his ballot. After a minute's hesitation, Mayor Murphy voted yes, saying he governed his action on the first and sixth charges.

Commissioner Brown was then asked by the reporters why he had shifted his vote and he replied: "I will give an entire explanation to the people at the proper time. A man in public service must be careful." The meeting adjourned until next Tuesday.

OVERCOME BY THE HEAT

PROSTITUTIONS IN BOSTON—WEDNESDAY NIGHT WARMEST ON RECORD FOR SEPTEMBER

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Another 24 hours of sustained heat with very little breeze, following as it did the hot weather and high humidity of Wednesday and the warmest September night in the history of the local weather bureau caused further suffering in Boston.

Yesterday there were seven prostitution cases in this city, one of them being that of an unidentified man who collapsed at the corner of Tremont and Pleasant streets.

One manufacturing plant, the Stafford Works in Hyde Park, where 100 men are employed, closed at noon. As a matter of fact the weather yesterday was more comfortable than on the preceding day. The maximum temperature was 85 at noon and the humidity was only 64 at 8 a. m. and 69 at 8 p. m.

She was removed to the Frost hospital by the police. Her name is on the dangerous list and early this morning she was only partially conscious and unable to tell her name.

The police state she lived all alone at 34 Ash street.

John J. Smith, aged 36, a United States customs inspector, overcame while examining baggage at the Commonwealth pier, South Boston. He fell hospital.

John Fowler, aged 46 years, of 55 Maple street, Milton, overcame while at work on a steaming in Dorchester and fell, sustaining a fractured skull. City hospital. Name on the dangerous list.

Lillian Anderson, aged 9 years, of 1000 Washington street, overcame on Washington st. He fell hospital.

Clara B. Rogers, aged 24 years, of 65 Cambridge street, Revere, overcame on Ferdinand street. City hospital.

Wincent Ward, aged 30 years, of West Medford, overcame at 258 Washington street. He fell hospital.

A TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

IN LAWRENCE—MILK DEALER MAY BE EXCLUDED FROM DELIVERING MILK IN THAT CITY

LAWRENCE, Sept. 4.—The board of health authorities are determined to take some positive action in the hope of stopping the spread of typhoid fever cases in this city. Four more were reported, which makes a total of 11 in the past few weeks.

Included in the two cases reported yesterday are two families who receive milk from a dealer who has been supplying milk to nine other families who have been infected. But Milk Inspector Tobin informed the members of the board yesterday that he made an analysis of the dealer's milk and found everything above standard.

This morning Chairman Harris of the board and Milk Inspector Tobin held a conference on the matter, and the board decided to exclude from the city any more cases of typhoid fever are reported, which in any way are connected with the milk dealer, that he be excluded from delivering milk in this city.

KINGS WILL AID KAISER

R. W. BABSON THINKS FEAR OF REPUBLICS WILL LEAD THEM TO SAVE HIM FROM DOWNFALL

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Even if Emperor William should be defeated, he has still the means of securing liberal terms from the monarchies of Europe by the simple expedient of bringing forward the bugaboo of a possible republic in Germany. This is the opinion of Roger W. Babson of Wellesley. He believes that all the royal rulers at present realize that the fall of an emperor might mean a wave of sentiment in favor of government by the people, and that to prevent the spread of a movement against monarchies they would be willing to make concessions to him and restore him to a measure at least of his former power.

Members of these royal families who cannot be killed, unaxed or bribed," he said, "are absolutely panic-stricken at the thought of their monarchies becoming republics. So far as practical purposes go England, Belgium and some of the others are as good as republics now, but in their courts yet have tremendous privileges which they would not have under a republic form of government.

In the case of nations like Russia and Austria the emperors still exercise real power which is wanted by the people. Hence in these countries the fear of a republic on a part of the ruling classes is even greater. Con-

Napoleon in Bad
Napoleon Gringras has resolutely omitted to ante for his wife's support and this thoughtlessness on his part brought him into police court prominence today. When the spot light was flicked over his domestic engagements Napoleon was seen to be "in bad." Judge Bright sentenced him to four months in the house of correction.

Walked the Plank
Owen McCormack walked the plank for a three months' jail sentence. Fred A. Ward raised objections around the upper Gorham street range last night and drew a slip of four months to the house of correction. Mary A. Hall had her sentence of three months to jail for drunkenness suspended.

Milk Case Postponed
Achilles A. Lavoie, a milkman who was for some reason not invited to yesterday's gathering of his fellow dealers, put in an appearance at police court this morning, charged with adding water to his milk. His case did not come up for trial today but was held over until Sept. 25.

British Gunboat Speedy and Merchant Vessel Went Down
LONDON, Sept. 4.—Additions to the official communication regarding the torpedo gunboat Speedy say:

The missing include the skipper and four men of the Linsell. Two men were seriously injured.

The remainder of the crew of the Linsell had been picked up by the Speedy before the latter struck a second mine.

The Speedy was an old torpedo gunboat of 300 tons and prior to the declaration of war was engaged on fishery protection.

This "Additional Information" relates:

Three young men were taking a delightful little dip in the waters of the canal unthinkingly of danger when one of them, Mr. Scribner, and the others, were all off with the swim then for the trio were hustled to the station, where complaints were made against them on the charge of trespassing.

This morning the young fellows appeared before Judge Bright, and received a brisk lecture from His Honor on the matter of trespassing upon others' property. The cases against all three were filed as the company simply wanted this morning's procedure to stand as a lesson for the other young men in that district.

Lafleur Fined $75
Officer John Clark was sent out last night on a complaint carrying a grave charge against 16-year-old Emma Hamelin, who has been married for the past two years. The officer found the young girl in a Bridge street apartment in company with Albert Lafleur.

The girl's case was held over until the next session of juvenile court but

Pres. Wilson Urges Legislation to Raise $100,000,000 to Meet Deficit Threatened by War

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—President Wilson personally addressed Congress in joint session today urging legislation to raise $100,000,000 a year annual revenue through internal taxes to meet a treasury deficit threatened by the conflict in Europe.

The president told Congress that he discharged a duty which he wished with all his heart he might have spared but which he performed without hesitation or apology because of the danger in present circumstances to create a moment's doubt as to the strength and sufficiency of the treasury of the United States.

While the treasury, he said, could get along for a long period, he pointed out the peril of the government's withdrawing from the national banks approximately $75,000,000 of the treasury balance deposited there; advised against the government borrowing money or selling bonds which "would make a most untimely and unjustifiable demand upon the money market" and appealed to the intelligent and profoundly patriotic public to bear the burden of a special tax to meet the unforeseen emergency.

Congress listened attentively to the address. Immediately upon its conclusion the legislative machinery was set in motion to carry its recommendations into effect.

Chairman Underwood called a meeting of the ways and means committee to perfect an internal revenue measure tentatively drafted in preliminary conferences. A bill will be introduced as soon as possible.

SURRENDER OF PARIS CONSIDERED

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In a despatch from Rouen, France, a correspondent of the Chronicle says he has learned that the French authorities in Paris are considering the surrender of the city to the Germans in order to avoid the destruction of property from artillery fire.

GERMANS FORCING WAY INTO PARIS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The correspondent of The Times at Dieppe under Thursday's date indicates that the Germans are less than 25 miles from Paris. He says:

"All day yesterday the head of the wedge which now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Creil, Senlis and Crepy-En-Valois. The cannonading broke windows in Chantilly, which is only 17 miles north of Paris. The Germans are also near Soissons."

Another despatch to The Times from Beauvais, 40 miles northwest of Paris, says the Germans entered Clermont, 35 miles from Paris, at seven o'clock Wednesday morning. At the same time their cavalry was operating around Beauvais.

SAYS VICTORY AT LEMBERG IS BEGINNING OF END

LONDON, Sept. 4.—8.20 a. m.—The Times correspondent in Petrograd sends the following under date of Thursday:

"Information telegraphed by the headquarters staff today encourages the hope that the victory at Lemberg is the beginning of the end. The retreat of such an enormous force, reliably estimated at eight army corps, taken in conjunction with the rout of the army which was to serve as a screen to their retreat already spells disaster, complete and overwhelming. Information obtained by the war office shows that the garrison has already been preparing positions at Grudek, 20 miles to the westward and on the railway to Pryemysl."

GREAT GERMAN ARMY BEFORE PARIS FORTS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The great German army that has been smashing its way through the lines of the allies to the north of Paris has at last won its way to the forts that guard the French capital.

Already the guns that have been rumbling behind the cavalry and infantry are being set up in favorable positions to batter through the steel and concrete of the Paris forts just as they battered the strongholds of Liege and Namur.

Such is the general opinion held here despite the fact that no confirmation of fighting at the forts has as yet been received.

London—It is reported at Lloyds that Germany has sent an ultimatum to Holland. There is no confirmation.

AUSTRIANS FLEE AFTER HALICZ BATTLE—LEAVE 4500 DEAD

PETROGRAD, Sept. 4 (4.24 a. m.)—An official statement issued by the government says:

SAY RUSSIANS OCCUPY CZERNOWITZ

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 4.—The Secolo's Bucharest, Rumania, correspondent who is usually well informed, says the Russians have occupied Czernowitz, an eastern stronghold of Austria-Hungary, without resistance, and are now marching southward from that city in the direction of Suczawa in the same province and near the Rumanian border.

ZEPPELIN GREETED BY FUSILADE BY ANTWERP FORTS

ANTWERP, Sept. 4 (5 a. m., via Paris)—A Zeppelin airship appeared over the city at 3.55 o'clock this morning. It was greeted by a fusillade by the forts but it is not known what damage was inflicted.

CONFIDENCE PREVAILS IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—By Wireless via Sayville, Berlin is permanently decked with flags. Confidence prevails that nothing can stay the victorious advance of the western armies. Major Morant, the military expert of the Tagblatt, expects that the armies of Duke Albrecht and the crown prince will soon reach Chalons and Verdun, which can be easily masked without delaying the advance.

RUSSIANS DEFEATED 200,000 AUSTRIANS AT LEMBERG—IMPORTANT VICTORY

LONDON, Sept. 4.—4 a. m.—The Post's Petrograd correspondent wires that prisoners brought to the Russian base reported that part of the Russian forces entered Lemberg quite in accordance with the plan of the commander-in-chief. The Austrians, according to these reports, opened the last stage of the week's conflict around Lemberg by a determined attack on the Russian lines between Kuhl, Lublin and Kholm. About 120 miles north of Russian territory the attacks failed and the Russians assumed the offensive. The Austrian army, retreating southward, received terrible punishment from the pursuing Russians.

The next day the Russian army moved forward along the whole 200 mile front to about 40 miles southeast of Lemberg. All along the line the Russians attacked vigorously and when the second Austrian army which was posted east of Lemberg broke and fled the Russians captured in the immediate vicinity of Lemberg another score of guns. The forward movement continued without interruption, the Austrians having entrenched in a strong position west of Lemberg at Gorodick, 20 miles back.

Of the magnitude of the Russian victory before Lemberg there can be no question, the correspondent adds. The Austrian forces amounted to no less than 200,000 men with five hundred pieces of artillery. There were three complete army corps, the third, the fourth and fifth, and parts of the fourth and seventh. An Austrian army corps on war footing it was explained is raised to three divisions of which the third is made up of reserves.

By this victory Russia has been put out of action a quarter of the total Austrian first line troops and captured nearly a quarter of the Austrian artillery besides commanding all roads leading from Galicia into Hungary.

The Gallians warmly welcomed the Russian troops, according to the prisoners who also spoke of the terrible execution of the Russian artillery.

The aeroplanes were killed in the fall. The pilots were brought down, one at Chelles and the other at Chantilly.

THE RUSSIAN OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION TELLS OF VICTORIES OVER AUSTRIANS

LONDON, Sept. 4, 1.15 a. m.—The Russian official communication issued here on Thursday and carried here by the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Petrograd, said:

"On Sept. 3 the Austrian troops tried to break through the Russian centre through Lublin and Kholm, but failed. They were repulsed by a heavy retreat, the Russians capturing one cannon, eight machine guns and 1000 prisoners."

"On the following day hard fighting was resumed with renewed energy. Prisoners taken by us report that the second Austrian army, constituting the covering force to the east of Lemberg, is perfectly panic-stricken. In the neighborhood of Lemberg on Sept. 2, 20 more guns were captured by the Russians, making a total of 170. This from the Russian advance continues uninterrupted."

RUSSIA CLAIMS COMPLETE DISRUPTION OF AUSTRIAN ARMED FORCES IS NEAR

LONDON, Sept. 4, 4.07 a. m.—The Petrograd (St. Petersburg) correspondent of the Times in the report on the operations around Lemberg, says: "The forts of Lemberg have fallen and other Austrian armies have been engaged in northern Galicia near Lublin. We may yet have to chronicle the complete disruption of the dual monarchy's armed forces."

"The Russian army, starting from Rovno, moved thence toward the southwest, striking forward so as to involve the region north and south of Lemberg, menacing the rear of the Lublin army and threatening to cut its communications."

"To parry this movement the Austrians transferred several army corps from the east side of the Vistula and moving them behind Lublin hurried them at Ruzhky."

"The result of this movement is chronicled in today's official bulletin of victory. The Austrians' desperate attempt on Ruzhky's army has been attended with a whole series of disasters, notably the destruction of the sixth army corps at Lashoff."

HEAVY CASUALTY SUFFERED BY THE COLDESTREAM GUARDS, SAYS CORRESPONDENT

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In reference to the heavy casualty suffered by the Coldestream Guards, a correspondent of the Telegraph states it is largely due to the fact that a company of the guards found themselves surrounded by Germans at night. When their position was revealed through a German officer's challenge the guards turned the maxima on the Germans and mowed them down in great numbers. Before the Coldestream guards could retire, however, they suffered heavily both in officers and in men.

SECRET BERLIN MEETING

Discussed Plans for Improvement of German Trade Abroad Long Before War Broke Out

LONDON, Sept. 4.—In an official statement the foreign office has made public a despatch from Sir Edward Goschen, formerly British ambassador at Berlin to Sir Edward Grey, the secretary for foreign affairs, dated at Berlin on February 27 last. The despatch which is a report to the foreign office, tells of a secret meeting in Berlin a short time previously to discuss plans for the improvement of German trade abroad. Sir Edward Goschen says:

"A short time ago a meeting of which the secret was well kept was convened at the ministry of foreign affairs. The foreign secretary himself was present and the meeting was attended by members of the leading industrial concerns of this country such as the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg American S. S. companies, the Deutsche bank, the Allgemeine Electricitäts Gesellschaft, the Siemens and Halske and Schenker works and the Krupp and Carzow works."

"This meeting formed a private company for the purpose of furthering German industrial prestige abroad which is a conveniently vague purpose. The company will be financed by private subscription. The government will first grant a sum which was suggested as the necessary revenue."

"The private subscription amounted to $2,500, but the delegates present at the first meeting were so enthusiastic that definite promises of annual subscriptions of $125,000 were made and the company promised to add $62,500 per annum."

"The company has entered into an agreement with the Agency Havas by which the latter will in the future only publish news concerning Germany if it is supplied through Wolff's telegraphic bureau. The latter will receive its German news exclusively from the new company."

"The company intends to make a similar arrangement with Reuters telegraphic bureau for those foreign countries in which Reuters's controls telegraphic communication. If Reuters declines the Reuters's Kabelgesellschaft, a smaller German news agency which is supplying telegrams from certain countries such as Mexico, working in agreement with Wolff's telegraphic bureau is to be financed by the news company, which is to run a service in competition with Reuters's."

DISCONTENT AMONG AUSTRIANS
LONDON, Sept. 4, 4.40 a. m.—A despatch to the Reuters Telegram Co. from Rome says that from private news which came across the Austrian frontiers it appears that great discontent prevails among the Austrian troops of Slav nationality. Several cases of insubordination, it is said, have been suppressed by the shooting of those suspected of disloyalty, but a mutiny of some of the regiments is feared.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

Did some one say that Depolski was in the same class of ball players as Del Howard? It must have been meant for a joke. Louis Depolski knows what he was doing when he swapped Dep for Howard. The Haverhill second baseman is a good ball player all right but he has a lame leg which makes speed impossible for him. He knows the game thoroughly all but a glance at Howard's work is enough to convince one of the latter's superiority.

Tom Enright, one of the greatest children stars which Jaxco ever turned out, has decided to enter Harvard this fall. All of the larger colleges have been after this youngster. Enright is probably the greatest prep school athlete in the country.

Although Weaver allowed a dozen safe blows yesterday he was never really in danger until the last inning when he seemed to lose control completely with two men down. The crowd felt greatly relieved when he finally forced Biedert to lift a weak fly which was really robbed up.

Danovan, the new right fielder, connected with three hits, one of which was a triple, but he'll have to do more than that to convince us that he's a ball player. His style is of the most pronounced amateur. The way Danovan goes after a fly ball is enough to give his teammates heart disease. At that the youngster may eventually be rounded into a ball player. If he can connect for three hits on each occasion we'll excuse a lot.

Down into second place tumbled the Braves yesterday after their short stay at the top of the National League heap. New York's double win over the Senators and Phillies' defeat of the Boston team did the trick. However, they're only a half game behind now. There'll be plenty of fun in those two games at Fenway park Monday.

Manager Gray is making big preparations for the pennant racing at the park next Monday afternoon. With Lawrence as an opponent the local ball yard ought to be well patronized on the holiday. This year's champions are sure to draw a tremendous crowd down river in the morning game.

If the Red Sox were not so far behind in the American League race—ten and a half games—their supporters might have received a few extra heart beats yesterday when the Mackmen fell twice before the onslaughts of Carrigan's men. Joe Wood, while not as effective as on many previous occasions, handled the Athletics rather roughly in the second contest which ended with a 6-3 victory for the Bostonians.

That Walter Mohr-Franklin Mack point at the Atlas A. A. next Tuesday night ought to be well worth attending. It is rated as the feature bout of an all-star show. The Brooklyn boxer is one of the cleverest lightweights in the world.

Spraw, the youngster who was seen in Boston in years, tried out by the local club at the beginning of the season and who broke his ankle while playing with Brockton in the Colonial league, is back in the game once more. Spraw has played remarkably good ball for the Colonials thus far and may receive a boost next year.

Chester Martel defeated Paul Poschler in their ten string match last night at Kittredge's alleys. The Lowell roller was once a partner of Poschler. Martel's advantage at the end of the ten strings was 21 plus. The score standing 10-4 to 10-3. It was a night game rolling by both men.

CHAMPION RIFLEMAN

SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 1.—By winning the big divisional match yesterday with the high score of 325, Private C. C. Terry of the Marine Corps is the acknowledged champion rifleman of the eastern division, embracing 15 New England and North Atlantic states. The match, which consumed the entire day, was shot in seven stages—300, 500, 600, 800 and 1000 yards slow fire, and 300 and 500 rapid fire.

There were 116 men entered in the event. Second honors went to Sergeant (and 11, Clyde, Marine Corps, with 325, and third place was won by Corporal Archie Farquharson, Marine Corps, with the same total score.

LAST OF WILD PIGEONS DEAD
Boston, Sept. 4.—Wiped out by the traps, net and guns of American hunters, the last survivor of the millions of wild pigeons that for years inhabited the eastern United States has just died at the Zoological gardens at Cincinnati, according to an announcement made yesterday by T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies.

The vast flock of these birds, which a generation ago were the ornithological wonder of the world, have entirely disappeared. The last one was a female and was hatched in captivity 29 years ago.

CUMNOCK PARTY

Home From Europe—Arrived in New York on Chartered Liner

A. G. Cumnock, treasurer of the Appleton Mfg. Co., and Misses Eva and Grace Cumnock arrived home yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Mich., were members of the Cumnock party. Mr. Blodgett is a son-in-law of Mr. Cumnock. Mrs. Blodgett will arrive in Lowell this evening. Mr. Blodgett is credited with being responsible for the chartering of the steamship which brought him and several others back to this country.

The Cumnock party arrived in New York on the Italian liner Principessa Mafalda, which sailed from Genoa during the latter part of August.

The chartering of the vessel was a very unusual transaction and the manner in which it was consummated is related as follows:

When Genoa began to fill with thousands of Americans, Consul General Jones obtained an option on several vessels which were lying in the port. He then called the State department for authority to pledge the credit of the United States to pay the charter price of the ships. One of these ships, privately financed, was able to get away, but no word came from Washington with reference to the others.

Crowds of Americans began to besiege the office of Dr. Jones, and pointed out what other governments were doing relative to the taking home of their citizens. But the foot remained that ships owners refused to allow their vessels to sail unless the United States government would guarantee the charter price. And that must be paid in gold before sailing.

Among the ships in the harbor of Genoa was the Principessa Mafalda, for which the charter price was $4,000,000 francs to equal gold. There was a rumor that this ship was soon to be sold, and that if the Mafalda was to sail it must be at once.

It was at this juncture that Mr. Blodgett presented himself to the American consul general, urging him to retain his expiring option on the Mafalda, and he agreed to guarantee the United States against all liability on the contract and to personally make up the amount of $24,000 francs, or $184,000, and to pay it before the ship sailed. Consul General Jones immediately executed the contract and accepted Mr. Blodgett's guarantee, and this is said to have been a contract and guarantee unique in maritime history, in which an individual pledged himself to the government against responsibility in the taking of its own citizens to its shores.

53 KILLED IN RIOT

Aboard German Steamship—Passengers and Crew Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A riot aboard the German steamship Bluecher, at anchor in the harbor of Pernambuco, Brazil, in which three of the Bluecher's crew and 50 of her 800 steerage passengers were killed, was described yesterday by passengers aboard the Brazilian steamship Sao Paulo, upon her arrival here from Brazilian ports, whence she sailed at the commencement of the European war.

The Bluecher was bound from Buenos Aires for Hamburg, under the German flag, when Germany and England went to war. Upon learning that war had been declared, the Bluecher put back to Pernambuco. She had aboard, the Sao Paulo's passengers asserted, several million dollars for London and 800 Spaniards and Portuguese in the steerage.

Capt. Cyro della Amico, the Sao Paulo's commander, says the trouble began with an anti-German demonstration by Spanish and Portuguese against the Bluecher's crew. This was resisted, and the ship's butler, a German, attacked one of the leaders of the demonstration. The German was killed and the other German members of the crew seized arms and began firing. A fearful hand-to-hand fight ensued. The captain of the Bluecher summoned the Pernambuco police, who fired right and left.

Many of the rioters jumped overboard and were drowned. The police did not thoroughly quell the trouble until reinforced by cadets from the Brazilian training ship Benjamin Constant.

The cadets were still in charge of the Bluecher. Capt. Amico said, when the Sao Paulo sailed. There were nine German ships at anchor in Pernambuco.

NIECES OF MGR. O'BRIEN OF THIS CITY RETURN FROM TOUR OF IRELAND UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Among the passengers who arrived on the steamship Arabic from Europe yesterday were Sister Mary William, O. S. D., and Sister Constance, O. S. D., the former of St. Francis de Sales convent, Charlestown, Mass., and the latter of West Lynn. Both nuns are nieces of Monsignor William O'Brien, P. R., of this city and had been visiting the houses of the Dominican order in Ireland. They had intended to return to this country somewhat earlier but experienced the trouble of all tourists in securing passage.

PLAN TO AID JEWS

SUM in Europe—Conference of Leaders of Zionist Movement to Be Held Late This Month

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Following the announcement yesterday that Louis D. Brandeis had accepted the offer of Hebrew Zionists to become the leader of the movement to protect Zionist activity throughout the world, which has been considerably disturbed by the European war, and to take steps to relieve the distress of unprotected Jews of Europe, some of the most prominent Jews of Greater Boston arranged for a conference of representatives of all Jewish organizations of Massachusetts to launch a nation-wide campaign among all classes of Jews, to relieve the distress of the Hebrews affected by the war.

The conference will probably be held on Thursday, Sept. 24. The leading American Zionists are expected to attend. Among them will be Dr. Schmar Levin, a former member of the Russian Duma, who is a member of the Inner Action Zionist committee of Berlin.

STALLINGS HAS THEORY

Most managers believe more or less in working left-handed batmen, especially outfielders, against right-handed pitchers as much as possible and as little as possible against southpaws, but with George Stallings this idea has become an obsession. The Stallings theory is, "Don't let a left hand hitting outfielder on the ball field when a left-handed pitcher is working." He has played his cards along these lines persistently while the Braves hobbled about in the cellar, and with the club capturing out of last place to the first division, many of the Braves players believe that their boss has developed superstition along his pet theory.

ASQUITH MAKES APPEAL

Premier Spoke With Great Emotion in Guildhall—Urged Britons to Rally to Colors

LONDON, Sept. 4, 1.15 p. m.—In the historic guildhall of London Premier Asquith today started the crusade to stimulate enlistment under the British flag, which he intends to push throughout the country. He is calling upon every able-bodied Briton of military age to come to the help of his country in the hour of need.

The premier opened his address with the heartening announcement that up to today between 250,000 and 300,000 recruits had responded to the call of Lord Kitchener, the secretary of war. Speaking with great emotion, the premier called attention to the fact that it was just three and one-half years ago that he had spoken in the parliament on the occasion of the decision of the two English-speaking nations of the world to settle their differences by arbitration without resorting to armaments.

"No one was then sanguine enough to think, or even hope, that the era of war was at end," the premier continued. "But no one anticipated such a terrible spectacle as confronts us today at a time when we thought we were confident in the security of peace."

"We now find ourselves involved with the whole strength of this country in a bloody arbitration of might versus right that has been entered into with clear judgment and a clear conscience," the premier declared. "What would have been our place among the nations if we had been base enough or feeble enough to have refused to fight?"

Continuing, Premier Asquith deflected the heroic efforts of the British forces. He mentioned the siege of Liege and the capture of Belgium, and the capture of what he termed "buccaneering adventures." He declared that the greatest crime against civilization was the sacking of Louvain.

"This shameful holocaust," the premier continued, "was performed in blind barbaric vengeance. Sooner than emphasized the constantly growing interest in hay fever, its prevention and cure. Twenty-four new products for curative purposes have been brought to his attention during the past year and all have been investigated thoroughly.

An especial protest was made by those who attended against the spreading of the ragweed, the plant most dreaded by hay fever sufferers, through the use of baled hay, and it was pointed out that a particularly objectionable feature was the scattering of the seed of the plant along railroad tracks while it was being transported.

Among immune places the following have been reported favorably by the committee: Deadwood, S. D.; Highmont, Pa.; Canby, N. Y.; altitude 2500 feet; Exeter, N. H.; altitude 550 feet; Highby Camp, (disinfectant); Chautauque, N. Y.; altitude 1400 feet; Port Canby, Michigan; Lakes; Mt. Desert Island, Orono, Me.; Adirondacks, where a bungalow colony for hay fever sufferers is projected.

The officers for the coming year are: President, the Rev. Guy Robert of Bethlehem; vice-president, William M. Patterson of New York; secretary, F. F. Jerome of New York.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Miss Jennie L. Minard, a postal service substitute clerk, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Ruhl and Tighe on a complaint of Postoffice Inspector Hall, charging her with secreting and embezzling a letter containing $5. The letter was addressed to Miss Maude Henry, Variety Theatre, San Francisco, Cal.

The defendant was arraigned before Commissioner Hayes, pleaded not guilty and was held under $500 for a hearing Sept. 8. Her father, Percy I. Minard, furnished bail.

Miss Minard is 22 years old, and has been employed by the government since Dec. 31, 1912, as substitute clerk in sub-stations in the Boston post office. She has lately been employed at station 97. Miss Minard lives at 578 Columbia road, Dorchester, and is said to be the first woman in the employ of the postal service to be arrested for stealing from the mails.

SALEM RELIEF FUND

HARD TO DECIPHER—LOWELL COMMITTEE CANNOT FIND OUT WHERE LOWELL STANDS

Without criticizing the doings of the Salem relief fund committee, it seems that the members of the said committee have a very poor way of doing business, or at least it seems that way, according to a reply to Patrick O'Hearn, treasurer of the local committee, who wrote the treasurer of the Salem committee asking him to let him know just how Lowell stood with other cities as to the amounts donated to the sufferers.

At the last meeting of the Lowell committee it was voted that the treasurer write the treasurer of the Salem committee, asking him how Lowell stood with other cities of the commonwealth, for the local committee felt that Lowell having sent over $10,000 must be pretty near the top of the list. Mr. O'Hearn wrote and the reply was as follows:

Aug. 26, 1914.
Patrick O'Hearn, Esq., 282 Riverside
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

In Mr. Lane's absence I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated Sept. 25 and enclosed cheques for $120.22. I know that the committee will be very grateful to you for this additional subscription.

I regret that I cannot answer your inquiry as to the amount of subscription by other cities in Massachusetts. This is because the cities did not hold back their subscriptions unconditionally, but sent them gradually, the city of Worcester, for instance, sent a contribution almost every day. It would be a tremendous task to go through the books and pick out the various subscriptions from cities in Massachusetts and add them together. I think you will appreciate this position.

Very truly yours,
Paul Garland,
Secretary to Gardiner M. Lane.

President Officers

Commissioner Brown of the finance department has this morning appointed one of the precinct officers for the coming election. The commissioner informed the writer there is practically no change with last year's list for all those who served at the last election have been reappointed. However a few changes will have to be made for some of the men appointed have changed wards since the election and cannot serve in any other ward but that in which they reside.

Mayor invited

Mayor Murphy has received an invitation to attend the convention of the League of American Municipalities, which will be held at Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 20 and 21 and Oct. 1 and 2. The letter was sent by the city clerk of Milwaukee, P. F. Leach and in it he states that the city has experiments stations showing the various systems of sewage disposal, which stations have just been put into operation and which are open for city officials who desire to see them.

High School Annex

The new high school annex in Kirk street will not be ready for occupancy for the opening of the fall term on Sept. 14. Supt. Francis A. Connor of the public property department stated this morning that the place will not be ready until the first of October. He said this will not interfere with the school for special classrooms will be arranged in the hall and the high school building reading the opening of the new building.

Chelmsford Street Hospital

On Monday, the employees of the Chelmsford street hospital will start the harvesting of corn and the superintendent, Martha Conley, reports that this year's crop is the best for years. He estimates that about 130 tons of corn will be housed and he allows that the going sound is about 100 tons.

The attendance at the hospital is by far the largest for this time of the year than in any other previous year. There are now 414 inmates in the hospital and the women are so numerous that a ward which has been closed for the past two years will be opened this week. New beds and other pieces of furniture will be purchased for the fitting up of this ward. This was the old ward occupied by insane women and the law forced the city to remove its insane patients in 1901, the ward was closed. Mr. Conley says if there is no change in the present condition the hospital will be overtaxed before the snow flies, and he does not know how the inmates will be accommodated. Only 550 can be comfortably taken care of and the superintendent fears this number will be reached before a great while.

Chauveurs

Examiners Bowen and Hubbard of the state highway commission came to Lowell this morning and they were kept very busy for no less than 20 applicants for chauffeur's licenses were examined.

To Enlarge Plant

The United States Cartridge Co. has been granted a permit for the erection of an addition to its boiler plant in Lawrence street. The building will be of wood with cement foundation and floor and will cost about $1100.

MILLIONAIRE IS SUED

SAILORS HELD—ALLOWED TO DESERT WITHOUT REFERENCE TO IMMIGRATION LAWS

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Seven members of crews of two British steamships engaged in transatlantic passenger service to the port of Boston, were taken in custody by United States authorities yesterday to be held as witnesses against the captains of the vessels, against whom the federal government has brought charges of violation of the immigration laws.

One of the seven was a cook, another a steward. The other five were seamen. They arrived here on Aug. 25 and Aug. 27, after Great Britain had declared war on Germany, and were not anxious to return on their ships for fear they would be taken prisoners of war.

According to Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Daniel A. Shea, who represents the government in the case, they informed their captains they were anxious to leave their ships and were told they would be marked as deserters if they did. They were willing to do this, and the captains, the government alleges, instead of having the aliens examined and admitted by the immigration authorities, simply allowed them to land on American soil and go their way.

As a result the captain of each vessel is liable to a fine of $1000 for each alien allowed to land in this way.

Dist. Atty. Shea declined to give the names of the captains or their vessels. It is the intention of the government to place the captains under arrest when they return to this country, their vessels now being in foreign ports.

Since they were allowed to leave their ships and land here, the seven aliens have been in the custody of the German consul, and most of them have been working. Some said they had been ridiculed when it was learned they were Germans and had to leave their places of employment because of the humiliation they were forced to undergo. In public places, they said, they were humiliated because they were Germans.

Yesterday afternoon the seven were brought before Commissioner Hayes and through interpreter Pearl Weiss were told why they were being held. As there was no one to furnish bail for them they were all ordered to the East Cambridge jail. Deputy U. S. Marshal Cameron, who by the way is a former British soldier himself, took the party to the jail in an automobile. They will receive $1 a day while they are held, and will be given all the liberties possible. The $1 a day will be more than some received on board ship.

When they were told they had to go to jail they looked at each other with dismay, but smiled pleasantly when Mr. Weiss told them they were not going as criminals. One of the first things they wanted to know was if they could have the daily papers.

"We want to know how the Kaiser and Franz Josef are doing," said one of them in fairly good English. "They were told they would not have the daily papers, but might have all the weeklies and magazines they wanted. This pleased them and they went over to the jail in a happy frame of mind. Commissioner Hayes told them they would be better off in jail than if they went home, for then they would be put in the German army and might be shot. Every one of them shook his head and remarked patriotically that
